The Oath of Office was administered to President Forsythe by judge Alexander C. Wood, III.

President Forsythe introduced his family and delivered the following address:

Judge Wood, Fellow Senators, Guests, and Citizens of New Jersey:

It is indeed an honor for me to be standing here today before you, my esteemed colleagues, our families and friends. For all of us this is indeed a happy and proud moment. We have labored hard for the opportunity to sit in this chamber, to serve in this noble body. We are justifiably proud of this opportunity to serve the citizens of our State.

I am deeply indebted to you, my fellow Senators for the confidence you have bestowed upon me. I pledge to you and to the citizens of our great State that I regard my position as Senate President as a public trust and will endeavor to fulfill my responsibilities with all of the dedication, fairness and ability at my command.

I believe we all share a feeling of disappointment that the Governor is unable to participate in person with us today. I am sure you join with me in wishing him the speediest of recoveries and look forward to the day in the near future when he will be able to fully rejoin us personally as a partner in New Jersey State Government.

This occasion today and my part in it symbolize the mandate thrust upon every one of us, and especially upon those of us in the majority party, by the citizens of the State.

The people's voice was clearly heard on November 7. We, as their elected representatives have a clear responsibility to fulfill.

Many issues were raised in the election campaign just passed. The voters of our State generally endorsed the positions of the majority party by their selections. We are here today and will be for the next four years because of those selections. It is our duty now to dispassionately deliberate these and other issues. We of the majority party intend to fulfill the promises made in the election campaign.

We face a formidable challenge. Our State ranks eighth in population and seventh in per capita income among the fifty states. We have abundance in large measure.

However, New Jersey ranks poorly in State aid to higher education and miles of interstate highways completed. Many of our institutions for the physically and mentally handicapped are in less than sound condition. Our intrastate road system needs considerable improvement. Our institutions of higher learning are inadequate for the needs of our growing population. Thus, in the midst of our abundance of resources, we have an abundance of unmet needs, unsolved problems.

Meanwhile, we receive back less for the tax dollar we send to Washington ($1.00 for every $1.83), than any other State. Our State's citizens shoulder the burden of the third highest local real property taxes in the nation. How much more, if any, taxation are our citizens willing and able to bear to finance additional government services?

We cannot ignore the legitimate needs, but we must set firm priorities. Thus, the basic challenge we face is how to resolve in a responsible manner the really pressing problems of our State's citizens in an efficient and economical way. How do we really get the most for our tax dollar?

This is the basic question all of us must wrestle with in the ensuing months. It is a challenge that must be met resolutely.

The amount of revenue available determines in large measure the kind and scope of the programs which our State Government can undertake for its citizens. Republican representative governments, of course, are limited by the amount of taxation, the basic source of such revenues, which its citizens will endure.

Today, the Federal Government has largely pre-empted many areas of taxation, leaving only a residue of fiscal resources for State and local government. This is in part why individual homeowners bear such a disproportionate share of the tax burden in our State.

As important as the amount of revenue available, however, we think is the manner in which this revenue is put to use.

Within the limitations of existing and potential fiscal resources available to our State Government, we, as the people's representatives, must ensure maximum use of our limited tax dollars.

We believe that one of the best means of achieving the goal of maximizing the effect of our tax dollars would be through the improvement of the legislative process and the strengthening of the legislative branch of government. This will result in more effective legislation capable of being administered more economically.

The Legislature should be a truly co-ordinate branch of State Government. Its chief function should be to deliberate meaningfully. Too often in the recent past, this body and our sister house have abdicated this responsibility. Too often we have acceded to the stronger and often more persuasive power of the Executive Branch with its abundance of personnel and resources.

Unfortunately, the Legislative Branch in our State presently is ill-equipped to properly carry out its responsibility of truly legislating. Understaffed, with a lack of sufficient expertise, and operating in cramped, overcrowded, outdated facilities, it is no wonder we are no match for the Executive Branch in the give and take of the process of State Government.

Our Legislature needs to be modernized and streamlined now for the difficult task we face in 1968 and the decades to come. Some of the needed reforms will require an investment in dollars now, an investment which will pay dividends many-fold in the near future in terms of better, more effective laws, capable of being administered more economically.

Currently, the per capita cost to New Jersey residents to maintain the total State Legislature is 26 cents a year. This is hardly an exorbitant amount. In fact, it ranks 44th in the nation. As former Kansas Governor John Anderson told us at our orientation session, and I quote, "This certainly reflects the lack of full utilization of legislative staffing, the small amount of individual secretarial, clerical and research personnel relative to your population size." "For the price of a Sunday newspaper, your financial support can be doubled. The key responsibility of the Legislature is to take the initiative in making itself into a co-equal, strong and independent body."

In 1963, the Legislature authorized the Eagleton Institute of Politics of Rutgers University to study the Legislature and recommend means of improving and strengthening it. The comprehensive report listed eighteen such recommendations. While about one-half of these were implemented in whole or in part by the 1964-65 Legislature, the remainder have not been acted upon.

We pledge a complete review of these recommendations and implementation of many long-needed reforms of the Legislature and the legislative process. Indeed, we have already begun this improvement by:

- Establishing identical standing committee structures in each House to facilitate joint, and thus more efficient operation of these committees.
- Establishment of a Standing Committee on Taxation to review our tangled tax structure and eliminate inequities in our tax system.
- Eliminating $95,000.00 worth of "no show" jobs from the legislative payroll, $50,000.00 in the Senate and $45,000.00 in the General Assembly. If we are to demand efficiency in other areas of State Government, we must set the highest example in our own house.
- Providing more realistic financial assistance to individual legislators for secretarial and staff assistance. We are convinced that this investment will result in better-informed lawmakers, better able to serve their constituents and evaluate the State's problems and possible solutions to these problems.

Other improvements which we hope to implement include :

- More effective committees. It is our hope that the standing committees will give real study to the measures referred to them and truly deliberate their relative merits. We will encourage more public hearings so that all shades of opinion may be voiced. Indeed, we pledge that such hearings will be held on significant major legislation. We will encourage more joint activity by the committees of each house.
- A constitutional amendment to keep legislation alive for 2 years to eliminate the chaotic end-of-year log-jam and save at least $100,000.00 per 2-year session in bill printing costs alone. If approved by the voters, the 2-year session could start in 1970.
- The establishment of a consent calendar to help make more efficient the legislative process on bills of minor significance. Major policy measures will be debated by a committee-of-the-whole of the majority. All other measures generally will be approved for legislative action by the standing committees.
- Strengthening the Legislature's role in the budget process. A substantial increase in the size and scope of the State Auditor's office and improvements in the Legislative Budget and Finance Office are necessary to provide all legislators with the fiscal information necessary to make an intelligent and thorough evaluation of the Governor's annual budget.
- Improvement of the lobby control law by requiring lobbyists to report on every lobbying assignment; by making the penalty of failure to report that of a disorderly person; and by providing each member of the Legislature with a monthly report of lobbyists and their activities during the sessions.
- Improved facilities. I believe it is essential that a truly deliberative Legislature operate in appropriate surroundings. Our present facilities are entirely inadequate and outdated. They impede the efficiency and effectiveness which the Legislative Branch so badly needs. We have plans for a new legislative building. We will confer with the Governor at his earliest convenience to finalize these plans so that construction of this building can begin shortly.

Improvement of the legislative process is only one means of maximizing of our tax dollar.

An obvious means is to make more efficient the day-to-day operation of State Government, particularly the Executive Branch. The present Commission on Efficiency and Economy has accomplished relatively little within the limits of its operation. We pledge a redirection and enlargement of the activity to help make State Government more efficient. Substantial economies can be made with the proper investment and a willingness to do the job. We intend to do just this.

Additionally, our whole tax structure at the State level should be reviewed. We all know that the individual homeowner carries an inordinate amount of tax burden in our State. We all know that new sources of revenue need to be explored if we are to properly plan for the future. These cannot be meaningfully accomplished unless our entire tax picture is thoroughly reviewed.

Should all capital construction be financed by bonding or should we continue to finance long-term building programs in part out of current revenue? This is a question which must be resolved before real progress can be made in matching needs and resources.

If it is determined that substantial capital construction projects currently needed should be financed by bonding, it would be imperative that a firm list of relative priorities be established so that the most pressing needs would be met first. Serious consideration would then be given to making it possible for the people to express their opinion on such questions at the next general election.

I have attempted to set forth some of our immediate responsibilities and goals. I believe that the process of legislating itself is vitally important. Without a viable, energetic and thoroughly deliberative legislative process, the end product, the programs, will not be the embodiment of maximum, efficient use of our tax dollars.

We do not pledge enactment of an avalanche of bills covering an infinite variety of subjects. We do pledge thoughtful, meaningful deliberation and enactment of quality legislation aimed at those problem areas of the highest priority. Let quality, not quantity, be the byword. Only in this way will all citizens of this State be guaranteed that their tax dollars will be used with maximum effect.

SIXTH ANNUAL MESSAGE

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

I am deeply pleased to transmit today to the members of New Jersey's 192nd Legislature my Sixth Annual Message.

The proposals that I will put forward for your consideration in this Message are designed to enhance the identity that New Jersey has achieved as we have moved in recent years to meet with renewed purpose and resolve our responsibilities to the people. These proposals are in my judgment essential to the strengthening of this new identity, this new sense of pride that all New Jerseyans now can feel in their State. For none of our common objectives—neither excellence in education, nor the rebirth of our cities, nor the cleaning of our air and water, nor the building of a first-rate transportation system, nor the construction of a great network of institutions to care for our less fortunate citizens, nor the conservation of our great natural resources and recreational facilities—none of these goals, which have been outlined in detail by both political parties, can be achieved without constant vigilance, constant support, and constant nourishment by the Legislature. Our commitment, for example, to build a higher education system that will rank among the nation's finest, rather than among its most inadequate, simply can never be realized unless this Legislature, and succeeding Legislatures, devote to this task the concern, and the resources, that its accomplishment demands. And this same degree of concern and commitment must be manifested in respect of our other inescapable obligations to the people.

At this point I wish to alert you to one overriding fiscal concern that bears heavily on the question of whether or not New Jersey will in fact make good on its commitments to the general welfare. Although my budget message will not come before you until next month, I consider it important to call your attention now to a serious fiscal problem which, according to my best present information, will face us in fiscal year 1968-69. While I shall reserve specific details for the budget message itself, let me observe here that between our projected costs, on the one hand—essential expenditures to which the State is already committed—and our anticipated revenues, on the other hand, there appears to be a substantial gap. Let me further observe that this figure does not include additional program efforts in education, health, or urban development, among other fields, that I strongly advocate as vital to the future of this State. I wish now to apprise you of this projected gap so that you can begin immediately to weigh appropriate solutions. I am eager to join with you fully and promptly in any way possible to resolve these pressing budget questions.

As you deliberate these matters you may find it useful to consider New Jersey's present budget problems in the context of the posture of our sister states in respect of these same questions. As you know, New Jersey has long performed governmental services at a cost that is by any standard the lowest in the nation. Our State tax burden, by the same token, is also the nation's lowest. You are well aware that New Jersey has the fewest State employees per capita in the nation as well as the lowest level per capita of State expenditures.

Furthermore, New Jersey, as you know, is the fastest growing state in the east. It requires as a result a careful pattern of capital expenditures to build the roads, the schools, the colleges, the institutions, the sewage facilities, and other public resources that a progressive society demands. Yet New Jersey's capital outlay per capita remains the lowest in the nation, just over half the rate of Michigan, for example. In fact New Jersey's per capita general revenue burden is the lowest in the nation, and it is especially low in relation to the expenditures of the northern industrial states that resemble us. While New Jersey spends per person less than $150, comparable states spend in the vicinity of $250 per person. And as far as the State's contribution to local municipalities is concerned, as you well know, New Jersey once again ranks extremely low.

What do these figures mean to you as Legislators responsible to the public at large? They mean first of all that New Jersey can take pride in its continued economical operation of government. They mean secondly that you can promptly dismiss as inaccurate or self-serving any harangues about so-called excessive State government expenditures. They mean thirdly that we must disabuse ourselves of the notion that the current level of government services—to say nothing of the increased demands made by our citizens—can be maintained on a smaller budget. Any public official who debates these issues must acknowledge that cutting the budget means cutting the salaries of physicians or institutional attendants, reducing the number of State Police, and slashing State aid for education, transportation, or other essential services.

These figures mean, in the fourth place, that New Jersey's longer-term financial obligations, above and beyond its immediate ones, are considerable. I submit to you that in this respect the two years of this and the succeeding Legislature are years of perhaps unprecedented importance for New Jersey. For during these years you will establish patterns for the support of higher education, urban redevelopment, pollution control, transportation, health, and other essential services that may well be irreversible. If, through our joint efforts, we fail to establish sound and adequate patterns of finance—if we fail now to seize what is perhaps the only real opportunity in the next two years, and perhaps in the next six years, to establish these patterns—the State could suffer irreparable harm. For in that time New Jersey could lose more ground in the provision of needed services than it could realistically hope ever to make up, and we would thereby fall from first- to permanent second-class status. Alternatively you and I can meet our obligations, as we have been charged to do. You are in a position, if you choose, to add strength and lustre to New Jersey's new identity and to burnish the pride that we have begun to feel.

Your thorough and candid review of our fiscal problems must concern itself not only with current expenditures, but also with our great backlog of capital needs. You are by now fully familiar with estimates of those needs by responsible public officials and private bodies alike—estimates that run to very substantial sums. Prominent private organizations, such as the Regional Plan Association, together with many newspapers and private citizens, have pointed to the importance of determining the precise magnitude and priorities of needed capital improvements. They have suggested the appointment of a bi-partisan group of outstanding citizens who would make an objective study of these questions. Above and beyond the responsible estimates of projected capital costs that are now available to us, I consider it imperative that New Jersey receive the benefit of the impartial judgment of a distinguished body of this kind. To this end I will shortly appoint a Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey. The great relevance of this Commission's recommendations to possible action by this Legislature will impel me to request the Commission to submit within sixty days its determination of the magnitude and priorities of our capital needs. The Commission may wish to refine its recommendations, without changing their character, in succeeding months, but this prompt report is of the highest importance. For I am convinced—as I believe you are—that further delay in responding to these capital needs may undermine the continued growth and prosperity of the State and the welfare of its citizens.

As I weigh these problems that you and I have before us during these next two years, I am reminded of the words of my distinguished predecessor, Woodrow Wilson, at the very beginning of his term as Governor:

“We have got the problems of the country in such a form that they are raised to their highest degree of difficulty and complexity. Very well—what is the moral? That we in New Jersey have got to show the country how these problems are to be met and settled.”

What indeed is the moral for New Jersey—and for you, the Legislators who represent its people? I cannot believe that your strong disposition is anything else than to “show the country how these problems are to be met and settled.” I cannot believe that you will tolerate any compromise of New Jersey's new identity or of the reawakened pride and self-confidence that our people now feel. On the contrary I believe that this Legislature, controlled in an almost unprecedented way by one major political party, is fully alive both to the promise of responsible action and to the danger of careless neglect. And I am convinced that together—to the grave disappointment of cynics and naysayers—you and I can achieve for New Jersey a new level of excellence, a higher standard of achievement that will issue from firm bi-partisan action on behalf of the people. I have pledged to you before my full willingness, and indeed my eagerness, to work with you in quest of this greatness for New Jersey. Today I rededicate myself to that commitment in the hope that together here today we shall mark the beginning of an historic joint effort by the Executive and Legislative branches fully to vindicate the powers vested in us by the people of New Jersey.

LAW ENFORCEMENT AND CRIME CONTROL

There is no area of public concern about which the people of the State of New Jersey expect, even demand, greater bi-partisan effort than the area of law enforcement. During my Administration I have advocated and seen implemented such measures as gun control, uniform crime reporting, stiffer narcotics laws and mandatory police training, each of which has served to strengthen our attack upon the forces of crime and lawlessness. The majority party in this Legislature has consistently expressed a desire to do more in this regard and more is in fact needed. I therefore invite this body's scrutiny of existing programs, its suggestions for new ones, and its early consideration of measures which I will shortly put before it, for the preservation of law and order is the primary undertaking of civilized man and certainly must concern every responsible elected official regardless of party affiliation or geographical location, urban, suburban or rural.

Organized Crime—Continuing the Fight

In recent months public attention has been focused on the activities of organized crime in this State. This recent public awareness does not betoken a lack of prior official concern and activity. For years law enforcement officials in New Jersey have vigorously sought to root out organized crime and they will continue to do so. But if those efforts are to achieve maximum success, additional weapons, designed specifically to combat organized criminal activity, must be added to the arsenal of law enforcement officials. For instance, one of the outstanding characteristics of organized crime is that it recognizes no geographical limitations or boundaries. Municipal, county and state lines are blurred in its operation. Thus, a consolidated and regionalized response on the part of government is necessary. This Administration has initiated conversations with neighboring states concerning the establishment of a mechanism for interstate cooperation in the fight against organized crime. Patterned in part after the New England States Law Enforcement Compact, this proposal, if adopted, would create a central criminal intelligence bureau and formalize co-operative efforts among the state police agencies of member states. It is my hope that this Legislature will favorably consider the necessary enabling legislation to effectuate this plan when agreement has been reached with our neighboring states in the Mid-Atlantic region.

The indictment procedures in our State are established within the limits of county boundary lines. While county-oriented law enforcement is sufficient in most cases, it cannot adequately cope with a network of organized crime operating simultaneously in several counties. In order to combat effectively multi-county organized criminal activity, I suggest that legislative authorization be provided for the creation of regional grand juries to be convened under the supervision of the courts, with the Attorney General being given the authority to subpoena witnesses.

Other measures deserving of legislative consideration in this area are:

—Passage of a witness immunity law which, under proper constitutional safeguards, will provide a method of piercing the veil of secrecy surrounding the activities of organized crime;

—An intrastate anti-trust law to be used to protect honest businessmen against the intrusion of organized crime into legitimate business through extortion, intimidation, monopolization, and collusive bidding; —Legislation against the practice of loan sharking which, according to the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice, provides the second largest source of revenue for organized crime;

—The creation of a blue ribbon commission to review the criminal statutes of New Jersey to ascertain whether increased penalties are needed against bookmaking, prostitution, and narcotics traffic as a means of making the operation of organized crime more costly, and further to determine whether the time of prosecutors and the courts is being wasted in handling other offenses which more properly should be considered disorderly persons violations or which warrant medical rather than criminal treatment, such as alcoholism and narcotics addiction;

—Legislation requiring the disclosure of information regarding the backgrounds of those in formal or real control of businesses bidding on government contracts to counter the risk that the public may unwittingly be supporting organized crime which may have infiltrated legitimate business.

Civil Disorders

The scope and immediacy of the breakdown in law and order facing this State and this nation could not be more dramatically illustrated than by the unfortunate incidents of civil disorder which erupted in our cities last summer. There are very real and very serious social and economic inequities forming the backdrop for such disturbances which re-emphasize the need for a massive effort to achieve social justice for all. America cannot exist as two nations—one rich, the other poor—one white, the other black. But neither can we allow anarchy to replace law or chaos to succeed order. We cannot and will not allow civil warfare on the part of a small group of individuals—black or white—to threaten the lives, the property, the liberty of the vast majority of good people of all races. Every resource of government—executive, legislative and judicial—must be brought to bear to restore us as “one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." No lesser commitment is possible if the families of New Jersey are to live in peace, as is their God-given right, and the streets of our cities and suburbs made safe so that children may be raised in a decent and secure environment. It must be the goal of this Administration and this Legislature, and every future Administration and future Legislature, to achieve that end.

With the fervent desire that we may be able to avoid further catastrophe such as occurred in Newark last summer, it is nevertheless incumbent upon me to suggest certain precautions which should be taken in order to limit the scope of any disturbances which might occur. This Administration is presently evaluating the problem posed by existing security measures for the safeguarding of weapons concentrations. We must devise means to ensure additional protection for places such as arsenals, pawnshops, and wholesale and retail supply houses to minimize the opportunity for the theft of weapons. Additionally, it appeared during the course of last summer's disturbances that effective communication between State and local police agencies was hampered by the absence of uniform radio frequencies. While the question of the assignment of radio frequencies is within the province of federal officials, it is my intention to take all possible action to improve the police communications network in the State of New Jersey. I will forward for your consideration any legislation which may prove to be necessary on these two subjects.

Police Professionalism

As we seek to combat the sophisticated efforts of organized crime and to halt the rising tide of violence in our cities, a new public commitment to those who stand sentinel to civilization—the police—is essential. The public must be willing to provide the incentives necessary to recruit for police work persons who are trained in scientific methods of crime detection and skilled in the delicate tasks of community and human relations. Our police forces must be modernized and provision made for the sharing of information and expertise among municipal police departments, particularly the small departments, to the end that existing high levels of efficiency may be enhanced and economies effected. For the height of our efforts and the measure of our achievement in meeting the problem of crime will be determined by our success, or failure, in developing a greater sense of professionalism among our police and a greater awareness of that professionalism among the public. The respect for the police officer which once prevailed throughout our nation and which has somehow been undermined by the complexities of modern life can be restored only when all recognize that police work is an honorable profession. As such, professional police work cannot tolerate in its midst the occasional officer who fails to apply a single standard of justice to all men regardless of race or financial circumstances, or to possess that integrity upon which all respect is based. The vast majority of law enforcement officers are honest, fair, and dedicated men who deserve the confidence, support and respect of all good citizens. If that confidence, support and respect are not forthcoming, society will pay a heavy price.

In the recent past, our efforts to improve the quality of law enforcement have led to the creation of the previously mentioned mandatory police training program, a Chair of Police Administration at Rutgers, and in-service training programs throughout the State. In the wake of last summer's rioting, a special training school for policemen was established where the latest, and most effective, techniques for the control of civil disorder are taught and where emphasis is placed on the need for improved police-community relations. But it should be noted that the ultimate purpose of this school transcends the problems of civil disorder, and that it will evolve into an educational facility for the policemen of this State which will bring to each of them the latest developments and techniques in the unrelenting battle against crime in the same way that our other on-going training schools are doing.

I now suggest that our efforts be redoubled in this direction, and I specifically propose that a scholarship program be established for members of our various municipal police departments to assist those who are desirous of furthering their education and who demonstrate aptitude for higher learning. Special incentives should be provided for those officers who wish to make use of our fast growing network of community colleges for part-time study leading to degrees. Financial incentives by way of promotion and increased salaries should be made available to those who avail themselves of this opportunity to attend college. In this way, an ambitious and capable young man will join a police force knowing that unlimited career opportunities are before him.

Police professionalism can be further enhanced by provision in the law for hiring young persons between the ages of 18 and 21 to serve as unarmed uniformed police cadets, who, at an early age, will receive training which will enable them to advance into regular police ranks. To the extent that recruitment is possible in disadvantaged areas, a police cadet program would have the added advantage of fostering police-community relations. Consideration must also be given to the hiring of civilians to perform routine, time-consuming, and burdensome police chores and thereby freeing able-bodied policemen for duty on the streets to meet the rising rate of crime in our suburbs as well as our cities. I will offer the needed amendments to the law for your consideration in the near future. The man-hours of our over-extended police forces must be conserved, and I have recently asked the Administrative Director of the Courts to suggest to the judiciary that serious consideration be given to means by which police witnesses may be enabled to minimize the idle time spent waiting to testify.

Respect for law and order is also engendered when the citizenry knows that justice is fairly administered irrespective of the financial condition of the defendant. Last year the State of New Jersey, in enacting the first statewide public defender law in the country, took a giant step toward that goal. In its first major test, the system was severely tried and fully met its challenge in the disposition of the large number of criminal complaints emanating from the civil disorders of last summer. In this regard, the members of the bench and bar are to be commended for their unstinting support and unselfish effort in assisting the Office of Public Defender in that difficult task. It should be noted, however, that a subsequent decision of the United States Supreme Court involving the rights of juveniles to counsel in cases in which they face prolonged loss of liberty requires that our existing public defender law be expanded.

I will offer appropriate legislation for your consideration in the near future.

New Jersey Council Against Crime

As I have indicated, the threat which criminal activity poses to the people of New Jersey is broad in scope and complex in detail, and the struggle against it will tax the ingenuity and the resources of all of us. While law enforcement is peculiarly the responsibility of state and local government and must remain under the control of those agencies, there is no question that the financial assistance of the federal government is both essential and desirable. President Johnson has called for the enactment of a "Safe Streets and Crime Control Act" which would provide the needed assistance. It is expected that this legislation will secure the final approval of Congress at its next session and that substantial sums of money will be made available to the states for planning, police training and research, and enforcement purposes. In order that New Jersey will be fully prepared to take maximum advantage of this federal legislation at the earliest opportunity, I have created, by executive order, an agency composed of eminent persons broadly representative of law enforcement and local government in this State, as will be required by the federal law. These outstanding leaders in law enforcement will be joined in this vital enterprise by some of the most distinguished of New Jersey's citizens. I have asked the Attorney General of the State of New Jersey to serve as chairman of this agency, which is called the New Jersey Council Against Crime. As I have indicated, all branches of government—executive, legislative, and judicial—must be involved if the elimination of crime is to be realized. I am therefore especially pleased to note that the Administrative Director of the Courts has agreed to serve, and to further this joint effort I have also asked the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the General Assembly to become members of this distinguished and essential body.

Several months before the passage of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, I took similar steps to ensure New Jersey's prompt and full participation in that program. As a result New Jersey created the nation's first State OEO and succeeded in securing some $28 million—two and one-half times our normal state allocation—during the first year of that program alone. In addition the New Jersey OEO quickly became known as the most effective such office in the country.

Similar advance work by my Model Cities Task Force before the final passage of the Model Cities Act resulted in the submission of applications for this valuable program by nine of our cities, approval of three applications in the first round, and the promise of additional approvals in the second round.

I believe that New Jersey can record similar success with the forthcoming Safe Streets and Crime Control Act by moving ahead now with this same careful advance planning. For this reason I have appointed the Council Against Crime to enable New Jersey—at both the State and local levels—to be prepared to put forward the strongest possible plans for improved law enforcement and crime control on the very day that Congress enacts this law.

My hope is that New Jersey will be the first state in the nation to respond fully to the challenge of this major Federal effort to strengthen local law enforcement. My further hope is that this advance preparation will result, as with other major Federal programs that we have implemented in New Jersey, in prompt and well-conceived requests for financial assistance under this law and grant awards substantially larger than those which the State might normally expect to receive.

In furtherance of its responsibilities under the federal act this Council will, in addition to overseeing the administration of federal grants coming into the State under the act, direct its attention specifically to a number of questions. I have asked the Council to:

- develop a comprehensive state-wide plan to carry out new and innovative approaches for the improvement of law enforcement and criminal justice throughout the State;
- define, develop, and correlate programs and projects for the State and units of local government for the improvement of law enforcement and criminal justice;
- suggest means for improving the training and qualifications of personnel engaged in law enforcement;

- examine and appraise on a continuing basis the administration, enforcement, and operation of all state and local laws, ordinances, and regulations relating to crimes and offenses;

- initiate and from time to time conduct state-wide law enforcement conferences for the purpose of accomplishing greater coordination and uniformity of law enforcement procedures;

- inquire into the problem of recidivism and formulate methods for the rehabilitation of criminals, with particular emphasis on the feasibility of work-release programs and the need for improved probation and parole services; and

- establish priorities for the improvement of law enforcement and criminal justice throughout the State.

It is my belief that this agency, composed as it is of highly respected and knowledgeable persons, will develop new ideas, foster increased effort, and faithfully reflect our urgent concern to provide in New Jersey a climate of full respect for law and order.

Rehabilitation—The Road Back

One phase of the crucial effort to combat crime must concentrate upon the development of correctional programs which will assist convicted criminals to achieve rehabilitation and assume constructive roles in society. Last year, approximately 14,000 individuals were involved in such treatment programs under the auspices of the Division of Correction and Parole of the Department of Institutions and Agencies. Unfortunately, we must expect that even more persons will require such services in the foreseeable future. The quality, as well as the quantity, of rehabilitative care must become increasingly sophisticated as we incorporate theoretical and technological advances in the field.

The new Youth Reception and Correction Center at Yardville, which will soon be dedicated, provides us with an important and worthwhile new tool for the rehabilitation of young people involved in crime. Regretfully, in New Jersey and throughout the nation, the age group under 18 is associated with the most rapidly accelerating percentage rate of crime. It is shocking but true that the involvement of young people in criminal activities is increasing at a pace more than three times their percentage increase in the national population. We may expect that the new Yardville Center will provide New Jersey with a major step forward in assisting these young people, having served their correction terms, to become useful and contributing members of society. In addition, the residential unit for children 13 and under at Skillman will help to relieve overcrowding and provide care for youngsters who are now committed to the State Home for Boys, along with other adolescents.

Diversified correctional programming has also been strengthened by the development of three community half-way houses for correctional inmate facilities which provide a vital link between institutional confinement and productive community life for the youths they serve. Another new and significant tool is the development of camps for inmates of the State Homes at Jamesburg and Clinton. There is an on-going effort, under the direction of the Department of Institutions and Agencies, to re-evaluate and improve parole service programs so that they may fulfill their potential as effective instruments in the reduction of crime. I have long believed that no taxpayer's dollar can find better investment than in the expansion of parole and probation guidance away from crime and toward society.

We are developing progressive new programs for the treatment and rehabilitation of narcotics addicts and convicted sex offenders consistent with advanced procedures. A specialized unit under the psychiatric supervision of the New Jersey Diagnostic Center has been established within the State Prison at Rahway, thus implementing the recommendations of a committee established previously by the Legislature to study the treatment of sex offenders. The need for these new programs is great, and we must plan for their substantial expansion in the near future.

All of these accomplishments are cause for optimism that we are making progress in our offensive against lawlessness, but it is obvious that we are still far from reaching our goal. The safety and well-being of the people of this State requires that we continue to expand our facilities, to re-evaluate and modernize our programs, and to investigate improved rehabilitative services and to implement them wherever feasible.

URBAN INVESTMENT—PHASE TWO

New Jersey today faces the twin problems of growth and decay. Many of our cities are old and densely populated. We are the only state in the east that is growing faster than the national average. Many of our newer communities are growing at a rate that is unequalled throughout the country. Thus, almost all New Jersey communities face major problems associated with either growth or deterioration. These problems seem to require an ever-increasing amount of public expenditure and attention.

This situation is compounded by the fact that our needs are growing faster than local revenues. And, as if this weren't enough, it is those services that require the greatest per capita expenditures for which the needs are growing fastest. These trends appear irreversible. Because they press upon us, expenditures in New Jersey may have to increase substantially in the next ten years—according to some estimates by as much as 75 per cent—if the scope and quality of service is to increase by only 25 per cent.

Increasingly, local communities look to the State for the solution to many of their problems and it is obvious that the State must accept a larger role. In an urban state like New Jersey, the problems of growth and decay impinge on virtually every municipality. No one can view the difficulties of another community, no matter how distant, as misfortunes unrelated to his own well-being.

The Record

Because the manifold concerns of our communities threaten to overtake them, State government has accepted a larger role in solving local problems. This imperative was reflected two years ago in the creation by the Legislature of the Department of Community Affairs and the mandate given to it.

In its short existence and with limited resources, the Department of Community Affairs has achieved a notable record of success in a variety of major undertakings in our communities. The Department has been able to bring considerably expanded federal and foundation resources to New Jersey. Still more importantly, the Department has opened the door for private enterprise to participate in meeting the enormous challenges posed by our cities and has shown that relatively small expenditures of public monies can be the catalyst for far greater private effort.

In Newark today, 270 garden apartments are under construction through the joint efforts of the Prudential Life Insurance Company and the Department of Community Affairs. New Jersey thus became the first state in the nation to put into effect the insurance industry's pledge to invest one billion dollars in our central city areas.

In Camden, a non-profit corporation composed of four banks, the Campbell Soup Company and RCA has received a grant from the Department to rehabilitate housing. A related undertaking has been organized by an association of clergymen, also with the help of the Department. Fine old houses which were boarded up are now comfortable dwellings.

Similar results have been registered throughout the State—in Hoboken, in Newark, in Trenton.

In the next few months, I expect that in every major city in New Jersey, leaders in business and civic affairs will announce plans to form Urban Development Corporations. This heartening commitment by the private sector will continue to receive encouragement and support from the Department of Community Affairs.

The Department is working with private industry in the field of employment as well. An Urban Development Corporation which concentrates on providing employment opportunities for city residents has been formed in the greater New Brunswick area by Johnson & Johnson and other major employers.

Through a cooperative program with the Department of Education, 4,000 persons are receiving literacy instruction this year in preparation for on-going public and private job-training programs. For the first time, these employment programs can reach that sector of the population which most requires the opportunity to qualify for steady jobs.

Additional projects are also in operation to test important new departures for the revitalization of our cities—projects to rehabilitate narcotics addicts, to prepare minority group members for service in municipal police and fire departments, to restore purpose to the lives of the elderly by having them care for institutionalized children, and to help equip high school guidance counsellors for their increasingly demanding tasks in our urban school systems.

In New Jersey, a major portion of revenues for government is raised and spent at the local level. The Department of Community Affairs has worked with local officials in scores of communities, large and small, to help them improve the quality and effectiveness of local government so that local taxpayers can be assured of receiving full value for their tax dollars.

By using its Office of Community Services and many qualified professionals working at the local level in New Jersey, the Department has prepared management studies and improved operating procedures in personnel administration, capital budgeting, purchasing, municipal organization, electronic data processing, and many other essential functions of local government. More than half of New Jersey's 567 municipalities have prepared master plans with the assistance of the State Planning Division.

The Department of Community Affairs has made a special effort to assist local governments in their quest for federal funds. It has expedited grants in urban renewal, water and sewage facilities construction, police-community relations, manpower training, economic opportunity, neighborhood facilities—in short, in the entire spectrum of available federal assistance.

The State has made a major commitment to the Model Cities Program of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, and we are gratified that New Jersey won more than its share of Model Cities designations last November when Newark, Trenton and Hoboken were selected from among the nine cities that applied. I was delighted to announce last month that the remaining six received State Model Cities grants, thus permitting them to remain in competition for the major federal grants to implement the Model Cities program. Some 13 cities are now beginning or perfecting their applications for this program with assistance from the Department of Community Affairs, and we expect that a number of them will be rewarded in the second round of this major federal urban program.

Finally, I call your attention to the highly successful program of Interns in Community Service, under which 80 exceptional young people were afforded first-hand experience in local government last summer. These able young men and women brought new enthusiasm and vitality to many local government activities, and New Jersey will be reaping the benefits of this investment in our youth for many years to come.

I have mentioned these few benchmarks of progress to emphasize what I consider to be the exciting success of this new Department in a remarkably short time. It has developed the ability to work to productive advantage with the entire community—with local officials, business, labor, civil rights groups, anti-poverty agencies, and civic and community associations. It has demonstrated its competence in the full range of programs that together represent the comprehensive approach that the solution of our urban problems demands.

The Commitment

I am under no illusion that these few heartening examples represent more than the beginning of an upward trend in the solution of our urban problems. Furthermore, I am aware of the limited funds available for urban programs at all levels of government. But it seems to me, as it must to you, that in this one area, perhaps above all others, the State simply cannot abrogate its inescapable responsibilities. I therefore propose for your consideration a program which, though modest in relation to the needs at hand, will nevertheless be of sufficient size and scope to alleviate some of the concerns that weigh most heavily upon our communities, large and small alike.

I will propose a demonstration program of rent supplements for those families who are compelled to find new homes because of public projects. New highways, public institutions, and urban renewal are of great benefit to the State-at-large, but they inevitably impose great hardships on those families who are forced to relocate to make room for them. In many cases, the housing that is given over to demolition cannot be replaced, and families are left without substitute housing which they can afford. I propose, through a rent supplement program, to employ the operation of the private market, on a demonstration basis, to alleviate this unfortunate condition, which has created great inconvenience for some of our citizens and in addition has delayed the completion of important public projects.

Relocation is one of the thorniest urban problems of our day. A system of rent supplements is one rapid and effective solution. But a program of this kind can have further major benefits. A rent supplement program can revitalize the lagging real estate market in some of our urban areas. It can also enable New Jersey to tap extensively the one billion dollar insurance pool to which I have referred. This pool has received limited application throughout the country because many urban families cannot afford the type of housing that the insurance industry is able to sponsor. These additional factors argue strongly for a demonstration program of this kind, and I commend it to your attention.

I have already described the initial accomplishments of New Jersey's housing demonstration plan. In the field of housing, where projects normally require years for completion and where the needs of the poor have not been adequately served by public or by private efforts, this program has recorded encouraging results in a number of cities in a few short months. It promises to become our single most effective weapon to halt the deterioration of our older cities and to restore them as thriving centers of population. By this summer, I expect that hundreds of housing units in communities throughout the State will be near completion thanks to the housing demonstration fund. I will shortly propose that we replenish and expand this fund and I will ask business, labor and civic associations to join with State government to take maximum advantage of this essential tool for progress.

Earlier in this Message, I referred to the heavy fiscal burdens of our local units of government. Nowhere do these problems restrict progress more sharply than in urban renewal. The local tax base, especially in the hard-pressed cities that most require renewal, is often unable to accommodate the immediate expenditures that devolve from urban renewal projects. Pursuant to the Urban Renewal Assistance Act of 1967, I will request that you enable the State to share, to the extent feasible, with local governments the burden of renewal, to make a start.

Another important program that I will propose for your consideration is assistance to local governments for code enforcement programs. To implement the revised housing and building codes that the State will soon adopt, I will also recommend efforts to help communities develop and improve local housing inspection units. The value of these efforts is clear, for effective maintenance of property now will forestall the high cost of demolition and renewal in the future. I should perhaps observe at this point that the severe violations of which some tenement landlords are guilty—as opposed to the honest majority of such landlords—are abuses that we cannot permit to continue.

With a combined program of middle income housing, rehabilitation, rent supplements, urban renewal, and code enforcement, the State will be able to help local communities move decisively to create a better environment for their residents. But this advance will not suffice if we neglect the problems of our unemployed, our restless, and our hopeless people. I will propose that the Department of Community Affairs undertake a series of youth employment programs to complement its current operations in the manpower field. Furthermore, I will propose a state-wide system of day-care centers so that those women who seek employment can go to work without neglecting their young children.

At the same time, we will continue to work with local governments in our smaller communities to help them make the best use of their limited resources. The Department of Community Affairs will add a municipal management consultant team to its staff. It will also help communities to introduce data processing procedures.

New Jersey's rapid population growth compels us now to review our land use laws and their effect on our physical development. In many respects these laws are antiquated, and a major review of their content and provisions is in order. This review is already underway by the Department of Community Affairs, in cooperation with a committee of organizations with a major interest in our land use laws, including municipal attorneys, planning groups, agricultural units, utility companies and consumer associations. I have asked the Department and this committee to accelerate its work in order that a proposed revision of New Jersey's land use laws can be placed before this Legislature within three months. While I do not seek hasty action on these proposals, I believe that the urgency of this revision is such that I would hope the Legislature would consider it during the current session.

EDUCATION—

THE CONTINUING QUEST FOR EXCELLENCE

The twin goals of educational excellence and full educational opportunity for all New Jerseyans have been primary objectives of this Administration, and the past year has seen substantial progress toward their achievement. We have established a new Department and Board of Higher Education, which has designated a board of trustees for each of the State colleges. We have significantly enlarged our scholarship and loan programs, including an incentive scholarship plan. We have expanded opportunities in higher education, especially through a substantial financial commitment to our flourishing and burgeoning network of county community colleges, and we have acted with determination to accelerate the transformation of State colleges into strong liberal arts institutions. In short, New Jersey has now made firm its commitment to educational excellence and has established mechanisms to achieve it. But excellence in education is possible only through energetic and sustained financial support over a period of years, and I am confident that support of this kind will be forthcoming from this Legislature.

The new Department of Higher Education is now at work on the development of a master plan to guide the future course of our public higher education system. We may look for the completion of that plan later this year, and we may expect that it will provide us with carefully conceived suggestions for necessary action.

The State Scholarship Commission has called to my attention a major area in student assistance programs which does not now receive adequate coverage. Under present law, highly qualified young men and women in New Jersey who lack the financial resources for college have available to them either scholarship or loan programs. But the Scholarship Commission believes that a significant group of especially able students who have severe financial need and who are, at the same time, educationally or culturally deprived, also seeks and could benefit greatly from a college education. There are many young people among the college age population of this State who are capable of doing fully satisfactory college work if they receive a reasonable degree of guidance and assistance. I believe that providing for these young people a second chance to gain access to higher education would be a highly worth-while investment for our common future, and I shall therefore ask the Legislature to consider a supplemental scholarship program to provide selected students from poor families with both scholarship grants and special programs of remedial education at New Jersey colleges. With your support, I believe that such a program will further us rapidly toward the day when no qualified New Jerseyan will be denied the chance for a college education. To this end, I shall in addition submit to you other proposals to strengthen our scholarship and loan programs.

In elementary and secondary education the past year has seen further encouraging advances on many fronts, most notably in State aid to local school districts, which has nearly doubled, in strengthened vocational education, and in improved programs for handicapped children. If we are to continue the stimulation of educational quality throughout New Jersey, we must begin now to provide for a systematic research and development program to set the promise of this nation's great technological strength against the array of educational problems that beset us—including high dropout rates in many districts, disappointing levels of reading achievement on the part of many students, and above all the overriding need to improve the quality of instruction afforded all our children at the lowest possible cost consistent with this purpose.

If they are to overcome these problems, all local school districts must have somewhere to turn for expert advice and independent evaluation when they seek it. I therefore propose the gradual establishment of regional research and demonstration centers to be located throughout the State and to operate in conjunction with local school systems, and where possible, with institutions of higher education, to test new approaches and new technologies in actual classroom situations. Functioning in association with the Regional Educational Laboratory of the United States Office of Education but addressed specifically to the special needs of New Jersey's own urban, suburban and rural schools, these centers can begin to apply to the enterprise of public education in New Jersey the same research and demonstration techniques that have enabled the private sector to register unparalleled achievements in efficiency, effectiveness, and improved performance on behalf of the American public at large. New Jersey's regional educational centers, in the same fashion, will join with any local school district that expresses interest to develop improved educational programs for its children and to insure full value for every educational dollar spent by its taxpayers.

Last year saw the establishment of the pioneering Urban Education Corps, which has addressed itself firmly to the grave problems of teacher shortages, especially in our urban areas. By the end of the current school year approximately 50 corpsmen will be teaching in our public schools. Plans are now underway for a summer institute program at one or more of our State colleges to provide special training for present and future corpsmen. My hope is that in the next two years New Jersey can look to an Urban Education Corps of some 500 members with a strong summer education program to prepare them for their crucial and difficult assignments. I look to your continued support for this essential program.

Of special concern in this connection is the grave shortage of teachers fluent in both Spanish and English. There can be no doubt that such talented instructors are essential to a number of our school districts. I shall submit to the Legislature in the very near future a proposal to answer this critical shortage of bi-lingual teachers in our schools.

Another major educational task that confronts us is to help especially hard-pressed local school districts find the resources to construct new school buildings which their needs require but their means prohibit. I believe it is essential that the State assist those local school districts which have already fully extended or over-extended themselves in an effort to meet their responsibilities, as reflected in exhausted lending capacity and other indicators, or which labor under extraordinary school construction burdens. At my request the State Board of Education has examined this pressing question with care and has recently submitted a detailed proposal to promote school construction in those areas of the State that require it most. I commend this important proposal to your attention.

I am deeply gratified by the willingness of some of our most able citizens to dedicate themselves to a wide range of vital assignments in the public interest. One current example of this pattern is the Governor's Commission on Public Broadcasting, whose distinguished members are hard at work on the development of a plan for educational television and radio in New Jersey. Public instructional television and radio are a resource whose potential for the enrichment of our lives in the instructional, professional, cultural and civic spheres has barely been explored. The report of this Commission, which will have important implications for the future of education and communications in this State, will form the basis of legislation that I shall place before you later in this session.

After many decades of delay, New Jersey has now firmly embarked on a progressive course in the field of medical and dental education. The two-year medical school at Rutgers has now received authorization to become a four-year institution. The New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry is now on the verge of becoming a fully operative institution that will redound greatly to the credit and advantage of the entire State, and especially of the citizenry of the State's largest city, where it is located. I am confident that this Legislature, sharing the deep concern of previous Legislatures, will overcome past inaction in this critically important field and develop the facilities for medical and dental education which the needs of our 7 million citizens demand.

THE CONSUMER—A FAIR DEAL

Almost one year ago, I pointed out to the Legislature that Caveat Emptor—let the buyer beware—could not be permitted to continue as our policy in the area of consumer affairs and that it was the duty of government to take every reasonable step to assure that our citizens obtain a dollar's value for each dollar spent. The 191st Legislature responded to the demonstrated needs of consumers by passing such important measures as an amendment of the Small Loans Act to require the disclosure of true interest rates; a milk dating law to give the housewife greater assurance that she is purchasing a fresh commodity; increased penalties for violation of the Real Estate Syndication Law; a law requiring the posting of hotel rates; a state securities act; and, perhaps most significantly, a law creating a one-stop agency for consumer complaints—the Office of Consumer Protection. I have every reason to hope that this 192nd New Jersey Legislature will be equally responsive to the further needs of consumers as set forth in this Message.

Through the vigorous efforts of the Attorney General and also of its Director, the Office of Consumer Protection, in the short time it has been in existence, has proven to be a highly effective voice for the consumer. At present, the Office is handling more than 600 complaints per month and obtaining satisfaction for duped purchasers in the amount of nearly $40,000 per month. But equal in importance to the success which it has achieved, is the fact that through its experience a number of shortcomings in existing consumer protection law have been exposed and the need for remedial legislation highlighted.

The Holder in Due Course

Cases in the files of the Office of Consumer Protection document the need for the modification of the "holder in due course" rule as it applies to consumer installment sales. Under present conditions an unsuspecting buyer may be forced to pay full value for defective merchandise or incomplete repairs because his debt has been transferred to a third person. Consider the following example:

Mr. Smith owned a home which was basically sound and valuable, but whose exterior evidenced years of wear. He decided to improve the exterior and called on XYZ Aluminum Products, Inc. In September of 1966, he agreed to a home repair contract which obligated him not only for \$7,300 worth of repairs but also \$3,207.56 worth of credit charges. The credit cost represented \$7,300 financed at $6\frac{1}{2}\%$ over 84 months, or 7 years, for a total interest cost of $45\frac{1}{2}\%$. Unknown to Mr. Smith, the XYZ company discounted the financing agreement to a third party—an investment corporation. Sixty days after the contract was signed and before work was even begun, Mr. Smith received a coupon book for 84 payments at \$125.09 per month. It is now more than a year since the contract was signed. The repairs have still not been completed, but the investment corporation demands its monthly payment and refuses to be held in any way responsible for XYZ's non-performance on the contract. Mr. Smith possesses a half-finished house, but because the financing agency claims to be a holder in due course, he must continue to make payments or risk losing his home.

Although the holder in due course rule affects all consumers who buy on credit—both rich and poor—it is more oppressive to the poor. The poor are far more prone to credit buying and are more likely to be sold shoddy merchandise and to be deceived by false claims. Furthermore, the better-educated, more affluent consumer is better able to pursue his remedies directly against the seller. The poor consumer often lacks the knowledge, the time, the financial resources, or the psychological attitude necessary to bring action against the seller, who may even be a fly-by-night operator who disappears or goes out of business shortly after the sale. It should be noted, however, that consumers of average income, who constantly struggle against rising costs, are also vulnerable to severe damage from practices of this kind.

While the courts have often recognized the manifest injustices resulting from the application of the holder in due course rule and have frequently found ways in which the rule could be avoided, I propose that we abandon a case-by-case approach and enact legislation which will modify, within the limited sphere of consumer installment purchases, the status of holder in due course for an assignee of an installment contract. The step which I propose is not into an uncharted field, for a number of our sister states have already abolished or modified the holder in due course doctrine as it relates to consumer installment sales and have done so without adversely affecting legitimate commercial transactions.

Unscrupulous Salesmen

The Office of Consumer Protection also reports numerous instances wherein unscrupulous door-to-door salesmen have bilked the elderly, the poor, and the unsophisticated. As is the case throughout the field of consumer affairs, a handful of sharp operators damage the reputation and good will of the vast majority of honest businessmen, many of whom conduct legitimate enterprises on a door-to-door basis, often providing both savings and convenience to their customers. I do not propose to hamper in any way the operation of legitimate business. I do propose, however, to safeguard those businesses, and consumers as well, by suggesting that more adequate regulation be imposed on door-to-door salesmen. At present, our law permits a municipality to require the licensing of door-to-door salesmen but does not establish any uniform standards to control the issuance of licenses. I am advised that many municipalities have not adopted the necessary ordinances and those that have, show little uniformity in approach. I will submit for your consideration a bill calling for a State licensing act containing minimum standards to be effective throughout the State except in those municipalities requiring licensing and setting standards at least as high as those contained in the State law.

In addition, I will ask the Legislature to consider the enactment of a law providing a 48-hour "cooling off" period on retail installment sales and home repair contracts executed at a place other than the seller's place of business. During this 48-hour period the buyer who has had an opportunity to reflect upon his need for or ability to pay for goods or services—such as a housewife who is given the opportunity to weigh with her husband the wisdom of a given expenditure—could cancel the agreement if the seller had not previously substantially performed the contract.

Dealers in Credit—A Need for Scrutiny

Another aspect of consumer credit financing which warrants your early attention is the problem posed by open-end credit accounts which are largely unregulated by the law. Revolving credit is definitely a service to and a convenience for vast numbers of consumers. However, there is no reason why the cost of that service and convenience should not be subject to regulation. Nor is there any reason why consumers should not be told in clear terms how much they pay for revolving credit.

In 1965, a giant step forward was taken with the enactment of a second mortgage law, but recent investigation has shown that abuses have begun to reappear. All second mortgage lenders must be required to submit to periodic examination by the Department of Banking and Insurance and to file annual financial statements. In addition, steps must be taken to curtail the practice of some persons who hold themselves out as lenders but are in reality brokers for finance companies located in other states with less stringent regulations over lending practices. Legislation to strengthen the second mortgage law is now being drafted and will be offered for your consideration in the near future.

I am also deeply concerned by the growing practice in some quarters of the sending of unsolicited credit cards. Our citizens should not be put to the trouble of returning something they never sought or being tempted to use an easy way of buying things which they do not otherwise desire. Furthermore, the gratuitous mailing of credit cards with pre-printed names, as opposed to a letter of invitation to enter into a contract, troubles the recipient with the risk of an involuntary contractual relationship and expensive litigation. I suggest that the Legislature examine this practice with a view toward remedying the problems it presents.

The impact of shoddy lending practices and sharp dealings is further intensified when one considers that the end result is often the garnishment of an individual's wages, which in turn sometimes leads to the loss of his employment. The courts certainly must be left open to creditors to collect honest debts, and the garnishment of wages is sometimes the only available avenue. I propose, however, that our society refrain from "throwing water on a drowning man" by discouraging the summary firing of persons unfortunate enough to suffer garnishments. During the past few years, bills have been pending in the Legislature which would prohibit discrimination by employers against employees in this situation. I commend those measures to your attention.

Last year I was privileged to sign into law a measure substantially increasing the protection afforded persons borrowing from small loan companies. It occurs to me that in an economy where installment purchasing is becoming more and more prevalent, a retail buyer who finances the purchase of goods and services should enjoy the same protection as a borrower. Our present retail installment sales and home repair financing laws are in need of revision to extend this equal measure of protection. For instance, finance charges under those laws are not stated in terms clearly understandable to the average consumer. I propose that a thorough evaluation be made of installment sales law with a view toward passing a measure that will be fair to consumers and businessmen alike.

Disclosure—An Informed Bargain

The security of the modern consumer is truly a function of the degree to which he is informed. Experience demonstrates that even a knowledgeable customer is often provided unintelligible, misleading and even false information. I propose we adopt measures to formalize and protect the consumer's right to know.

There is an ever-increasing number of housing developments in this State which are being advertised as "retirement communities." In most instances a substantial financial investment is required of persons seeking this type of housing. Many of these individuals can ill afford to risk life-time savings since they do not have the earning capacity to recoup a major financial loss. One such enterprise recently declared bankruptcy and left many retired couples not only penniless but homeless. I propose the enactment of legislation requiring full disclosure of the financial resources of developers of this type of housing. In this way a person seeking to invest will have before him adequate factual information on which to base a decision. This legislation will also afford some type of protection to those legitimate developers and businessmen who conduct their business in an ethical manner and suffer from the unscrupulous practices of a few.

Another problem which requires legislative action is the solicitation of business from our citizens by unauthorized, out-of-state insurance firms. The Department of Banking and Insurance does not now have jurisdiction over unauthorized insurers who solicit customers in New Jersey through the mail and by advertisements. Recently certain beneficiaries have been unable to collect the proceeds of insurance policies written by some of these out-of-state insurers when the prior state of health of the insured has been raised as a defense, even though the original advertisement of the insurance plan indicated that "no physical examination is required." I believe that out-of-state insurers should be required to obtain certificates of authority to transact business in New Jersey. If they are qualified, they will face no difficulties from this requirement.

Three additional problem areas have become apparent and I invite your attention to these proposals:

—A law requiring funeral directors to furnish itemized lists of services, and charges therefor, included in the price of a funeral.

—A law requiring the proper labeling of re-conditioned and re-built household appliances.

—A law to require public representation on all professional boards so that the voice of the people may be heard in connection with the regulation of professions and businesses which deeply affect the daily lives of the citizens of this State.

Vigilant Government

New legislative authority is also necessary to permit those agencies which serve the consumer a full measure of opportunity to accomplish their assigned purposes.

A comprehensive revision of our weights and measures law received public legislative hearings last year. This measure is needed to modernize our standards and procedures—for the protection of both consumers and legitimate business enterprises. It deserves favorable action by this Legislature.

Enactment of the federal Meat Inspection Act of 1967 will help to strengthen both the federal and state meat inspection programs in our State. The uniform standards and federal matching funds provided under this act will enable us to upgrade our State inspection program. New Jersey has regulated and licensed slaughterhouses since 1910. Over the years these State requirements have been strengthened, and in 1965 the State Health Department adopted rules and regulations governing the construction, operation, and sanitation of meat and poultry processing plants and the labeling of meat and poultry products. Although New Jersey has been ahead of many states in its inspection requirements, there can be no room for complacency or for compromise with the public's health and safety. I shall shortly place before you my specific proposals in this sphere. The broad support received from consumers, industry, and government for the new federal act provides encouraging evidence that we may also expect full support for our increased State efforts.

The attention which has been accorded meat inspection provides a further reminder of the continuing need to strengthen also other health inspection and enforcement programs on the municipal, regional, and county levels. I urge that the Legislature consider carefully additional steps toward this goal.

In the past year there has been considerable interest in the safety aspects of high pressure pipelines which transmit natural gas from distant well fields to the densely populated urban areas of the country. New Jersey, through the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, has been in the forefront of progressive states adopting safety standards for the construction, maintenance, and operation of these pipelines. These standards, together with the Public Utility Commission's jurisdictional responsibilities over gas distribution companies, provide the people of New Jersey with the safe regulation of gas from the moment it enters the State through high pressure pipelines until it reaches the final consumer.

The Public Utility Commission has recently undertaken a review of its present regulations concerning these pipelines for the purpose of expanding and improving them if necessary. The study entails consideration of improvements in the manufacture and operation of facilities for the transmission of gas, of research and development, of customer requirements, of commercial and residential growth within the State, and of all other factors which are related to the transmission of gas and have a direct effect upon its safety. Should this study reveal the need for further legislative action in this field, you may be assured of my prompt commendation of proposals to you.

New Jerseyans received a wonderful New Year's benefit when the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company announced only a few days ago its third consecutive rate reduction for 1967. This reduction is a tribute to the cooperation of the public utilities of New Jersey and to the State's Public Utility Commission, which was instrumental in bringing about the adjustment. As a result, New Jersey telephone customers will now be saved $11.7 million a year.

Under its regulatory powers, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has brought about a continuing series of rate reductions and refunds to the customers of public utilities in the State. During the past six years, New Jerseyans have received total cumulative benefits from rate reductions, refunds, and other savings in excess of $100 million. The Public Utility Commission is now studying the development of a method for assessing public utilities in order to pay a portion of the State's cost of regulating the industry. Under consideration is a plan which would assess each utility a sum based upon operating revenues derived from business conducted in New Jersey. I hope shortly to receive the recommendations of the Board and to submit an appropriate proposal to the Legislature.

Recent bankruptcy proceedings against certain firms have emphasized the need for expansion and clarification of the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners over holding companies which control operating public utilities. I hope soon to submit legislation which will grant to the Board specific authority over the terms and conditions of borrowing between the holding company and the utility.

Finally, a law to authorize the appointment of an insurance rate defender in all cases in which general rate increases are sought warrants your early attention. The cost of the defender should be borne by the industry requesting the rate increase, as is now the case under the public utilities law. The possible contributions of a public rate defender have been demonstrated conclusively in connection with applications for increased Blue Shield rates and in the currently pending request for automobile insurance rate increases.

PROMOTING PUBLIC HEALTH

There is no more pressing concern of State Government than the good health of the people. We have registered important gains in this crucial field with the enactment of such programs as the State Health Aid Act for local health agencies and far-ranging air and water pollution control legislation. It is a matter of public record that New Jersey leads the Nation in the adoption of responsible standards and the implementation of effective controls designed to promote environmental health. Our continuing efforts were encouraged this past week by the announcement of the grant of a quarter of a million dollars by the United States Public Health Service with which to expand our existing system of air monitoring field stations.

Pollution Control—A Pledge to the Future

In 1967 the Legislature responded to the needs of our time and adopted a program acknowledged as the firmest legal foundation in the country for unified action against pollution. Upon this foundation during this past year, enforcement of the anti-pollution law has been swift and certain and consistent. Those who would pollute our environment already know that New Jersey will not tolerate this threat to our future well-being.

We have moved far and quickly to alleviate the grave danger of pollution. For most cases, legislative authority is enacted and administrative rules are in process. Only responsible co-operation, scrupulous enforcement, a firm and continued public commitment, and nature's own time are required to reverse a century of casual corruption of our air and water.

Yet we have not manifested a provincial concern, for pollution is no local menace confined to neat political compartments. With regard to water pollution, the Legislature acted in 1966 to promote a regional approach to sewage treatment. Already the State Department of Health has denied approval to a local facility found to be inconsistent with the regional concept. The development of central facilities designed to serve each of the identifiable drainage basins in the State is the ultimate goal and the only sure solution. Preliminary concentration has been given to the identification of these basins, the classification of our streams and waters to determine the level of protection each requires, and the issuance of specific orders to direct industry and local government in the provision and maintenance of adequate treatment facilities. We shall continue to fund local and regional studies and thus to develop habits of co-operation among the several levels of government concerned.

The restoration of our atmosphere, too, demands regional action and to that end we have engaged the cooperation of our neighboring states in the creation of the Mid-Atlantic States Air Pollution Control Compact. We must secure the strong support of these states and of the federal government for this Compact in our common defense. Recrimination has too long been the only instrument of interstate action. Only a powerful commission that responds faithfully to our common needs can secure meaningful and lasting results.

Another source of danger to the public health will also require our close attention in the year ahead. We must act now to protect an equally essential resource—land—and to control an equally destructive pollutant—solid waste. Solid waste disposal activities must be licensed and regulated if the land we prize is not to become a monstrous dump and an enemy to our health.

Health Services—Medicaid

In recognition of the dramatically increasing cost and utilization of hospital and medical services, and the severe financial pressures these services impose, the Congress formulated Title XIX of the Social Security Act, known as "Medicaid." The desperate need for a realistic and just distribution of the cost of maintaining personal health has been noted here before. Our study of this problem is continuing. Both the Department of Institutions and Agencies and your own legislative commission have recently published reports of their findings and recommendations concerning the implementation of a program of health care for the medically indigent of this State. Both these reports are founded on the conviction that those who lack the means to pay for necessary medical treatment must not thereby be deprived of that treatment.

Title XIX provides a program to make this principle work. Medicaid, in whatever form it is adopted, will require a substantial investment by State government. The return on this investment, however, measured in salvaged man-hours of labor and misery relieved, will be realized daily by citizens throughout the State. While we acknowledge the federal mandate that Medicaid be initiated in this decade, we must nevertheless proceed with caution in order to avoid the onerous mistakes that have plagued the plans of several of our sister states. We must also take full account of the alternatives permitted by the general requirements of the federal law, including various forms of health insurance, so as to select the plan that best responds to New Jersey's needs and capacities.

As my budget message will indicate, I am calling for the allocation of program development money for fiscal year 1968-1969 in preparation for the implementation of Medicaid by January, 1970. It will fall to this Administration and this Legislature to design the form of this program. I am confident that the determination with which we jointly approach this crucial task will be reinforced by the knowledge that we are concerned with a prize of matchless value—the health of our fellow citizens.

In addition to securing medical treatment for those who cannot afford it, we must act now to insure that the facilities and services available are adequate to cope with the dramatic increase in demand that is certain to accompany the implementation of this health program.

In the brief period since the introduction of Medicare, a substantial program but nevertheless of less far-reaching dimensions than Medicaid, the State Department of Health has acted to certify the hospitals and nursing homes of this State. Participation in this federal program has proved a considerable inducement to the meeting of minimum standards. In addition to residential treatment and convalescent facilities, the Department has certified over 50 home health agencies. As recommended by the Blue Cross Study Commission and the Legislative Commission to Study Economy and Efficiency in State Government, the Department of Health, with its expertise in and familiarity with the medical arts, must be empowered to continue this work and indeed to adopt and enforce minimum professional standards for all health facilities. The licensing and inspection of these facilities can be most effectively accomplished as an integral part of the general health planning effort, which falls within the purview of the Department of Health.

Beyond our active participation with hospitals and with doctors in preparing for tomorrow, we are also obliged to insure the capability of medical support and health services to meet increasing demands responsibly and safely. The federal "Partnership for Health Act" encourages just such planning for the future. Programs of this kind will enable us to exercise greater supervision and help ensure that clinical and bio-analytical laboratories, as well as the providers of other health and medical services, will be prepared for the task before them.

The preparation of professional personnel is a matter of continuing and growing urgency. In 1967 the Legislature demonstrated its appreciation of the nursing shortage and responded with the adoption of the Nursing Scholarship Act. I am pleased to report that this program, in combination with the growing capacity of the community college system to provide an entirely new source of nurses, will do much to alleviate that critical situation. In June, for example, more than 50 nurses who might otherwise never have been trained will be graduated from the community college system to fill vacancies across the State.

Of equal impact upon the shortage of trained nurses is the unfortunate brevity of the typical nursing career. With the enlightened co-operation of the New Jersey Hospital Association, we are encouraging inactive nurses to return to their profession. There are at present more than 11,000 inactive professional nurses in this State. The talent and training of even a small number of these women, if properly utilized, will do much to alleviate the pressure of unfilled positions during the developmental stages of new nurse training facilities and programs.

Mental Health—To Realize a Potential

In recent years, there has been a marked change in public attitudes concerning the mentally ill and mentally retarded in our society. No longer are these unfortunate individuals and their families forced into the invisible back room of life. Increased public concern for the mentally ill, as well as for the underprivileged and the aged, requires constant efforts by the State to alleviate the conditions in our society which create human misery. We have the responsibility, indeed, the moral obligation, to devise improved ways to assist those who are so handicapped that they require care, protection, treatment, or training.

Last year, more than 30,000 New Jerseyans were cared for in State facilities for the mentally ill and the mentally retarded. To meet their needs, we have maintained a program aimed at the development and provision of efficient medical services in our institutions. Expanded treatment capacity has been reinforced by continued expansion of the State's role in the development of county health services. State funds have been made available to aid in the construction of Community Mental Health Centers, and a Community Mental Health Board has been established within the Department of Institutions and Agencies with the responsibility to recommend policies and procedures designed to insure the orderly development of comprehensive mental health services. New avenues of collaboration between the Department of Institutions and Agencies and Rutgers, The State University have been opened which will result in new techniques of care for the mentally ill. A new evaluation and research unit was opened at the Johnstone Training Center for the Retarded. In addition to undertaking research on mental retardation, this unit provides a diagnostic center to which troubled parents with retarded children can turn for guidance and counsel.

We have made great strides in recent years toward insuring that the mentally ill and the mentally retarded will no longer be forgotten citizens. But the need to provide adequate physical facilities and modern, up-to-date treatment programs continues, and our success in meeting this need will require the continued concern of all New Jersey citizens. Not long ago, an interdepartmental committee completed a report analyzing State care provided for the retarded. I am now studying that report and I expect to propose legislation based upon its recommendations in the near future. I also hope shortly to recommend a measure to eliminate the gross inequities now found in the system under which parents of retarded children are charged for care in State institutions. There has long been a need for revision of this system, and I shall direct appropriate changes to your attention.

I am heartened by the response of your legislative leaders to informal discussions of these matters, and I am confident that with mutual co-operation we can work together for the improvement of institutions and institutional care.

TRANSPORTATION

We mark this year the first anniversary of the creation of the Department of Transportation—a year of commendable progress. The Department has registered meaningful achievements on a number of important fronts and has successfully expedited some immediate problems.

Investment for Mobility

In the area of highway construction, despite a federal freeze on Federal Aid Highway Funds through last June, the Department placed under contract a record $125 million of highway construction projects. During the past two fiscal periods, a record total of more than $356 million has been obligated for all phases of construction activity, including engineering and right-of-way acquisition. As a result, New Jersey's Interstate Highway Program is progressing on a schedule that will permit—assuming the availability of adequate federal financing—the State to complete its portion of the Interstate System on or before the 1972 timetable established when the program was commissioned in 1956. One example of current progress is Interstate 80, the remainder of which will be under construction during this calendar year. Interstate 280, west of the Stickle Bridge, will be entirely under construction before the end of the coming summer. Similar progress is being recorded on the other routes.

In its approach to the full range of transportation problems, the new Department has manifested the needed flexibility for which we had hoped. As a result, the State can expect maximum benefit from the resources it is allocating to transportation. The Department's proposal to transfer funds originally allocated to the disputed section of Interstate 278, to the construction of the important Central Jersey Expressway, apparently will meet with success. This achievement is a tribute to the unstinting efforts of Congressman Howard who, as a member of the important House Public Works Committee, was able to stimulate essential Congressional action. It is also a tribute to the administration of President Johnson, without whose co-operation this gratifying success would not have been possible. The President's prompt approval of Congressman Howard's bill has enabled the Department to make the necessary application to the United States Bureau of Public Roads. We are now seeking prompt action by that agency so that this project can move forward without further delay. As a result, the Department of Transportation can now respect the wishes and desires of the overwhelming number of people and officials of Union County in their categorical opposition to the construction of Interstate 278, and provide at the same time a responsible method of financing the Central Jersey Expressway, a long and eagerly awaited connection between Trenton and the Shore.

In the field of public transportation, the Department took positive action to preserve and improve essential rail service. An agreement with the Erie Lackawanna Railroad provides that the railroad will continue to operate its trains for at least five years while the State carries out a capital improvement program. A construction order was placed by the Department early in 1967 for 35 modern commuter cars which will be in service on the Pennsylvania Railroad during 1968. The Department also demonstrated its concern for the essential interests of the State by exerting leadership to keep the Central Railroad of New Jersey in operation, despite its unfortunate bankruptcy. The Department achieved this result through its subsidy program and the additional $2 million appropriation provided for this purpose. In recognition of the necessity to protect the public's investment in this carrier, the $2 million was made available to the railroad by way of a secured 4 per cent loan rather than as an outright grant.

The problems we face in the area of transportation, however, cannot be resolved merely by flexibility of approach or even by maximizing the return on the public's investment in this area. Recent reports from the Department indicate that the non-interstate highway projects which the people of this State are demanding will undoubtedly require considerable sums beyond the funds that appear to be available. While in past years it could be argued that the Department did not require additional funds because it still had available substantial unspent balances on its non-interstate accounts, this condition no longer obtains. This year projects will be delayed because of a shortage of funds.

Many of us have seen this day coming. Certainly, my predecessor, Governor Meyner, gave ample warning when, in 1959, he sought approval of a program to utilize the resources of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority to help fund the cost of transportation programs generally. In 1963, I made a similar recommendation in proposing a bond issue for highway purposes alone of $475 million. As you know, both of these proposals failed.

In 1964, the Legislature recognized some of the capital needs in the fields of higher education and institutions through the passage of several modest bond issues. In weighing the highway problem, however, the special joint highway committee of the Legislature recommended against additional capital funds for highway construction and suggested instead that consideration be given to more toll roads. This latter proposal has been adopted. The Turnpike Authority is now carrying out an expansion of that important roadway at a cost of approximately $400 million.

The New Jersey Highway Authority is prepared to undertake its own expanded program, involving the construction of the New Jersey Thruway and other improvements, at a cost that will exceed $250 million.

The most recent fiscal change in this State involved, as you know, bi-partisan enactment of a selective sales tax and bi-partisan allocation of the anticipated receipts. Both parties agreed that the bulk of the sales tax receipts should be channeled into local assistance. As a result, a special one-year additional sum of $34 million was provided as extraordinary State Road Aid in fiscal 1967. The sales tax also made possible a continuing State Road Aid Program of $15 million annually, as well as increases in the level of support for our rail program. This revenue source, however, by common agreement, did not provide any substantial new funds for State highway construction.

Regardless of this past record, we have clearly reached the point at which we must come to grips with capital problems in the field of transportation. I have therefore requested the Department of Transportation to complete work, as quickly as possible, on the Master Plan for Transportation which it is obligated to prepare under the statute creating the Department. This plan will delineate the State's range of needs in the areas of highways and public transportation. It should provide a basis for meaningful discussion of the problem so that basic policy decisions can be made in a responsible and realistic manner. As soon as this information is available, I shall submit it to you for your consideration.

Other Transportation Measures

Several other measures proposed by the Department of Transportation will warrant your prompt consideration. Legislation to permit the Department to reserve proposed rights-of-way for an interim period of time, with appropriate safeguards on that power to ensure land use within a reasonable time period, will help avoid the unnecessary purchase of developed parcels of property and reduce right-of-way costs. The Department is seeking an increase in the maximum relocation costs payable in order to help ease the hardship of families and businesses that must be relocated.

The Department is also revising the highway beautification proposal that it submitted last year. Such a measure merits your attention in order to ensure both New Jersey's compliance with federal statutes and the improvement of the scenic appearance of our highways.

The legislation creating the Tri-State Transportation Commission is scheduled to expire early in 1969. Since the concurrence of all three states will be required to continue the agency, discussions are now under way with regard to an extension of the expiration date. Legislation will be submitted for your consideration so that the Tri-State Transportation Commission can proceed with no unnecessary disruption in its important functions.

Highway Safety

As you know, the Congress of the United States acted last year to assist the states in carrying out their highway safety programs. The National Highway Safety Act provides for a co-ordinated National Highway Safety Program through financial assistance to the states for work in thirteen areas. Under the direction of my representative to the National Highway Safety Bureau, planning projects are under way in the areas of driver education, emergency medical services, traffic control devices, and police traffic services.

New Jersey is substantially in compliance with the National Highway Safety Standards promulgated by the Secretary of Transportation. However, legislation in several important areas is required to enable the State to move in the direction of 100 per cent compliance with the National Standards and thus to avoid invocation of a penalty clause of the National Highway Safety Act which directs the Secretary of Transportation to withhold apportionment of 10 per cent of Federal Aid Highway funds to any state that fails to implement a proper highway safety program.

The Standard on Driver Education requires that there be a driver education and training program available to all youths of licensing age which is taught by instructors certified by the State. A driver education course to include 30 hours of classroom instruction and 6 hours of behind-the-wheel training as well as an expanded program of teacher training will meet the requirement. The Legislature should direct renewed attention to an appropriate driver education program in the interest of the safety of all our citizens.

In the area of emergency medical services, it is essential that the victims of accidents receive prompt emergency medical care under all emergency conditions. The high caliber of New Jersey's ambulance and rescue squads is recognized throughout the nation. A model ambulance law will improve the training and equipment of emergency drivers, attendants, and dispatchers, as required by the National Highway Safety Standards, and I commend to your attention proposals to this end from the Department of Health.

Jetport

The construction of a fourth jetport for the metropolitan area continues to be among our major concerns. We daily receive fresh evidence of the toll exacted by delay. This toll—in inconvenience, inefficiency, and physical danger—demands that we approach the problem with critical objectivity and renewed commitment. At the same time it is clear that this public necessity must not indiscriminately invade valuable property and heavily settled communities. The densely built residential regions of this State are the fruition of too much careful planning and investment to be compromised by careless progress.

I am gratified to note that with the assistance of New Jersey's Congressional delegation I was able to arrange a re-opening of discussions on the jetport question between prominent business and civic leaders in New Jersey, on the one hand, and the United States Department of Transportation, the United States Air Force, and other concerned federal agencies on the other. Subsequently, I was privileged to appoint a blue ribbon citizens' committee composed of outstanding leaders of industry and finance, which has unselfishly volunteered its talents and energies to evaluate the economic impact of a jetport on the future of the State. This distinguished committee, chaired by J. Seward Johnson and supported by substantial resources at the command of

New Jersey commerce, has responded eagerly to the challenge before it. It is with great confidence and pride that I await this committee's report—confidence in the ability of this State to recognize and realize its unlimited potential as a great metropolitan center, and pride in the sincerity and good will of our people to work for a New Jersey jetport despite frustrating delays and heretofore insurmountable technical obstacles.

But State government must also continue to persevere in its efforts to resolve this question. I am therefore recommending that you authorize the establishment of a New Jersey Jetport Authority within the Department of Transportation. This Authority would stand ready to evaluate and hopefully to implement recommendations from the Johnson committee and other groups devoted to a solution of the jetport question. The Authority would be a focal point for all the State's efforts to resolve this long-standing problem. To this end the Authority would exercise such responsibilities as this and succeeding Legislatures determine are necessary for the satisfactory effectuation of a fourth jetport in the metropolitan area. Legislation to implement this proposal is now being prepared by the Department of Transportation, and I shall submit it for your consideration at an early date.

THE ECONOMY—INCREASING OUR STRENGTH

In 1967, as in the two previous years, more people of this State engaged in productive commerce than ever before in our history. With the increase in employment, personal spending and personal savings also achieved new high levels. The Economic Policy Council, established in 1967 to provide sound statistical reviews and projections of the economic status of our State, will report next month on the problems and opportunities presented by this expansion. Its commentary will include an analysis of the conditions which fostered our healthy economy and the means available to us to protect and stimulate it.

Among the factors contributing to our current success has been the effective implementation of programs to maintain attractive conditions of employment. The goals of financial security, personal safety, and opportunity for advancement are now closer to realization than ever before. The injection of over $19 million into the wage rolls, a direct result of the extended and increased minimum wage, contributed substantially to the health of our economy and to the well-being of our working men and women. Among the measures to which I invite the attention of this Legislature in the coming year, for the further stimulation of this environment, are improvements in the Worker Safety Act and legislation requiring a meal period in each full working day for all workers.

The sturdy response of industry to recent developments—visible in unchecked new construction and expansion of existing facilities in 1967—reflects its own perception of the climate of growth and prosperity that it finds in this State. During the eight months prior to September 1, 154 companies executed contracts to build or expand plants in the State. This investment in the future of New Jersey represents an immediate capital outlay in excess of $250 million. Moreover, these commitments for the future do not include either the monumental determination of a single concern to undertake a $300 million expansion program or various plans for the construction of nuclear powered generating facilities.

These business decisions both credit our convenient geography and concentration of utilities and underscore the realization of the business community that New Jersey provides fertile ground for operation and investment, protected by concerned government and serviced by responsible working men. In such a climate business and labor, with the assistance of government, can work together in productive harmony.

This community of interest among business, labor, and government has been reflected in significant attempts in the past two years to stimulate and facilitate the growth of business and industry in New Jersey. For example, recognition of the needs of commerce resulted in the reform two years ago of the Business Personalty Tax which, until then, had imposed an onerous burden upon industry.

During this past year legislation was adopted to liberalize the conditions under which business corporations may merge. Further indications of this Administration's awareness that a favorable business climate is essential to all may be found in reform of our railroad taxation policies, tax exemptions for air and water pollution control devices, the sponsorship of trade missions to various parts of the world, and the availability of State money under the Economic Development Assistance Act of 1966 for feasibility surveys for businesses interested in locating in New Jersey, to suggest but a few. This commitment to an ever-watchful anticipation of the needs of commerce must continue if our record of healthful expansion is to be maintained.

The Hackensack Meadowlands

The orderly development of the Hackensack Meadowlands will be perhaps the single greatest stimulus to the continued growth of New Jersey's economy. For several years I have emphasized the enormous potential of the Hackensack Meadowlands—with its possible use for industrial expansion, for new housing, and for recreation and conservation purposes—and the need to assure the proper and expeditious reclamation and development of this great natural resource.

Substantial steps to accomplish this major public objective have been taken. The Department of Community Affairs has developed the outlines of a regional development plan for this area and at the same time has worked closely with the United States Corps of Army Engineers in the preparation of reclamation program. These activities have been supplemented by the studies and recommendations of various private and governmental groups as to the nature and powers of the agency which will supervise this project, with particular emphasis on the multi-jurisdictional problems that will result from such a regional undertaking.

I believe that we have now reached a point where legislative action is imperative. Therefore, I recommend that the Legislature create and authorize a state agency to formulate a program for the development and reclamation of the Hackensack Meadowlands on a regional basis. Such an agency should be given broad powers both to develop and to enforce such a regional plan and to work closely with the involved local governing bodies in the implementation of the regional program.

Such legislation should also include provision for the resolution of title disputes in this area. In an historic decision, the Supreme Court of this State recently affirmed the State's riparian claims in certain of the Meadowlands and laid down general guidelines for the determination of the extent of the State's claim. It is therefore vital that this Legislature establish either a title court or an administrative agency to hear and determine title disputes so that this deterrent to the development of the Meadowlands is promptly removed. I shall shortly present to this Legislature a proposal which will encompass the creation of both a State agency for the planning and reclamation of the Meadowlands and a body to review and resolve the conflicting title claims in this area.

There is no doubt in my mind that the Meadowlands offer a unique challenge—to develop not only the great natural resources that it provides but also workable rules for large-scale regional planning which can serve as a model for similar activities in the future in other areas of this State.

Port Facility Expansion

The continued vitality of New Jersey's economy will depend, in large measure, upon our renewed determination to enlarge the port facilities of this State. Enactment last year of legislation to consolidate the South Jersey Port Commission and the Delaware River Port Authority constituted a significant step forward in the expansion and modernization of port facilities along the Delaware River. Unfortunately, however, the necessary concurrence of the Pennsylvania Legislature has not yet been granted. While I am still hopeful of affirmative action by the Pennsylvania Legislature, I reaffirm my determination that port development, along the Delaware River shall in any event be accomplished, for it is indispensable to the competitive position of South Jersey and to the further economic development of that region.

Nuclear Energy—A Tool for Expansion

The bench presses, lathes, and stamps of industry would suddenly halt without sufficient power to drive them. Much attention has been devoted in recent years to the development of nuclear-powered electric generating facilities, and New Jersey in 1968 will see in commercial operation the Oyster Creek Generating Station and will thus become the site of one of the largest such installations in the world. It is estimated that by 1980, 25 percent of our nation's total electric power generation will come from nuclear fuel. Consequently, it is important for New Jersey to continue its leadership in this field of technology.

It is equally important, however, that our State government encourage other peaceful uses of atomic energy, and at the same time maintain proper levels of supervision over the use of radioactive materials so that the safety of the public can be assured. As these objectives cut across the jurisdictions of several State departments, much can be said for the creation of a co-ordinating agency which can also serve as the primary liaison with those segments of private industry interested in this general subject.

Therefore, I have taken the necessary steps to appoint an Atomic Energy Council to encourage and assist the growth of the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes and the development of adequate engineering safeguards and operating practices which will assure that this usage is without danger to the citizens and environment of New Jersey. This Council will consist of the Commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development, the Commissioner of Health, the Attorney General, and the President of the Public Utility Commission. The collective expertise of these four public servants should enable New Jersey, a scientific and research center of this country, to be certain that the potential of atomic energy for all sectors of our growing economy is fulfilled.

Corporation Law Revision

To be presented to you later in this year is a revision of Title 14, the corporation law of New Jersey. The product of a decade of exceptional effort by the Corporation Law Revision Commission, this document will be examined by interested and responsible citizens throughout our State. What comes before you for your consideration will truly be a proposal which acknowledges the reliance of this State upon commerce and faith in our continued mutual success. I commend this significant legislation to you.

Forecast for the Future

The future condition of the State, both economic and social, depends in large measure upon our efforts to maintain a sound and balanced commercial community. Only such an environment can provide the jobs and support the activity which must be continued to meet the needs of our citizens and promote the realization of their full potential. The economic forecast for the coming year indicates employment in this State will surpass 2¾ million persons and personal income will exceed $27 billion. This advance is expected to be based increasingly on private demand and expenditure.

Thus the year 1968 in New Jersey presents an encouraging picture of improving employment opportunities and rising living standards for our families. It is both our opportunity and our obligation to work toward the realization of this encouraging forecast.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE—NEEDED AMENDMENTS

An increasingly large portion of many of the annual budgets for local government, and consequently a great share of our citizens' local property tax burden, reflects the staggering cost of public assistance. The willingness of our citizens to help those among them who are needy, infirm and disadvantaged is the strength of a democratic society. But we must continually examine our public assistance programs to make certain that they do not breed cycles of dependency or discourage personal incentives.

State government has developed programs aimed at bringing persons requiring income maintenance support into the mainstream of our society. Some notable results already have been achieved. In co-operation with county and municipal authorities, federal funding was secured for extension of work and training programs in the cities of Newark and Trenton, the Paterson-Passaic area, Camden County, Monmouth County, and Union County. These projects, authorized as part of the war on poverty, are funded at more than $10 million. As of March 1, 1967, almost 4,000 persons had received training and many of those are known to have re-entered the labor market.

We must continue our efforts toward strengthening our public assistance laws, to the dual ends that our humane purposes are served and public confidence in the system is enhanced. I have previously mentioned the need for enlarging the system of adequate day-care centers for the children of poor mothers who are the heads of households. This Legislature must address itself to this problem, for the recently adopted welfare amendments to the Social Security Act require this State to include day-care services as part of its comprehensive state-wide public assistance plan. In doing so, much more will be accomplished than mere compliance with the mandate of federal law. Answering this need will permit many women who are heads of households to receive job training, accept gainful employment, and become productive members of society.

CONSERVING OUR RECREATIONAL ASSETS

New Jersey is fortunate indeed to have a rich endowment of natural resources. Our fresh water lakes, ocean beaches, forests, and mountain trails are unexcelled products of nature's abundance. This Administration and innumerable private groups have spared no effort to conserve those natural resources and to make them available to each and every citizen. Consider, as a prime example, the rapid and careful planning and development of Sandy Hook State Park, now a natural recreation area whose beneficiaries will number in the hundreds of thousands.

There is no reason—in fact or law—why the rich assets of other equally priceless open spaces in this beautiful State cannot be so conserved and enjoyed. Every citizen of this State can take great pride in the achievements in this area by the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Those successes result from the Department's judicious blend of natural resource conservation and public recreation development, through the implementation of the "multi-purpose recreation center" concept. Nowhere in this State is there greater potential for full realization of this concept than in the Skylands of New Jersey, a 100,000-acre inter-region recreation and conservation area in north-central New Jersey. This expansive preserve, extending along the New Jersey-New York boundary of Bergen, Passaic and Sussex Counties, encompasses some of New Jersey's prime public forests and woodlands. The natural playgrounds and watersheds of the Skylands—and other areas like it—are amenable to conservation and recreational pursuits which, under proper land management procedures and other safeguards, will not be deleterious to the important use of this land for water supply.

Innovative approaches such as these, and the anticipated development of Tocks Island, will significantly increase the recreational opportunities available to all of our citizens. Your support of these and similar programs is absolutely essential to the judicious development of our precious natural resources.

EQUALITY UNDER LAW— A MEANINGFUL SHIFT IN EMPHASIS

Although I hardly need catalogue today the legislative milestones along our path to the elimination of discrimination, a quick review is proper cause for reflection:

- . . . amendments to the Law against Discrimination to bar discrimination in the sale or rental of private housing;
- . . . enactment of an optional Rent Control Law granting municipalities the authority to protect their citizens from unscrupulous landlords;
- . . . transfer to the Attorney General of responsibility for enforcing non-discrimination on public works projects;
- . . . re-organization of the Division of Aging as a part of the new Department of Community Affairs;
- . . . extension of the employment provisions of the Law against Discrimination to cover virtually all employers;
- . . . realistic appropriations giving to the Division on Civil Rights the financial resources to accomplish its legal duties.

Our present laws concerning discrimination on account of race, color, religion, national origin, or age manifest joint commitments by numerous Legislatures, myself and the citizens of this State to the concept of equal opportunity for all. I have supported legislation and appropriations throughout the first six years of my Administration to help make this concept a living one. The next two years of my Administration will be no different in this respect.

In keeping with this pledge of a continuing commitment to fulfill equal opportunity, I will transmit to you for your consideration legislation authorizing the Commissioner of Community Affairs and the Chancellor of Higher Education to make and file complaints of unlawful discriminatory practices. Similar authority has already been granted to the Commissioner of Labor and Industry and to the Commissioner of Education, in order that they might draw upon information specially available to them by virtue of their offices without waiting for a complaint from a particular aggrieved person. Past Legislatures recognized that only by such legislation could the State discharge its obligation to take affirmative steps to realize equal opportunity. I need hardly tell you of the necessity for assuring nondiscrimination in the many programs administered by the Department of Community Affairs. In a similar vein, our concern for non-discrimination in education should apply as much to graduate and post-graduate education as it does to elementary and secondary education. With your assistance in the very near future, the Commissioner of Community Affairs and the Chancellor of Higher Education will be able to lend a much needed helping hand to the Division on Civil Rights and to the realization of equality under law.

Notwithstanding model legislation and vigorous administrative enforcement, I must point out today, as I did in a similar context two years ago, that “. . . government's responsibility does not end with the enactment of laws.” Indeed, the securing of legislation is but the take-off point for government, for legislation can only have impact on the individual citizen through the medium of substantial programs.

Thus, today I recommend an accelerated shift in emphasis from legislative to programmatic attacks on the problems which beset our various racial, ethnic and religious minorities. Quality education, employment opportunity, urban renewal, housing inspection—all of these functional problem areas impinge, in one way or another, on the prospects of minority group citizens for realization of their full potential. It is no small wonder, then, that each of these areas is also the subject of numerous recent legislative measures upon which meaningful programs can be based. I propose today to direct the attention of my Administration, in a more intensified manner than ever before, to the development and execution of programs which will make our model legislation live and breathe. To this end, I will of course be receptive to any further suggestions for legislation that may be forthcoming from the Legislature, in order that every citizen of this State may have the fullest opportunity to share in our well-being.

PEOPLE AND GOVERNMENT

State government in New Jersey continues to operate with a maximum of efficiency at minimum cost. According to the most recent statistics, New Jersey still enjoys the lowest per capita cost of government and the lowest per capita number of State employees of the 50 States. We have been able to maintain this position of leadership in low-cost provision of services while at the same time striving to provide competitive salaries for the hard-working corps of civil servants to whom we owe much of the credit for our economy of operation.

In the past two years, the streamlining of the operation of government has received great attention. With the creation of the Departments of Transportation and Community Affairs, previously widely disbursed activities have been consolidated into single departments, under one roof and one administrative head and with attendant increases in efficiency. In our continuing search for new and better methods of performing the tasks of government, we have been assisted greatly by my own committee and now by the Legislative Commission to Study Efficiency and Economy in State Government, which has undertaken studies of the various departments of State government. Implementation of many recommendations from those studies has already resulted in savings in taxpayers' dollars. I believe it essential that the good work of the Commission continue, and I was pleased to sign into law last year a measure extending its life. Recently, the Commission completed an extensive study of our water resources. Its report contains suggestions—now being studied by this Administration—for the future management of that invaluable asset.

The actions taken and results achieved do not suggest that nothing further remains to be done. Proposals to realize still further economies can be assured of my full attention, for it has always been the position of this Administration that government should spend every dollar necessary to meet the legitimate needs of the people it serves, but not a single cent more.

To Maintain Legislative Integrity

It is my hope that this body, during the present session of the Legislature, will turn its attention to two much-needed measures designed to increase public confidence in the process of government—improvements in the laws concerning conflicts of interest and the disclosure of lobbying activity.

Last year I signed into law a measure requiring that persons serving in the executive or legislative branch of government reveal their proposed business transactions with the State and their proposed representation of individuals before a State agency, thereby subjecting those actions to public scrutiny and evaluation. I recognized then, as I recognize now, that a "disclosure law" is no panacea for the skepticism with which some members of the public view the activities of government. But such a law is a first step toward the establishment of a climate in which the people can be assured that those elected or selected to do the public's business do so with only one goal in mind—the public interest. I now suggest that this Legislature consider the second step—the establishment of a procedure by which complaints against members of the executive or legislative branch can be reviewed and judged by an independent and unbiased agency.

Additionally, the Legislature should direct its attention to the enactment of needed amendments to the Legislative Activities Disclosure Act. As I have stated on several occasions, an adequate lobbyist control act should strike a balance between the right of persons or groups to present their views by engaging the services of another and the right of the public to know who has engaged such representatives. The lobbyist, without doubt, provides information and assistance which may not be generally available to a busy legislator and in many cases makes a valuable contribution to the democratic process. Since the enactment of the present law, however, it has become apparent that its scope and effectiveness too limited. Not all persons who engage in lobbyist activity are currently required to register nor are the required reports as informative and complete as they should be to disclose all pertinent information. I therefore recommend that legislation be adopted to clarify and broaden the scope of the present law, and to establish meaningful penalties for non-compliance.

Public Employee Grievances

A problem of continuing perplexity to government at all levels is the difficulty of developing a workable procedure whereby the legitimate grievances of public employees can be discussed and resolved and unconstitutional work stoppages avoided. While New Jersey has been more fortunate than some of her sister states in avoiding a multiplicity of interruptions in vital services, there have been a sufficient number of actual or threatened work stoppages to occasion great concern among our citizens. There can be no strike against the public interest. But neither can there be a failure on the part of government to provide machinery for respectful dialogue between employees and administrators aimed at the resolution of legitimate grievances.

Eighteen months ago I approved legislation creating the Public and School Employees' Grievance Procedures Study Commission. The Commission was charged with the task of studying existing machinery for the presentation of grievances by public employees and recommending, if necessary, further procedures for the presentation of their grievances. Today you will receive the final report of the Commission, the product of hundreds of hours of careful deliberation of this challenging question. To you will fall the task, through the legislative process, of striking a meaningful accommodation between the rights of public employees to organize and to present their grievances through representatives of their own choosing, as guaranteed by the New Jersey Constitution, and the right of the general public to enjoy the efficient operation of government to which every citizen is entitled. However delicate, this task is not impossible, and, from the total perspective of labor-management relations, may not be as difficult as it would first appear. Recent studies indicate that although approximately 50 per cent of the public employees in this State have joined employee organizations, the work stoppage rate for public employees is less than one-tenth the work stoppage rate in the private sector. On the other hand, these dry statistics are no answer to almost universal demands for more realistic and equitable procedures for the voluntary resolution of public employee disputes.

Studies also indicate that the greatest portion of work stoppages by public employees have occurred in one functional service area—education, at every level. We require no extensive studies to prove that our most precious investment in the future, our children, bear the brunt of, and suffer the most from, such work stoppages. Because of the implications of public employee disputes for the education of our children, not to speak of the dependence of the very life and safety of our citizens on the continuation of other essential services, I would hope that you will approach your task in this area with the highest spirit of bi-partisan co-operation. I pledge myself and my party to that spirit today.

The Judiciary

In the past two years the enlargement of the Superior Court through legislative action has made a significant inroad on the backlog of pending litigation. In addition, uniformity and predictability were brought to courtroom procedure when, after extensive legislative evaluation, the Rules of Evidence promulgated by the Supreme Court were adopted. We must continue our efforts, for the quality of justice administered is the clearest manifestation of the health of a democratic society. I therefore suggest that this Legislature consider the possibility of initiating a constitutional amendment to permit the merger of the County and Superior Courts, bearing in mind that the judges of those two courts already exercise parallel jurisdiction in a number of areas. Such a measure would accord the Supreme Court a greater degree of flexibility in the handling of the ever-growing number of cases brought to court. Consideration should also be given to a comprehensive review of the judicial pension system so that equal treatment is accorded to the judges of all courts.

To Improve Government

Another matter deserving of legislative evaluation as we attempt to maintain government at a high level of efficiency is modernization of the Civil Service Law, long recognized as one of the best in the country, but in need of revision as the business of government becomes more and more complex. A number of provisions of our present Civil Service Law are no longer conducive to the development of the soundest possible personnel practices for our government, and recommendations will be forthcoming for a number of changes in the law.

My party is strongly committed to a constitutional amendment reducing the age requirement for voting from 21 years to 18 years. This commitment, however, is no partisan matter, for with enhanced educational opportunities and great national demands being made upon the energy and physical well-being of our youth, it is only just that they be given a full voice in government. I therefore recommend early adoption of a law which will place this question before the people in the next general election.

Reference to the Public and School Employees' Grievance Procedure Study Commission calls to mind the numerous other committees on which members of the general public have served with distinction during the past year. The continued willingness of persons, including those who are most busy in private pursuits, to devote time and energy to the consideration of difficult public problems represents an enormous contribution for which we all owe a debt of gratitude. This devotion to public service is exemplified by the work now being performed by the members of the Select Commission to Study Civil Disorders, who, under the chairmanship of Mr. Robert Lilley, have been diligently seeking the causes of the tragic occurrences of last summer and means by which such disasters might be avoided in the future. Most recently, a group of eminent New Jersey citizens has agreed to serve as a commission to study the use of the Drumthwacket property purchased last year through the joint action of the State and the Tercentenary Commission headed by Mr. Paul Troast.

It is my hope that the productive partnership between government and public-spirited citizens typified by these commissions, and many others too numerous to mention, will continue to flourish and redound to the benefit of the State of New Jersey.

The proposals that I place before you in this Message, as I have suggested, will enhance the vigorous new identity with which we have now invested New Jersey—an identity as a forward-looking State to which, in many spheres, our sister states now look with renewed respect. I welcome in addition your own proposals to advance New Jersey further along the road to greatness and to burnish the sense of pride that our citizens have begun to feel.

For the people have vested in this Legislature precious powers and special responsibilities, and although the majority of your members and I are of different political parties, I believe that our common concern—the general welfare—compels us to work together to meet our inescapable obligations. Indeed I am convinced that we can initiate today an historic joint effort by the Executive and Legislative branches to achieve a new level of excellence for this State—an effort which, with God's help, will vindicate the faith reposed in us by the people of New Jersey.

WHEREAS, The people of New Brunswick have lost a close personal friend, just as the State of New Jersey and the nation have lost a respected public servant, statesman, patriot, soldier and humanitarian, who left his indelible imprint on the business world, the field of medical care and the political arena; and

WHEREAS, Robert Wood Johnson devoted his life to public service and to building the small business founded by his father into a major international corporation with facilities on six continents. But this man was so much more than the astute industrialist that worldwide Johnson & Johnson family of companies proves him to have been; and

WHEREAS, Here in the State of New Jersey, the water we drink, the roads we travel on, the parklands we enjoy, the laws we live by are so much the better for the influence of Robert Johnson. Of all the qualities that he possessed, none served the world more than the tender concern he had for those less privileged than he. His spirit of giving has reached out and touched countless numbers of people in the far corners of the earth; and

WHEREAS, General Johnson's most inspired devotion was directed toward the men and women with whom he worked. "Human relations," he said, "are more than matters of expediency, sound psychology, or profitable business. They are also moral and religious laws. Each man has an inner dignity, with basic rights and duties."; and

WHEREAS, Of the magnificent Johnson & Johnson manufacturing facilities, many of which we are proud to call part of New Jersey's image, General Johnson once wrote, "We build not only structures in which men and women of the future will work, but also the pattern of society in which they will work. We are building not only frameworks of stone and steel, but frameworks of ideas and ideals.”; and

WHEREAS, We, who are Robert Wood Johnson’s beneficiaries, offer heartfelt thanks for the everlasting legacy of a devoted friend; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey:

That this body hereby joins in mourning the death, honoring the achievements and esteeming the memory of the late Robert Wood Johnson, and in extending condolences to his family; and

BUDGET MESSAGE

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

The budget which I present to you today serves as a foundation for change. It is a starting point for new decisions and new actions that can and should revise the financing of State government and, thereby, elevate the whole structure of State services to the people of New Jersey.

This budget anticipates changes that finally will permit us to build the physical plant that has been so long needed and too long talked about—the highways and commuter facilities, and colleges and hospitals, the clean water systems, and so many other needs.

This budget is balanced and will require no new or increased taxes. But let us not congratulate ourselves. This is so only because $78 million in long-term capital appropriations is removed from the budget to await the basic determinations that we must make this year.

New Jersey, in the past few years, has developed added momentum in meeting the needs of its citizens. This forward motion, I believe, will support the further changes which I propose today. For example, between fiscal 1966 and 1968 we raised State aid to local schools by 72.5% to an annual level of $323 million; in that period, State support for county colleges rose from $1 million to almost $14 million a year; the annual appropriation for State college and university construction rose from less than $5 million to almost $38 million; State financing of college operations jumped almost 40% to $73 million; our annual capital expenditure for institutions more than tripled to $21.4 million; State welfare costs showed a rise of 30% to almost $68 million a year; we were able to raise highway construction spending by more than 16% to an annual level of $64.5 million; and our appropriations for New Jersey's pressing urban problems almost quadrupled to a still modest level of $5.9 million.

Even with this action, it is clear that further change is necessary. We cannot, within the framework of annual revenues, build the capital facilities needed now to serve the population of this fastest growing State in the East. Yet, we know that we cannot do all that we would like to do in one year; but we can accomplish our goals, if they remain reasonable, over a period of the next few years. This will require a solid, business-like judgment as to our overall capital needs and a system of priorities for realization of those needs.

To help make that judgment and establish that system, I have appointed the distinguished Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey. Above and beyond the responsible estimates of projected capital expenditures that are now available to us, I consider it imperative that the people of New Jersey receive the benefit of the impartial judgment of a distinguished body of this kind. For we must determine now, once and for all, whether New Jersey does in fact have real capital needs, and if it does, what the priorities and methods of fulfillment should be. I have asked the Commission to submit its determination of the magnitude and priorities of our capital needs within 60 to 75 days because of the great relevance of this determination to necessary legislative and executive action in this very session.

The independent audit of our mounting demands that the Commission will perform—like the objective presentment of a grand jury—will provide for all our citizens a reliable and practical guide to the genuine capital needs of this State. I wish to emphasize in the strongest terms the absolute independence of this distinguished Commission as it undertakes its vital mission for New Jersey. We must await the Commission's objective findings before taking any long-range action on questions of capital construction. I should like to register my personal opinion at this time, however, that to meet New Jersey's legitimate capital needs will require long-term financing—above and beyond annual revenues—and that this financing will entail exercise of the State's triple A credit rating with bond issues.

Such long-term financing is not new in New Jersey, although it has been employed only to a limited degree. Bond issues are a staple of governmental financing throughout this nation. In the private sector, borrowing is a basic instrument of business growth.

Thus, instead of constricting our capital construction within the bounds of annual revenues and being forced to disregard manifest needs, we would be providing facilities as they are needed and paying for them as they are used.

No Panacea

This is no panacea. Borrowing requires the payment of interest; this raises the total cost of the project. Nevertheless, it is well established that the cost of borrowing is offset by the savings that result from early construction in the face of rising costs. Furthermore, the people of New Jersey have the early use of these facilities; who can set a value of a highway next year instead of five years hence? A college laboratory in 1969 instead of 1974?

The size and extent of the bond issues and, indeed, the very number of questions that should be submitted to the people, should await the report of the Capital Needs Commission and your deliberations that certainly will follow.

The $78 million which is removed from the budget consists of items for which funds may be deferred until later in fiscal 1969. This does not mean that these are non-essential expenditures. Many of them represent existing commitments upon which major local projects are predicated. For instance, there is the county college construction program; or the county and municipal road construction programs; or the State program of grants and loans for local sewerage projects.

Nevertheless, this capital spending could be encompassed by the anticipated bond issues.

Not only is legislative and executive agreement essential to the success of this new course of action, but so is the support of the voters to whom the bond issues would be submitted in November. Without enthusiastic bi-partisan support for this capital financing program, we can anticipate little success at the polls. To that fact I can offer personal testimony.

And what are the alternatives? If we do not agree on this course, we immediately—in this session—must make provision to restore the $78 million by a supplemental appropriation. With an anticipated surplus just one-half of 1% of the total budget, this appropriation can be financed only by new or increased taxes, and possibly both. This would leave us little farther along in meeting our capital needs than we have been. It would add to already strong tax pressures and perhaps jeopardize other existing and contemplated programs.

All of us know that the State government will continue to face difficult decisions. There are legitimate demands for further State aid to our hard-pressed municipalities and counties; steadily rising welfare costs, and related to this, the requirements of a Medicaid program. Estimates of the cost of a conservative Medicaid program—with eligibility limits a full third lower than those existing in New York, for instance—are for more than $100 million a year in State funds.

Some Alternatives

In confronting these additional demands we should look in future years in a number of possible directions—to the Federal government for a more realistic sharing in the costs of the Federally-mandated welfare programs and perhaps, at some later date, for implementation of a plan to share a portion of Federal revenues with the states under carefully defined conditions; to full utilization of the financing of self-liquidating capital facilities through revenue bonds; and, of course, to our own fiscal structure. In this last respect the Legislature should give consideration to raising additional revenues in various ways, including a lottery. Yet it would be the worst of poor judgment to believe that a lottery could do anything more than scratch the surface of our genuine requirements for funds.

Meanwhile, we have an underlying duty to the people of New Jersey to exercise the highest degree of prudence in spending while providing the services that this vital State requires.

In drawing up this budget, I received carefully documented departmental requests totaling some $1.5 billion. By a thoroughgoing review, I reduced these requests by more than $344 million, not including the deferred $78 million. Your Joint Appropriations Committee is about to undertake its detailed analysis of the budget. I know that economy will be the Committee's watchword. I think that we share a determination, however, that our economies will not eliminate services that are essential to our continuation as a progressive State.

All of us, I think, are convinced that we must continue to elevate our educational services; that the State must join in again making our cities good places in which to live and work; our highways economic assets instead of obstacle courses; our air clean and our waters pure.

In short, let us not make this a State for which we must develop bi-partisan apologies. Let us continue to build a New Jersey where we, as Republicans and Democrats, compete for credit for the attainments of the public policy, rather than avoid blame for public disaster.

INCOME AND OUTGO

After providing for supplemental appropriations already passed by the Legislature as of January 31, and those which are recommended in the budget, the State should close the current fiscal year with unappropriated funds on July 1, 1968 of $51 million. These funds, together with revenues of $1,018,476,000 anticipated in 1968-69 will produce total resources for next year of $1,069,543,000.

My budget recommendations of $1,064,156,000 will leave a razor-thin surplus of $5.4 million on June 30, 1969. Accepted budget practice generally dictates a surplus of at least 2% to 3% of the total budget instead of the present .5%. Therefore, extraordinary restraint is imposed on all branches of government in proposing additional spending.

THE BUDGET IN BRIEF

Resources

Estimated in Unappropriated Balances, July 1, 1968 (after providing for supplemental requirements)	$51,067,593
*Revenues Anticipated for 1968-69	1,018,475,677
Total Expected Resources	$1,069,543,270

Recommendations

General State Operations	$467,542,730
State Aid	510,738,963
Capital Construction	85,873,830
Total Recommendations	$1,064,155,523
Unappropriated Balance, June 30, 1969 (estimated)	$5,387,747

*Includes $2 million anticipated from 12 additional racing days recommended for flat tracks.

Not including recommendations of $78 million to be deferred pending decision on long-term capital financing.

The spending recommendation of $1,064,156,000 is approximately $59 million more than the adjusted appropriations for the current fiscal year. Should the $78 million deferred for bond issue financing be included, our budget in 1968-69 would amount to $1,142,117,000 or $137 million more than the current budget.

THE DEFERRED PROPOSALS

The important variable in this budget, of course, is the series of capital improvement items which either should be financed through a comprehensive program of bond issues or through new or increased taxes. Even with these items removed from the appropriation proposals, substantial capital expenditures still remain. The items which I recommend be deferred can be provided for later in this fiscal year without injury to vital State capital programs, either now under way or projected. Should provision for them not be made, however, irreparable injury could be rendered in critical areas of public service. There follows a chart outlining the relationships between the deferred items, total spending recommended in these areas and the departmental request for funds for these purposes. You will note that in a number of key areas there are recommended specific expenditures in addition to the deferrals.

The provision for railroad car purchase emphasizes the need for action, one way or another, later this year. The $8.6 million recommended will permit the purchase of 75 commuter cars. This represents the most important step-up in the State's long-term program of improving commuter facilities, a program on which $6.5 million in State money has already been spent. Most significant, is the fact that our failure to provide the $8.6 million could cause us to lose a like sum in Federal funds when it becomes available.

Also vital to the State's continuing program of upgrading commuter service—an economic necessity in a State such as ours—are improvements in the functional capability of our railroads. We provide in the deferral package $300,000 for basic planning studies for three such projects. One is preliminary engineering work on a track connection east of Newark between the Erie Lackawanna and Pennsylvania Railroads. This will permit through-train operation between such points as Dover, Morristown and Gladstone and Midtown Manhattan by making better use of some remaining capacity in the under-utilized Pennsylvania Tunnel. Another project provides for similar work on a link in Montclair between the Montclair Branch and Greenwood Lake Division of the Erie Lackawanna Railroad; this would permit new rail access to Newark from communities in Passaic and Morris counties. The third project provides additional funds for basic station improvements along the commuter lines, work that is essential if the railroads are to be made attractive to riders and relieve the need for still more highways.

For many years, the State has been providing $2 million annually for railroad grade crossing elimination. We propose to maintain this responsibility but to defer the payment until the second half of the fiscal year.

One of the mounting obligations on government in this most urbanized State in the nation is the almost life and death necessity to prevent further pollution of our streams and water supplies and to remove existing contamination. This can only be accomplished by massive expenditures on sewerage systems throughout the State. Such expenditures must await a long-term bond issue. Nevertheless, this budget proposes that we maintain our program of grants and loans at approximately the 1968 level. Of the total, however, $4 million would be deferred until later in the year. The $250,000 direct appropriation I recommend would enable us to move ahead in the first half of the year with a number of important regional engineering surveys.

Immediate and Deferred Action

Our county colleges—in which so many young people are finding new opportunity and in which all of us take great pride—are becoming an ever-more-important—and expensive—factor in our educational system. The statutory formula under which the State finances half the capital cost of the colleges calls for $18 million in the forthcoming year for colleges in 13 counties. This appropriately could be provided for as part of a wider ranging higher educational bond issue and, thus, is being deferred for that decision. Another major factor in that bond issue must be capital construction at the State-supported institutions of higher education. So critical is this need, however, that I am providing for direct appropriation of $20.4 million to permit construction under plans already drawn, and I am deferring action on only $5 million.

Last year, the State took an important step forward in highway construction with additional State aid. We raised the level of State assistance to counties and municipalities for road construction by $15 million annually and mandated that these funds be efficiently used to develop a comprehensive secondary road system. This capital expenditure also could be served by a transportation bond issue covering roads in a number of categories. No road can serve the public without adequate provision for maintenance; capital expenditures on maintenance facilities, therefore, are an essential component of the long-term transportation program. I recommend an appropriation of slightly more than a half million dollars to continue capital improvements already under way on several maintenance facilities and I am deferring $1.5 million until late in the year. The basic item in any highway program is, of course, capital funds for new roads. By direct appropriation, this budget provides sufficient funds to match Federal funds as they are apportioned to New Jersey. Also in the appropriation is another $2 million to maintain ongoing safety construction work on the highways. Deferred is $22.5 million. This money is needed for vital projects in which Federal participation is not available. It is in this area that we can make giant strides in improving our system of transportation and, thus, long-term action is essential.

No area of State need has given me more concern than the backlog of documented requests for institutions. Only with long-term bond issues can we reduce this catalog of human need. Nevertheless, I have made modest provision of just over $2 million for major repair and rehabilitation projects. The schedule of construction permits us to directly appropriate half this sum and defer the other half.

This, then, is the measure of our capital proposals for next year. These decisions have been among the most difficult that I have been called upon to make. I have no doubt that you will weigh carefully the recommended order of priorities, with the further responsibility of dovetailing them with farther ranging recommendations to be made by the Capital Needs Commission.

EDUCATION—RESPONSIBILITY AND OPPORTUNITY

Education, the most important single function of the State government, makes corresponding demands on State expenditures. For a multitude of responsibilities and opportunities, ranging from the training of skilled medical practitioners to supporting a special class for brain-damaged five-year-olds, I recommend appropriations of $502.8 million for our Departments of Education and Higher Education. This is an increase of $36.3 million over 1968 appropriations.

For current operating expenses of the Department of Education, I have recommended $6.65 million, an increase of $800,000 over 1968. State aid to local school districts—under statutory formulas—will increase by $33.2 million, to a total of $358.1 million. Of this total, $105.7 million meets our obligations under the pension and insurance programs for teachers in local schools and State colleges.

The major increases in grants to local districts are: formula aid, $1.5 million; transportation aid, $9.7 million; handicapped pupils, $5.8 million; school building aid, $500,000; vocational education, $1 million; the new school security program, $1 million; teachers' pensions and related benefits, $11.7 million; and library aid, $1 million.

An increase of $500,000 for the Office of the Commissioner includes $300,000 for the start of a promising new program, establishment and operation of at least one regional research and demonstration center. This will develop a resource to provide school administrators—when they seek it—advice, evaluation and demonstration of new pedagogical and technological approaches so sorely needed in many areas.

One of the sternest challenges facing all who have a responsibility for education in New Jersey is the equalization of educational opportunity. All of our State aid programs are designed to better assist those districts less able to meet the needs of their children. Nevertheless, these needs have been mounting more rapidly than our assistance.

The State Board of Education, to its credit, has taken affirmative recognition of this problem and has proposed a program of emergency school building aid for districts with the greatest need for additional classrooms and the lowest ability to pay for them. The State Board recommends a program under which State funds would be used to service local bond issues totaling $60 million and issued over a three-year period. This would build modern schools for almost 31,000 elementary students or more than 13,000 secondary pupils. Most likely, the funds would be used for both elementary and secondary schools.

The program requires new legislation and, in the context of our total budget, a modest annual commitment of funds, $1 million in fiscal 1969. This worthwhile legislation has my wholehearted support and I commend it—including the necessary appropriation—to your earnest attention and action.

Let me caution that this is an emergency program. It will not relieve the State or the school districts of their obligations to meet capital construction needs most recently estimated by the State Board at more than three-quarters of a billion dollars.

A New System

Not too long ago, higher education was a responsibility felt mostly by other states. This is no longer true in New Jersey; we now have a system of higher education; we have a long way to move in this area, but we are moving. This budget recommends $138.1 million for higher education. Of the total, $101.7 million underwrites current operations; $9 million is for State aid to county college operations and $27.4 million for capital construction at the State-supported facilities. Also, there are the deferred expenditures of $23 million.

Of the $101.7 million in current operating expenses, $90.6 million is for our nine State institutions of higher education. This is an increase of $14.3 million over the 1968 appropriations for these same institutions.

The recommended appropriation includes $8.7 million for the operation and continued development of the New Jersey

College of Medicine and Dentistry and the Rutgers Medical School. In addition, I have recommended appropriations totaling $11.7 million for the capital development of these two institutions. All but $1 million is for the ongoing development program at the College of Medicine and Dentistry. Rutgers' major expansion to a four-year school will follow. With this budget, we will have appropriated over a three-year period a total of $22.7 million for construction of medical and dental school facilities.

For the 1968 academic year, the nine higher education institutions were budgeted for an enrollment of 37,656 full-time and 88,495 part-time students.

Actual enrollments in the Fall of 1968 exceeded these budget estimates substantially. There were 1,863 more full-time students and 4,200 more part-time students than anticipated.

In the 1969 academic year, the nine institutions expect a total enrollment of 41,776 full-time students. This is an increase of 2,257 over the actual enrollment in the Fall of 1967. The number of part-time students shows an effective increase of about 6,600.

Special mention should be made of the plan already under way to provide several pre-engineered classroom buildings for installation at Trenton State College next Summer, permitting an additional enrollment in 1969 of 700 full-time students.

Higher enrollments mean more teachers; and we are budgeting for 371 additional teachers. Also included are 447 new non-teaching positions, both academic and non-academic. These employees will carry out necessary administrative, instructional research, and support functions.

Of particular importance is a group of 60 new positions for the six State colleges. These will provide each college with five new top level administrative positions to help effectuate the schools' transition from teachers' colleges to multi-purpose institutions. The other positions will be the necessary clerical support. Also, I have included in the budget for the Chancellor's Office $750,000 for transfer to the six State colleges in such amounts as the Board of Higher Education shall determine to facilitate the transition.

In my Annual Message last month, I referred to several summer demonstration programs in special areas of critical teacher shortages. Included in the recommended appropriation for the Chancellor's Office are funds to carry out such programs, including an Urban Education Corps Institute and a special program for bi-lingual teachers, fluent in both Spanish and English.

I also recommend a modest appropriation of $75,000 for the Chancellor's Office on behalf of the Commission on Public Broadcasting which I appointed last October. Private funds have enabled the Commission to organize and begin work which holds so much promise for education at all levels.

Effective Aid

This budget continues our State Scholarship and our Student Loan Guarantee programs, which have proved so effective in the past eight years. The funds recommended will provide for 14,738 State competitive scholarships in a program that means opportunity for steadily rising numbers of young people. In addition, more than 2,000 incentive scholarship grants will be made in 1969.

The Student Loan Guarantee program has proved eminently successful as an aid to New Jersey students in financing their college training. By the end of 1968, New Jersey will have guaranteed a total of nearly 50,000 loans with a total face value of nearly $50 million. Furthermore, under the Federally Insured Loan Program, administered by our Higher Education Assistance Authority, some 7,000 loans with a total face value of $7 million will be guaranteed by the end of this fiscal year.

On June 30, 1968, the assets of the Higher Education Assistance Fund will total more than $6 million, which is pledged as a guarantee of repayment for the outstanding loans referred to above.

Based on experience during the first eight years of the operation of this program, it seems evident that the earnings on the invested portion of this fund will be sufficient to purchase from the lending institutions any notes which are defaulted, and it should not be necessary to continue the build-up of capital in this fund by large annual appropriations. However, to preserve the fund at the present safe level, I am recommending legislation which would provide for an annual appropriation to the extent that the fund's earnings are insufficient to cover the cost of purchasing defaulted notes in a particular year. This should maintain the integrity of the fund and provide for continuation of the loan program at its current rate of growth.

What a deep satisfaction we can share over the success of this self-help program for young people willing and able to invest in their own future!

Let me also register my firm judgment that if we are in fact to achieve, after so many years of delay, a first-rate system of higher education, we must be prepared to make a major commitment to the great capital requirements that such a system will demand. The Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey will itself make a clear determination of the genuine capital requirements of our higher education system over the next decade, and we must stand ready, once this determination is available, to take appropriate executive and legislative action. For in no other way will we be able to fulfill our responsibilities in this vital field to the people of New Jersey.

SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITIES

The past year has served to highlight the critical nature of the problems facing the communities of this State. On the one hand, the physical structure of many of our cities and towns is reaching the stage of decay and obsolescence. On the other hand, New Jersey is the fastest growing state in the East, with thousands of additional individuals and families taking up residence here each month. Virtually no community is exempt from one or the other of these problems, and many of our communities are faced with both.

The result of these twin pressures is that local needs are growing faster than local revenues. Since local property tax rates cannot absorb these constantly increasing demands, the communities must increasingly look to the State and the Federal Government for assistance and the State must be willing to accept this larger role.

A year ago the Legislature recognized the critical nature of the problems facing the communities of New Jersey through the passage of several important pieces of legislation in the fields of housing and urban renewal. However, funds were provided only to implement one of them. It is important that these new programs begin without further delay.

To this end, the budget I am proposing for the Department of Community Affairs is designed to provide increased State assistance to communities in a number of especially critical areas and to maximize the Federal funds available to them. A total appropriation of $13.1 million is recommended, an increase of $7.3 million from the current fiscal year. More than 97% of this increase, or a total of $7.1 million, represents increased State aid to New Jersey communities.

Urban Renewal

The Federal Urban Renewal program's potential for revitalizing the decaying portions of our older cities is well known. However, many communities are unable to take full advantage of this Federal assistance because of their inability to meet the one-third local share requirements. The State Aid for Urban Renewal Projects Law of 1967 provides for State assistance to meet up to 50% of the local share on tax-producing urban renewal projects and up to 100% of the local share on educational, housing or other public projects. To initiate this State assistance, I am requesting $1.5 million. With these funds it should be possible to provide State support for all local expenditures required in fiscal year 1969 on new urban renewal projects which meet State criteria. Since the communities also need assurance that State assistance will be forthcoming in the later development of these projects, I also am requesting authority to make commitments against future year appropriations for amounts up to the legally authorized State share.

Code Enforcement

One of the important pieces of legislation enacted last year was the first major revision in 60 years of the Tenement Housing Law. A new hotel and multiple dwelling code will be promulgated shortly and effective enforcement of this code is a high priority activity in fiscal year 1969. An appropriation of $750,000 is requested for this purpose. Rather than greatly expand the State housing inspection staff to achieve this end, we expect to use local enforcement personnel where such staffs exist and community co-operation is available. This appropriation will be available to aid the municipalities in the expansion of their housing inspection staffs to accomplish this goal. It also will permit communities to match Federal code enforcement grants, which last year totaled over $4 million in New Jersey.

Relocation Assistance

While the construction of new public facilities is important to a community, such progress imposes a special hardship on those persons, and businesses displaced in the process. Federal funds are available to finance relocation resulting from urban renewal, highway and other Federally-aided projects. Under the Relocation Assistance Law of 1967, the State has now accepted the responsibility for providing similar assistance where relocation is required as a result of action by State or local government. I am requesting an appropriation of $2.25 million to begin this assistance program. These funds will finance the expenses of moving families and businesses into new and adequate quarters. Where adequate housing is not available at a price which relocatees can afford, these funds will also finance the difference between the rental which the family can be expected to pay and the fair market rental of the building in which they will reside.

Housing Demonstration and Revolving Fund

In the current year, approximately $1 million of the funds available to the Department are being utilized to accelerate the planning and development of housing projects for moderate and low-income families throughout the State and to demonstrate the feasibility of new and more efficient methods of housing construction. More than $40 million in mortgage funds, mostly from private sources, will be committed as a result of these projects. This will finance the construction or rehabilitation of more than 2,000 dwelling units. I am recommending an appropriation of $1.25 million for the continuation of these efforts. Together with anticipated repayments of $250,000, this will make $1.5 million available for these important purposes in fiscal year 1969.

Basic Education

In co-operation with the Department of Education, the Department of Community Affairs is operating an experimental basic education program designed to utilize non-professional instructors to provide literacy instruction to more than 3,000 participants in community-based manpower training programs. An appropriation of $900,000 is required to complete this experimental effort under joint auspices after which the program will be transferred to the Department of Education.

For Effective Government

Not only do our communities need financial assistance, but they also have a shortage of qualified and trained personnel to better serve their taxpayers. This is particularly true of our smaller communities. To meet this need, I am requesting $800,000 to:

- Expand the highly successful Interns in Community Service Program.
- Inaugurate a personnel assistance program under which the State will pay a portion of the cost of needed specialized personnel in the smaller communities to work on the co-ordination of existing resources and the improvement of municipal services. The State share will be 50% in the first year and will decline by 10% each year until the community is supporting the full cost after five years.
- Support a “Personnel Interchange Program” under which capable officials from one community can be loaned temporarily to another community which is in need of assistance.
- Match funds for Federal grants to provide training and technical assistance to municipal officials.

Community Development

Since the areas of major need vary greatly from one community to another, I am also recommending $1.25 million to support a variety of community development efforts. For our smaller communities, I am proposing a program of community development grants for construction or rehabilitation of neighborhood or community facilities and for other community development efforts. In many cases the community will be able to use the State funds to match Federal community facilities grants and thus triple the amount of funds available. Not all communities, however, are eligible for such Federal assistance.

Assistance will also be continued for communities seeking to participate in the Federal Model Cities Program. With such assistance last year, nine New Jersey communities were able to submit formal applications, three of which were approved, thereby setting in motion programs which will bring more than $50 million in Federal funds into New Jersey during the next five years. State funds will be used to help additional cities apply for Federal grants and to support local efforts to meet some of the critical organization and service gaps identified in the local planning process.

This appropriation also will be used to develop a major new program—with Federal matching—of day care services to enable welfare recipients and other mothers with young children to return to work and thus to support their families.

Alleviating Poverty

A total of $1.65 million is included to continue the important attack on the roots of poverty. Included are programs of State assistance to community action agencies, a new youth employment effort, and public service career development at the State level (in co-operation with the Department of Civil Service). All of these funds are used to match Federal grants, thus more than tripling the total amount available.

Of all the proposals in this budget, these connected with the well-being, even the survival, of our communities, have undeniable urgency. Given sufficient resources, prudence would have indicated much greater support for the programs described. As it is, these minimal, certainly conservative, recommendations should be considered with the gravest respect. No responsible man would intentionally destroy the communities upon which our society exists. And a denial of funds to halt decay, would be as shortsighted and reprehensible as a deliberate and affirmative move to destroy the places in which we live—our communities.

TRANSPORTATION—VITAL NEEDS

In no other area do the decisions that we will make later this year take on the importance that they do in the Department of Transportation. We are deferring action on a massive, $48 million portion of the funds that are essential to the work of that Department. For us to fail to restore the deferred funds—either by bond issue or by appropriation—would be to cripple the work of this Department in meeting the State's highway and commuter railroad needs. This would mean disaster for New Jersey.

I am proposing direct appropriations of $101.7 million for the Department of Transportation. As noted in an earlier section of this Message, by appropriating $28.1 million, we will be able to qualify for all available Federal funds. Such Federal assistance will total $117 million and will permit us to move ahead with out interstate, primary and urban highway construction program.

Increases of $2.3 million are recommended to enable the Department to continue programs of highway maintenance, traffic regulation and safety. This increase brings the cost of maintaining the 6,356 lane miles in the State highway system to $26.3 million. This level of expenditure will enable us to continue New Jersey's high standard of safety for both summer and winter travel on the State highways. Improved techniques of maintenance and increased productivity of the field forces will permit the Department to achieve these high standards with little increase in field personnel relative to the growth of the system. Modern equipment, cost effectiveness studies, better work conditions and superior road design all contribute to this achievement.

This budget includes $250,000 as New Jersey's cash share under the National Highway Safety Program. Safety programs already under way will serve as "in-kind" matching of more than $710,000. Thus, we will receive a like sum—$960,000—in Federal support for our highway safety activities.

While the $15 million State share under our State aid road acts is among the deferred proposals, this budget does provide $17.1 million for basic State aid for county and municipal roads. These funds constitute direct State contributions to county and municipal road departments for operations and maintenance as well as construction.

For the Division of Public Transportation, and particularly for its services to the more than 60,000 daily riders on New Jersey railroads, I am recommending $11.2 million. The operation section of this appropriation, $500,000, not only will cover administration of the Division but several special studies. One is designed to assure that subsidies for the railroads are indeed applied to the passenger services for which we are contracting. Another will study new approaches in attracting riders to the railroads and, thereby, hopefully reducing the need for public subsidy. The subsidies themselves will require $10.1 million.

Also included in this budget is $600,000 as the second and last installment of a $1.3 million State appropriation for long-needed modernization of station and track facilities of the Penn Central Railroad in Trenton. Hopefully, this project on which construction is soon to begin will act as a catalyst for impressive new developments which focus on the railroad terminal.

INSTITUTIONS—NEW VISTAS

This year, at an accelerated rate, we are beginning to realize the fruits of past efforts in meeting the human needs served by our institutions. I am pleased to report that we expect to open three major institutions, the Hunterdon State School, the Training School for Boys at Skillman and Leesburg State Prison. Also, in fiscal 1969, the nursing facility at the Vineland Soldiers' Home, the Readjustment Unit at the Johnstone Training and Research Center and the Yardville Youth Reception and Correction Center will reach full operating capacity.

More than one-third of the $8.8 million increase in operating the Department is requested for the opening of new institutions. The cost of our new salary revision program for nursing and related positions in the institutions is $1 million.

I want to make special mention of a recommendation of $200,000 to establish a Nursing Scholarship Program to encourage nursing aides in the State hospitals and institutions for the mentally retarded to enter the professional nursing field. This program has a double benefit; it helps meet the critical nursing shortage and fosters the upward mobility of capable employees now working at levels below their potential.

Mental Health

This budget reflects a consolidation and improvement of our mental health programs to include further development and enhancement of the sectionalization of the services and further development of special children's programs in the mental hospitals.

I am recommending $132,367 for expansion of the Drug Addiction Unit at the Neuropsychiatric Institute to accommodate 74 addicts. Presently, there are facilities for 42. Also included is $100,000 to aid the work of a number of local narcotic control and treatment agencies. Funds also are provided for the Division of Mental Health and Hospitals to better carry out its responsibilities for co-ordination of drug addiction services and to continue to provide 75% of the personnel costs of county addiction clinics in Morris, Union and Middlesex Counties.

I am pleased to report that our improved treatment facilities and procedures continue to produce a decline in the mental hospital in-patient population. The average daily population in fiscal 1956 was 15,380; in fiscal 1967, it was 11,697. I am confident that this trend will continue. These new techniques contribute to increased admissions and readmissions. This is considered a beneficial trend. Combined admissions in fiscal 1965 were 8,554; two years later they were 10,594. In this same period, the number of patients in the community Family Care Program increased from 399 to 713.

Mental Retardation

A greater acceptance of the mentally retarded in our society, local schools, and in industry is producing welcome changes in our programs for treatment, training, and education in this area. Our efforts now are directed toward retaining the mentally retarded in the family and community setting. This permits the handicapped to lead a more normal life while decreasing the need for expensive institutional care.

In keeping with these developments, I recommend an increase of $271,487 to raise our support for mentally retarded living in family situations and using the newly opened day care centers. An additional $300,000 represents an expansion of the Purchase of Residential Care Program. Some of this increase will pay for transportation of children to the day care centers and permit the centers to remain open 12 rather than 10 months per year. Another 600 cases will continue to be accommodated in private institutions through the Purchase of Care Program. This is almost double the number so served in fiscal 1967.

The retarded who cannot be retained in a family or community setting must receive care in either public or private institutions. The opening of the Hunterdon State School next year will help relieve the backlog of cases awaiting institutional care.

Correction

The opening of the Yardville Center and a work camp in the Wharton Tract has helped reduce overcrowding in correctional institutions. We also have introduced a community residence program, another rehabilitative effort. I am recommending $53,000 to expand this promising program.

In order to provide better supervision through more realistic case loads, I am recommending 22 new parole officer positions at a cost of $95,000.

The long history of the overcrowding at the State Home for Boys in Jamesburg will be relieved by the opening of the Training School for Boys at Skillman next December. I have included $881,000 for this institution which will serve 200 boys under the age of 14. This long-needed facility has been designed to give closer supervision and training needed for boys with serious behavior problems at an early age.

The opening of additional prison facilities at Leesburg next spring will relieve overcrowding in the adult prison complex. The new institution will provide for 336 additional inmates. I recommend $1.2 million to cover both operation of the existing prison camps and three months operation for the new facilities.

Welfare

Despite general prosperity, welfare costs continue to increase at a distressing rate. The recent action by the Federal Government to restrict payments was perhaps an answer from that Federal point of view. But to the states, these restraints will require larger outlays to assist the needy no longer eligible under Federal programs.

Assistance for Dependent Children continues to make escalating demands, with the rolls increasing at a rate of 2,000 per month. As a result, we estimate that there will be 176,000 eligible persons in fiscal 1969 compared with 152,000 this year. Furthermore, rising costs will raise the monthly payment from $60 to $64.

This will require State spending of $42 million as our 32.42% share, a startling boost of $10 million over the fiscal 1968 appropriation. Furthermore, a sharp increase is required in State aid to municipal welfare programs—a rise of $3,227,000 to a level of $10,268,000. Medical assistance to the aged requires another costly rise of $3 million to a level of $13 million.

Let me observe here, as I pointed out in my Legislative Message, that the willingness of our citizens to help those among them who are needy, infirm, and disadvantaged is the strength of a democratic society. But we must continually examine our public assistance programs to make certain that they do not breed cycles of dependency or discourage personal incentives. Moreover, we must identify promising programs to reduce the public assistance burden, such as the work and training programs now supported by Federal funds in seven areas of the State, and replicate them wherever possible.

County mental hospitals receive State aid for one-half of the actual per capita cost of maintenance of indigent patients. This requires $9,030,000, an increase of about $0.5 million.

Community mental health services which hopefully will limit the increase of institutional patients, will require a $700,000 budget boost to $1.85 million.

The Bureau of Children's Services is attempting wherever possible to keep children in their own homes. Nevertheless, more children must be placed in foster homes each year and we must compete with neighboring states for these homes. Therefore, I recommend a modest increase in the monthly allowance for foster home care, a somewhat higher rate for a limited number of children whose condition or temperament requires greater care, and a 5% increase in the rate for private institutional care. These functions, plus the maintenance of the Bureau's day care centers, will cost an additional $1,613,089.

The increase of $1.3 million recommended in the operating budget of the Division of Public Welfare is reflected primarily in the cost of providing for the increased case load in the Bureau of Children's Services. An average of 15,327 children were under supervision during fiscal year 1967, and we are forecasting an average of 19,591 under supervision during fiscal 1969.

I recommend the addition of 25 new positions to the Central Office staff of the Division to provide more effective administration of welfare activities, to assist in training personnel to handle the case loads and to help evaluate assistance. Another $150,000 is recommended for advance planning for Medicaid. If we are to continue to receive Federal assistance in this area, our participation in Medicaid will be mandatory by January 1, 1970.

I recommend an increase of $250,000 in the budget for the Commission for the Blind to further develop its productive workshop and home industry facilities.

HEALTH—PIONEERING PROGRAMS

We are beginning to meet with success in our pioneering programs to clean up our air and water. Private business, municipalities and individuals are taking positive action to control pollutants; but much remains to be done in this densely populated and highly industrialized State.

Our comprehensive program to control air pollution will cost $2.2 million, but Federal aid will meet $1.2 million of the total. This includes $1,127,000 for enforcement activities; $658,000 for air monitoring; and smaller sums for research, development, education, information and control of emission from motor vehicles.

Accordingly, I am recommending $1,011,880 for the Air Sanitation Program. To the extent that Federal aid materializes, the program can be undertaken in relation to such grants as may be allocated to the State.

In the area of water pollution control, I recommend $200,000 for a network of automatic water quality monitoring stations for the major river systems in the State. This will provide immediate information concerning unexpected or illegal discharges. This extension of monitoring is required by the Federal Clean Water Act.

Sewerage construction is synonymous with clean water. Although the amount of the Federal grants available in fiscal 1969 for sewerage construction is not yet known, I am recommending modest amounts of $100,000 for feasibility studies and $150,000 for loans for engineering plans. Our deferred capital proposals provide $4 million for construction. The provision for feasibility and engineering work anticipates the availability of the construction money.

Other Health Services

Recent Federal law requires that hospitals be paid reasonable costs for in-patient hospitalization provided by the New Jersey Crippled Children's Program. This has increased our costs greatly. For example, hospitalization costs have already increased from $20 per day to $53.82 per day; convalescent care, from $10 to $22.59 per day.

As a result, I recommend a $400,000 supplement to the $498,722 budgeted for the current year and a $1,299,250 appropriation for fiscal 1969.

This year, we intend to embark on a broad program of rat eradication and insect control in our urban slums. For a minimal State expenditure of $77,525, we will be able to attain $2.5 million in Federal funds. Local governments will supply "in-kind" services. An important factor in this program will be education of slum residents in eliminating the conditions which permit rats and insects to breed. Hopefully, the success of this program will require decreased State and Federal funds in the future.

LAW AND PUBLIC SAFETY—SOCIETY'S SAFEGUARDS

The Department of Law and Public Safety's wide-ranging programs against crime, civil disorder, consumer fraud, discrimination, vehicle hazards, driver irresponsibility, and other offenses against society will require an increase of $5.3 million above the current appropriation of $35.1 million. I recommend $200,000 for the important operations of the New Jersey Council Against Crime. In a related area, $55,000 is included for urgently needed studies of a computerized information system and for improving State-local police communications.

The increase of $2.5 million recommended for the Division of State Police includes 60 additional troopers and 24 service personnel at a cost of $547,832. This budget also provides $150,000 for trooper salary adjustments, and $403,568 for increased trooper maintenance allowances. Provision of $75,636 is also made to equip and operate the newly installed West Trenton terminal of the FBI's National Crime Information Center. The new facility will provide law enforcement agencies throughout the State with almost instant access to a national computerized police information file. This budget also provides for continuing the operation of the Riot Training School for local police.

Federal support will end this year for State financing of the mobile classroom units which have been providing local police training in the smaller jurisdictions. To bridge the gap, I recommend $79,511.

For the new Division of State Medical Examination, I recommend $200,000.

In the Division of Motor Vehicles, the recommended increase of $2.1 million over the current level of $16.5 million includes:

- $291,296 for staffing new vehicle inspection stations scheduled to open in Dover and East Newark, and for divisional management and administrative operations.
- $397,101 for a special salary adjustment for motor vehicle examiners.
- $536,430 for the second-year cost of conversion to a computerized driver-vehicle record system.
- $173,000 for a pilot project to inspect vehicles for air pollution.
- $1,100,000 for the construction of an inspection station in the Newark area to substitute for the Hartford Street station which must give way to urban renewal in that section of Newark.

CONTINUING THE BUSINESS OF GOVERNMENT

The programs of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development which mean so much to the quality and productivity of New Jersey life, require $15 million.

It includes $2 million for capital construction in the State parks. This amount will qualify the State for an additional $2 million in Federal funds. Significant planning and design work has been accomplished for these facilities and we are ready for immediate bidding. Thus, the public use of our State parks can be expected to increase greatly in the next several years. Most of the construction will take place on Green Acres property and in connection with the multi-use facilities of the Spruce Run and Round Valley Reservoirs.

The operations and maintenance of State forests and parks will require another $2.2 million.

Other items in this budget include modest provision for a marine geological research program; new equipment to measure water quantity and, thus, better allocate water supplies; promotion of economic development; veterans' assistance; preservation of shellfish resources and fish and game administration.

For the Department of Labor and Industry, I recommend an increase of $1.5 million over the current budget of $14.6 million. Like other departments, more than half of the rise is attributable to normal salary increments and cost increases for existing services. The balance is applied to the following areas:

- $202,483 for additional staffing to strengthen the Department's industrial safety programs; better enforcement of the State wage and hour laws; improved regulation under the Worker Health and Safety Act; and implementation of the recently enacted migrant labor camp legislation.
- $38,794 for added staffing to reduce the backlog of workmen's compensation cases.
- $129,412 for added staffing and needed new space for the increased workload mandated by the liberalized Temporary Disability Insurance law.

The cost of rehabilitation services has increased by some 6% during the current year. Rehabilitation services have been provided to persons with more severe handicaps and greater efforts are being made in poverty areas. Therefore, I recommend an increase of $600,000 for services to clients and an increase of $100,000 for diagnostic services. Of this total, $525,000 will be Federal funds.

The Department of the Treasury will require for day-to-day operations an increase of $1.4 million above the current appropriation of $19.2 million. Apart from the provision for normal salary and other cost increments, the major elements in this increase include:

- $145,133 for additional staffing for the administration of the business personal property and retail gross receipt taxes.
- $45,000 for management studies to continue to upgrade the level of State fiscal practices.
- $21,000 for additional technical staffing in the Division of Purchase and Property.
- $75,000 for the Office of Economic Policy to continue its important analysis and research on the State economy.
- $1,846,000 for construction of a new State Purchase Warehouse; the modernization of elevators at the State House Annex; for floodlighting the State House grounds; and for a continuation of our engineering studies to develop data for each State institution.

The revenue section of this budget contemplates legislation adding 12 days to the season of our three flat racing tracks. Thus, if the Legislature agrees, we can count on another $2 million in racing revenue.

For the Department of State, I recommend an increase of $20,683 above the current level of $773,000. The increase is needed for the election unit because of the enlarged Legislature, and for the corporation annual report section which is yielding revenue of eight dollars for every dollar spent.

In the Department of Agriculture there is an increase of $46,098 over the current budget of $2.26 million.

The work of the Department of Public Utilities will require an increase of only $50,000 over its present $1.1 million appropriation. This rise will permit the Department to retain technical consultants in cases that mean millions of dollars in utility payments by our citizens.

The Department of Banking and Insurance requires an increase of only $47,698 above the current budget of $2.95 million. This increase is due to normal salary increments and operating cost increases. The Department will continue to maintain its important services without additional staffing.

I recommend an appropriation of $3.9 million to carry out the programs of the Department of Defense in the coming year, a net increase of $510,000. The proposal includes $566,000 as the Department's share of the cost of a training school at Sea Girt. The State Police budget provides another $1 million. This new facility will replace the present temporary structures utilized by the National Guard and the Division of State Police in the conduct of military, municipal police and riot control training classes. Modern training facilities at Sea Girt are an important public need.

THE SERVICES OF GOVERNMENT

In the Department of Civil Service, I recommend an increase of $254,782 over the current level of $2.35 million. This will improve examinations and other services for local governments, provide for advertising to spur recruiting and equip a Newark clerical training center—the State's second such facility—to help prepare the disadvantaged for career opportunities.

State Employees' Salaries

For many years, we have faced continually increasing labor costs. In addition to rises in the general pay level, key employee groups in industry and other governments now are winning special gains. State government today faces demands to match private pay. We must find equitable solutions.

Both the cost of living and wage levels have risen steadily since last year. Federal workers' pay again was increased last October by 4.5%; at least 3% more is guaranteed by next July. Other states are following suit.

Therefore, I have included in this budget $13.5 million for a general increase in pay of 5% on July 1, 1968. I propose that another increase of 5% be planned for the following fiscal year. In addition, to provide the flexibility needed to meet current developments in the labor market, I have included $2 million for selective range revision where our surveys indicate the 5% increase will be inadequate to meet competitive pressures.

It should be noted that this budget provides an increase of almost $6 million in State payments in behalf of employee pensions, social security and other benefits. These contributions are dictated by actuarial requirements, the Federal Social Security law and premiums for health insurance.

The salaries of our executive employees cannot compare with their counterparts in business and industry. Pay for commensurate responsibilities in business would be much higher, not to mention other substantial benefits available in private industry. While we cannot expect to match industry, our cabinet officers and other executives merit an increase. Therefore, if the Legislature sees fit to approve the across-the-board increase for other State employees—and I hope that you will—I recommend that the Legislature consider increasing the salaries of cabinet officers and other executives whose compensation is determined by law, including the salary applicable to the Governor. By way of encouragement, I should remind you of the constitutional provision which will prevent any such pay raise militating to the advantage of the present Governor.

Overtime

The enactment of the overtime law, effective last July 1, 1967 providing time-and-one-half pay for overtime services, was a long-sought aim of State employees who heretofore had worked on an overtime basis at straight time. This law made cash payment mandatory.

Our experience to date, as indicated by testimony furnished at budget hearings by agency heads and from letters and petitions received by the Department of Civil Service from a cross-section of employees, suggests that we may have acted in haste in not continuing to provide the alternative of compensatory time off. Many employees, particularly those in institutions, want this at the equivalent of a time-and-one-half rate. My recommendation for the cost of overtime in the various departments anticipates new legislation to permit compensatory time off. This would save approximately $1.5 million a year. I urge passage of this law immediately in order to take advantage of the savings prior to July 1, 1968. If the amendment is not enacted, the $5 million which I recommend for overtime should be raised to $6.5 million.

Planning-Programming-Budgeting System

The Budget Director plans a comprehensive effort to improve the effectiveness of State programs through the Planning, Programming, Budgeting (PPB) System that is finding increasing acceptance in progressive state governments. The Budget Bureau, jointly with the Department of Community Affairs, has applied for a Federal grant to plan and develop such a system initially in selected State departments and local governments.

The system is now entering its third year throughout the Federal Government.

The PPB system seeks to: (1) identify goals and programs with much greater precision; (2) give greater emphasis to the more urgent goals; (3) search imaginatively for better alternatives in reaching those goals; (4) provide information, not merely on next year's costs of programs, but subsequent years' costs; and (5) measure program performance to insure a dollar's worth of service for each dollar spent. As a supplement to this Budget Message, I have included three exhibits which illustrate a State program structure summary within a PPB system.

Related to the PPB system, I include examples in various sections of the budget of program presentation to be compared with the departments' standard budget presentations. These exhibits may be helpful to you in understanding what services an agency is providing. There are many refinements to be made in these efforts. With your interest and support, we will accomplish them. The Legislature has a crucial role in reviewing and approving budgets.

PPB is an evolutionary step in the continuing endeavor to improve the budgetary process. More and more we are faced with difficult decisions and hard choices because of the limited resources at our disposal. The decision-making assistance of a PPB system will help tailor the desirable to the attainable. This will be for us a major undertaking. Such a system does not just happen and takes years to implement fully and effectively. It requires intensive work by dedicated personnel in both line and staff agencies.

CONCLUSION

The budget that I have placed before you today encompasses both a program to meet our present needs and a concern to accommodate our forthcoming responsibilities in the capital sphere. In respect of present needs this budget is rigorous, for it has undergone a lengthy process of careful weighing and winnowing of legitimate requests and therefore provides for programs that are essential to the well-being of the people of New Jersey—and only those programs. In respect of our very pressing responsibilities it contemplates a set of new decisions and new actions on the financing of State government, and of our essential capital requirements in particular, that could elevate the entire structure of State services for the people.

It is probably unnecessary to remind this Legislature that such a rigorous budget deserves very sober reflection before excisions are made. Put in another way, I hope that any decision to reduce these budget recommendations will be based upon a responsible consideration of the consequences, as affecting the services needed and expected by the people of this State.

I therefore commend this budget to you with full belief in its potential significance for the quality of State government, and in a real sense for the very quality of life of our seven million fellow citizens. As constitutional officers, and as public men, we can have no more compelling reasons to call for productive joint action on this budget.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor of New Jersey.

LAWRENCE BILDER,
Secretary to the Governor.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

SENATE BILL No. 330

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 330, without my approval, for the reasons set forth below:

Senate Bill No. 330 alters the present composition of the Seventh and Ninth Congressional Districts by transferring 16 municipalities in northeastern Bergen County from the Seventh District to the Ninth District and ten municipalities in west central Bergen County from the Ninth District to the Seventh District.

This bill has but one purpose—to assure the election of Republican candidates from both of these congressional districts. To achieve this purpose, the backers of the bill have disregarded the intention of the framers of the United States Constitution, violated accepted principles of congressional and legislative districting, and run roughshod over valid objections voiced in the Legislature against this bill.

Wholly apart from the partisan purpose which prompted its passage, Senate Bill No. 330 deserves to be rejected because it destroys the community of interests, compactness, and contiguity of the present congressional districts in Bergen County, and because it would increase the difference in population between these two districts according to recent population estimates. In addition, serious doubts arise as to the constitutionality of this bill because of the question whether the United States Constitution countenances further redistricting, without legitimate purpose, before the next census once a valid comprehensive districting plan has become law.

I. COMMUNITY OF INTERESTS

The present districting in Bergen County groups the older, more industrialized communities of South, Central and East Bergen together in the Ninth District; and places the more affluent, residential suburbs in the northern half of Bergen County together in the Seventh District. This arrangement makes sense because it brings together in each district communities with similar problems in such fields as transportation, schools, air and water pollution control, sewage and garbage disposal, and meadowlands development. Communities such as Hackensack, Garfield, Lodi, East Paterson and Saddle Brook share more common interests with their neighbors to the south and east than with Ridgewood, Saddle River, or other Northwest Bergen communities. Likewise, Englewood, Tenafly, and other Northern Valley communities have more in common with the Pascack Valley and with Ridgewood than with North Arlington or Lyndhurst. Yet this bill disregards these facts. It ignores the "community of interests" principle of districting.

The districting approach contained in this legislation has been justified on the grounds that it would be preferable to make both congressional districts a "cross-section of well-to-do communities in the northern part of the county and less affluent industrial towns in southern Bergen." This "Cross-section" argument is equivalent to saying that a grocery store ought to mix apples, oranges, potatoes, and cabbages in the same bins so that its customers could more easily buy a variety of foods. Representative democracy requires that a variety of interests receive effective representation. But this can be accomplished only if districts vary one from another, with different concerns and influences predominating in different districts. If every district were a perfect cross-section of the entire country, then the same majority would tend to elect like-minded representatives from every district. This would eliminate representation for all divergent viewpoints. That, of course, is exactly what the Republican Party in Bergen County seeks to do by means of this bill.

II. COMPACTNESS

Traditionally, geographical compactness of election districts has been considered highly desirable to protect against political gerrymandering. The best measurement of compactness is obtained by circumscribing the district with a circle having the smallest possible radius. An index of compactness can then be calculated by determining what fraction of the area of this circle is occupied by the district. In the case of the present Ninth District, this index is an admirable 50.5 percent. Senate Bill No. 330 would reduce that index to 27.3, or a relative reduction of 45.9 percent from the present index. For the current Seventh District the index is 41.1. This bill would result in a relative reduction of 14.6 percent from the present index, leaving an index of 35.1.

This comparison demonstrates in mathematical terms a fact that can also be seen by glancing at a map of the proposed new districts—that this bill would create a classic gerrymander.

III. CONTIGUITY

In the course of the hasty consideration which this measure received in the Legislature, its supporters failed to correct a defect which was pointed out during floor debate in each house. This oversight would result, if this bill were to become effective, in the creation of a non-contiguous island of the Seventh Congressional District completely surrounded by the Ninth District. This would occur because the Township of South Hackensack, which consists of three separate, non-contiguous pieces of territory, is assigned in its entirety to the Seventh District by this bill. However, the southern section of South Hackensack is completely surrounded by communities assigned to the Ninth District. This southern section of South Hackensack is separated from the main section of the township by Moonachie and Little Ferry, both of which would remain in the Ninth District under this bill.

Contiguity is well recognized as a criterion for districting. It is spelled out in the New Jersey Constitution as a requirement for all legislative districts. In regard to Congressional districts, the New Jersey Supreme Court commented in Jones v. Falcey, 48 N. J. 25, at 34 (1966):

“Another limitation probably inheres, in the very concept of a ‘district,’ that is, that it must embrace an area with a single set of boundaries rather than be a collection of geographically isolated oases.”

This bill fails to comply with that standard.

IV. EQUALITY OF POPULATION

One excuse offered in behalf of this bill is that it would reduce slightly the present population deviation of the Seventh District. It is transparently clear that population deviations had nothing whatsoever to do with the reason for this bill's introduction and passage. In fact, this bill as it was originally introduced in both houses of the Legislature would actually have increased the population deviation of the Seventh District from -5.0% to -6.9% . Because of fear that the courts might reject this gerrymander on the grounds of this increase in deviation, the majority party had the bill amended in the Senate Committee to transfer Hasbrouck Heights and Teterboro from the Ninth to the Seventh District. This amendment now enables supporters of the bill to proclaim that its effect is to reduce slightly the present population deviation in the Seventh District. I am informed, however, that had the Republican majority been sincerely interested in equalizing the population of these districts, several superior plans were available. For instance, a line could have been drawn so as to include Fair Lawn in the Ninth District and to move Leonia, Palisades and Fort Lee to the Seventh District. This would have resulted in districts having a difference of only 17 persons. Perhaps the reluctance on the part of the majority to choose this near-perfect option can be explained by the fact that, based on past election results, such a line would have enhanced the election chances of a Democratic candidate in the Ninth District. Actually, there is no need to make any adjustments in the present population figures in either of the Bergen County districts since the present deviations are minimal and have been found to meet the one-man, one-vote test by the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Furthermore, the trend of population growth in Bergen County since 1960 has reduced the difference in population between the Seventh and Ninth Districts. Although the 1960 census figures must provide the official basis of comparison until the next census, the more recent estimates indicate that this bill would in fact, expand rather than decrease the difference between districts and increase the probability that further changes would be required after the 1970 census. This point is fully illustrated by the fact that, based on 1966 population estimates of the Bergen County Planning Board, the difference in population between the Seventh and Ninth Districts under the existing plan is 6,035, while the difference under the proposed plan would become 19,773.

V. HISTORY

It has also been argued in defense of this bill that it would re-establish the dividing line in Bergen County between the Seventh and Ninth Districts as that line existed from 1931 to 1966. Even if this were true, it would not justify reverting in 1968 to mistakes made in 1931. The Seventh and Ninth Districts as then created became classic examples throughout the nation of gerrymandered districts.

This bill, of course, would not restore the Seventh and Ninth Districts as they were constituted prior to the 1966 redistricting act. It does not even follow exactly the same dividing line within Bergen County, inasmuch as it moves Hasbrouck Heights and Teterboro into the Seventh District for the first time. In addition, this bill would actually increase the political effectiveness of the old gerrymanders because it would not restore to the Ninth District the two predominately Democratic municipalities from Hudson County which were in the district from 1931 to 1966.

The United States Supreme Court has said that the history of a district provides no justification for violating the equal population standard. Nor can history justify sacrificing the criteria of compactness, contiguity, and community of interests—which would be the effect of this bill.

VI. PIECEMEAL APPROACH

As the New Jersey Supreme Court noted in reviewing the 1966 redistricting act, the present districting plan preserves intact the boundaries of 15 of the 21 counties. This equals or excels the results of various alternative plans which were considered. However, it is inherent in the nature of districting that preservation of county lines in one area may necessarily require that they be broken elsewhere. The Legislature was faced with difficult decisions in making such choices. The courts have indicated that the present districting plan meets constitutional requirements, and it is doubtful that any alternative plan can be devised and enacted which would improve upon the present state-wide plan while still complying with these requirements. Nevertheless, there would be far more justification for the Legislature to attempt an over-all revision of the present districting plan for the purpose of restoring county lines which are now broken or otherwise improving aspects of the plan in some areas according to objective standards, than there can be for the piecemeal approach represented by this bill.

There are areas of the State—such as Camden, Middlesex and Union Counties—where objective improvements in the present plan might be sought. But this bill completely disregards such understandable aims. It makes no attempt to restore county boundaries, unify the community of interests, or improve the compactness of any districts. Instead, it deals only with the two Bergen County districts, and would decrease or destroy compactness, contiguity and community of interests in those districts.

Other piecemeal alterations in the present districting plan are now pending in the Legislature. If any changes at all are to be adopted, or could constitutionally be adopted, they should be undertaken as a single package.

VII. EXHAUSTION OF STATE AUTHORITY

The most serious objection, however, to Senate Bill No. 330 is that it would inaugurate the practice of redistricting every time a partisan shift in legislative majorities occurs with all the attendant evils of legislative inattention to pressing public problems, time-consuming and expensive litigation and, most seriously, confusion of the electorate. Not only is the re-opening of the question of Congressional districting after the enactment of a constitutionally acceptable plan of questionable wisdom, but also grave doubts arise as to the Legislature's authority to do so. A substantial argument can be made that the authority of a State to redraw congressional districts is exhausted once a valid districting plan is enacted on the basis of the preceding federal census. This authority is revised by the next census and the resulting reapportionment of the seats in the United States House of Representatives. The records of the federal constitutional convention indicate that the constitutional provisions relating to decennial censuses, reapportionment of seats in the United States House of Representatives, and state districting were intended to create a system of representation which would operate as automatically as possible and which would minimize the possibilities of political interference with equal representation by means of malapportionment or gerrymandering. This intention can best be implemented if the constitutional provisions are construed as not authorizing further redistricting, without legitimate purpose, before the next census once a valid districting plan has become law.

Our New Jersey Constitution clearly recognizes the mischief resulting from reapportionment every time the political complexion of the Legislature changes and explicitly prohibits more than one valid reapportionment of legislative seats after each census. For reasons of sound public policy and constitutional law, I believe the same general principle should be applied to congressional redistricting.

My suggestion that the power of the Legislature is exhausted on the subject of congressional redistricting is not premised on any unique or novel concept of my own. One hundred years ago, the then Governor of New Jersey, Marcus Ward, vetoed a joint resolution of the Legislature which would have rescinded the action of a prior Legislature in ratifying the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. Governor Ward suggested then, as I do now, that once the Legislature of this State has properly fulfilled an obligation placed upon it by the United States Constitution its authority to act further ceases.

The evolving requirements of the principle of "one man, one vote," have prompted several congressional redistricting measures in New Jersey since the 1960 census. The New Jersey Supreme Court found the 1966 redistricting act to be constitutionally sound, with minor exceptions. The minor aspects of the 1966 plan to which the court expressed objections were corrected by subsequent legislation in 1967. There can be no question but that the present Congressional districting complies fully with all recognized constitutional standards. One election has already been held under the present districting in the Seventh and Ninth Congressional Districts. There is no valid reason for again altering these districts before the 1979 census.

Respectfully,

Our Father and our God, our hearts this day are deeply saddened by the passing of Thy servant, Drew Wilson. We remember the many years he served so faithfully the members of this Senate. We recall his genial smile, and his courteous, thoughtful and considerate ways. Nor would we forget the faithful manner in which he discharged all the duties entrusted to his care. We shall all miss him.

Support, we beseech Thee, with Thine everlasting arms, his wife and family in this, their hour of need.

O God, may we each remember our own responsibility to Thee recalling the admonition of the Scripture, "no man knoweth what a day will bring forth" but aware that the day for serving Thee is always at hand. So may we serve Thee with that same faithfulness all the length of our days, we ask in Thy most holy name. Amen.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
March 25, 1968.

SENATE BILL No. 275

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 275, without my approval, for the following reasons:

Senate Bill No. 275 is intended to compel the holding of a special election in the City of Englewood to fill one seat on the Common Council and to alter, retroactively, the terms to which officials and employees of the City of Englewood have been appointed by the present governing body. This bill would disrupt the orderly judicial and electoral processes provided under present law.

In litigation arising after the last general election in Englewood, the trial court ruled that two Democratic candidates for Councilman, the Democratic candidate for Mayor and one Republican candidate for Councilman were validly elected in 1967. The election of a third Democratic Council candidate was invalidated by the trial court on the grounds that his 17-vote plurality was less than the number of invalid votes cast in the election. The judge found no evidence of fraud. The creation of this vacancy left the Mayor and four of the five Councilmen in office. The composition of the governing body by party affiliation then became two Democratic Councilmen, two Republican Councilmen (including one carry-over elected in a previous year), and a Democratic Mayor with the tie-breaking vote.

In accordance with the Englewood City Charter, the remaining members of the governing body then proceeded to fill the vacant Council seat. This conforms to the most common procedure for filling vacancies on municipal or county governing bodies in New Jersey. That procedure would not be altered by this bill. However, the bill would change the method by which a successor to the interim appointee is later chosen by the electorate. Present law provides that the successor is to be elected at the next general election. Under N.J.S.A. 19:3-29, this is the normal procedure for filling vacancies in all offices other than in Congress or the Legislature, regardless of how the vacancy arises.

Senate Bill No. 275 would extend to the Englewood situation selected provisions of an act which was designed to fill the void where a municipality is left without a functioning government because the election of a majority of the members of the governing body has been invalidated. That act provides for the temporary filling of such vacancies through appointments by the Superior Court assignment judge for the county. A special election must then be held within 65 days so that the voters can choose replacements to those temporary appointees.

An emergency of that nature, where a quorum of the governing body is lacking, is far different from a case in which the majority of the governing body remains in office. This bill recognizes the distinction by continuing to allow the remaining members of the governing body, rather than the assignment judge, to select the interim councilman to fill the vacancy. But this bill requires that a special election then be held to choose a successor, instead of waiting until the next regular election.

If this bill were to become law, the effects would be completely incongruous and irrational. A vacancy in a municipal governing body caused by death, resignation, or any other reason except the invalidation of an election, would be filled in the next general election. A vacancy in a county board of freeholders, even if caused by the invalidation of an election, would still be filled in the next general election. But a municipal vacancy caused by invalidation of an election would require the holding of a special election.

Under this bill the special election in Englewood might well be held during the summer vacation period, because the courts may stay the calling of the special election until the currently pending appeals can be heard and decided. Otherwise, the parties to this election dispute would be deprived of their rights to full judicial consideration. Regardless of the timing of a special election, the voter turnout is likely to be less than that at a general election and therefore less likely to provide an accurate expression of the will of the electorate.

This bill also attempts, retroactively, to destroy the regular appointive power possessed by the Englewood Council during the period in which an interim Councilman is serving. In Englewood this would affect appointments which have been made for specified terms to the Board of Education, the Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Adjustment, the Board of Local Assistance, the Board of Health, and the Library Board of Trustees. At the time these appointments were made, they were perfectly valid. They have not been challenged in any court action. This attempt to undo these appointments can only contribute to uncertainty and instability in Englewood's municipal government. Moreover, the unnecessary cost of several thousands of dollars to hold a special election would be amplified and aggravated by almost certain litigation relative to those appointments.

As with the provision for the special election, this limitation on the governing body's appointive power is appropriate where it has been necessary for a judge to pick persons to govern the community temporarily. These provisions should not be extended to situations wher a popularly-elected government continues to function.

It is apparent that no legitimate purpose will be accomplished by this bill. It is intended to increase the possibility of one political party's regaining control of the municipal government in a single municipality without even having to bother to wait until the next scheduled election. It is quite amazing to me that the Legislature should even consider the type of political maneuvering exemplified by this measure and which is clearly unworthy of a "responsible" Legislature.

/s/ RICHARD J. HUGHES,

Attest:

Governor.

/s/ LAWRENCE BILDER,

Secretary to the Governor.

Mr. Guarini offered the following resolution, which was read and adopted:

WHEREAS, By proclamation of His Excellency Governor Richard J. Hughes, the month of March has been denominated Red Cross Month in New Jersey; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey:

On March 18, I submitted to you the name of Leo Kaplowitz, of Linden, for reappointment as Prosecutor of Union County. In making this nomination, I operated under the mistaken belief that Mr. Kaplowitz's term expires on March 31, 1968. Since submitting the nomination to the Senate, I have discovered that the Secretary of State's Directory of State Officers contained a typographical error and that Mr. Kaplowitz's term actually expires November 16, 1969.

I, therefore, respectfully request that you return to me the nomination for reappointment of Leo Kaplowitz.

Sincerely,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

Mr. McDermott then moved that the nomination of Leo Kaplowitz, of Linden, be returned by the Governor in accordance with the above communication, which motion was duly adopted by the Senate.

WHEREAS, The hand of hate and violence has struck down the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., a man renowned and revered for his dedication to ideals of peace and justice and brotherly love; and,

WHEREAS, The achievements of Dr. King had given to the people whom he led new pride and hope and encouragement, and, to all Americans had pointed the way to a triumph over our national legacy of racial divisions; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King knowingly and resolutely faced the menaces of aroused bigotry, which eventually claimed his life at the age of 39, not only for the advancement of the Negro people whom he led, but also for the redemption of American society as a whole from the shame and torment of racial strife, divisiveness and hatred; and,

WHEREAS, By his untimely death great loss has been suffered by our entire nation; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey:

That this House hereby pays solemn public tribute to the memory of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and expresses profound shock and sorrow at his violent and untimely death, and extends its sincere condolences to his family; and,

The following report of the Special Senate and General Assembly Conference Committee was read by the Secretary:

To Members of the Senate and General Assembly:

Subject: Report of the special Senate and General Assembly conference committee re Assembly Bill No. 47. (Real Estate Transfer Fee bill.)

The members of the Senate and General Assembly committees appointed pursuant to a concurrent resolution adopted April 1, 1968 to confer with respect to Assembly Bill No. 47, report as follows:

1. The members of the joint committee recommend enactment of the bill annexed hereto as a substitute for the pending Assembly Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 47 with Senate Amendments.

2. To facilitate consideration and enactment of the substitute bill, the joint committee recommends:

a. Introduction and passage of a Senate Concurrent Resolution requesting the General Assembly to return to the Senate for further consideration the Assembly Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 47;

b. Reconsideration by the Senate of its action in the passage of Assembly Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 47 with Senate amendments and the return thereof to the Senate Committee on Taxation;

c. Report by the Senate Committee on Taxation of the joint committee's proposal as a Senate Committee Substitute for Assembly Bill No. 47.

3. The joint committee's proposal provides the following significant features:

a. It eliminates in most cases the requirement for a document other than the deed to provide the real estate sales price data desired and required by assessors by providing for the recital in a deed and in the proof or acknowledgment of its execution of the full consideration paid or to be paid. Where through inadvertence or adherence to prior habit a deed recites nominal consideration, an affidavit of consideration may be annexed to the deed in lieu of a recital of full consideration;

b. Since the primary purpose of the proposed legislation is to provide data as to current real estate values, "consideration" is defined as all inclusive, including the amount of any pre-existing mortgage or other lien which remains after the transfer of title;

c. One who willfully falsifies a statement of consideration is a disorderly person;

d. The entire transfer fee revenue will accrue to the county where collected;

e. The transfer fee is fixed at $.50 rather than $.55 per $500. to facilitate fast calculations by recording office personnel;

f. To effect uniformity in application of the act and substantiation of exemptions the Director of Taxation is authorized to issue rules and regulations;

g. The act is applicable to deeds executed 30 or more days after enactment of law.

Respectfully submitted,

Senators

An Act fixing fees to be imposed upon the privilege of transfer title to real property by deed and providing penalties for the violations thereof.

BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

1. As used in this act:

(a) "Deed" means an instrument or writing by which title to any lands, tenements or other realty sold shall be granted, assigned, transferred or otherwise conveyed.

(b) The terms "county recording officer" and "office of the county recording officer" mean the register of deeds and mortgages in counties having such an officer and office, and the county clerk and his office in the other counties.

(c) "Consideration" means in the case of any deed, the actual amount of money and the monetary value of any other thing of value constituting the entire compensation paid or to be paid for the transfer of title to the lands, tenements or other realty, including the remaining amount of any prior mortgage to which the transfer is subject or which is to be assumed and agreed to be paid by the grantee and any other lien or encumbrance thereon not paid, satisfied or removed in connection with the transfer of title.

2. In addition to other prerequisites for recording, no deed executed on or after the effective date of this act evidencing transfer of title to real property shall be recorded in the office of any county recording officer unless (a) the consideration therefor is recited therein and in the acknowledgment or proof of the execution thereof, or (b) an affidavit by one or more of the parties named therein or by their legal representatives declaring the consideration therefor is annexed thereto for recording with the deed.

3. In addition to the recording fees imposed by P. L. 1965, chapter 123, section 2 (C. 22A :4-4.1) a fee is imposed upon grantors, for the privilege of transferring title to real property by deed, at the rate of $0.50 for each $500.00 of consideration or fractional part thereof recited in the deed, which fee shall be collected by the county recording officer at the time the deed is offered for recording.

4. The proceeds of the fees collected by the county recording officer, as authorized by this act, shall be accounted for and remitted to the county treasurer for the use of the county.

5. Any person who shall willfully falsify the consideration recited in a deed or in the proof or acknowledgment of the execution of a deed or in an affidavit declaring the consideration therefor annexed to a deed shall be adjudged a disorderly person.

6. The fee imposed by this act shall not apply to a deed:

- (a) for a consideration of less than $100.00;
- (b) by or to the United States of America, this State, or any instrumentality, agency, or subdivision thereof;
- (c) solely in order to provide or release security for a debt or obligation;

- (f) on partition;
- (g) pursuant to mergers of corporation;
- (h) by a subsidiary corporation to its parent corporation for no consideration, nominal consideration, or in sole consideration of the cancellation or surrender of the subsidiary's stock.

7. The Division of Taxation of the Department of the Treasury may prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to carry out the purposes of this act.

8. This act shall take effect 30 days after enactment.

INTRODUCTION

When I came before this Legislature on April 8, I expressed the hope that we in New Jersey could lead the way in a national renewal of spirit—a new taking up of our part in the urgent business of America. And I told you that this might be the most important work that any New Jersey Legislature was ever called upon to do. This work, the urgency of this mission, has been impressed upon all of us from many quarters—by the Lilley Commission, by educators, and parents, and law enforcement authorities, and the press, and citizens of every interest and every circumstance—but most importantly of all, by our own intelligence and our own conscience.

It is as though an alarm had sounded, awakening us from a long neglect to a present duty. The work before us is not easy—but it is about that work, about the unmistakable need for immediate action, that I wish to speak to you today.

The world moves very quickly these days, and sometimes events come together so rapidly as to change in a short time honest conceptions of right and of necessity. So it has been with me. I tell you in candor that my stringent housekeeping budget of February no longer seems fully adequate to meet the problems I will discuss today. In retrospect that budget, which I hope your Appropriations Committee will leave largely intact, is a foundation upon which I believe we must mount a fuller and stronger response if we wish to deal honestly and properly with problems that have a new urgency, a new compulsion for action.

I have in mind the grave social problems of our hard-pressed older suburbs and our struggling rural communities, but above all the overwhelming problems of our cities, large and small alike, and of the people who live in them. Today, I propose that we face—and face four-square—the nagging problems of the urban community. Let no one who professes concern for the well-being of this State believe that the burdens of New Jersey's urban communities are not also his personal burdens. In this most urbanized State of the nation, no one—suburbanite, farmer, or city dweller—can lead his daily life unmoved and untouched by the crisis of the inner city. How clearly this unbreakable bond, this oneness, has come home to us during the tragic disorders that have afflicted many of our American cities! No resident of the most affluent suburb can look any longer with unconcern on either the decay or the violence of our cities.

For the cities are the lifeblood of America. The cities are the heart of our free enterprise system, the focal point of business and commerce of every kind and size, the center of production and distribution of food and clothing and every commodity upon which the well-being of Americans depends. The cities house our major employers as well as many of our great newspapers and cultural and educational centers. The cities are—or should be—for all America, and especially for New Jersey, the source of economic power and moral renewal. And if life in the cities breaks down, so too does life in every other community. For all of us are bound together in a body politic in which weakness or disease in one part inevitably spreads to the whole. We are truly part of one community—New Jersey—just as we are part of one nation—America—and we are no more able to separate ourselves from our common health and well-being than we would be, in time of war, to abandon the common defense.

Today I propose that we rise together to the common defense of New Jersey against those grave social problems whose persistence and worsening has engendered for the entire State not peace but unrest, not order but turmoil, not strength but weakness. To this end, I wish to review with you in specific terms the nature and impact of these social problems on all of our overburdened communities, but especially on our cities. And I wish to give you my soundest and most carefully considered judgment as to what minimum actions you and I must take now, in the next two months—in education, housing, employment, law enforcement, welfare and other fields—to restore peace and strength to every community in New Jersey and to make us whole once again.

* * * *

My proposals to you in the field of education are directed chiefly toward the problems of our poorest schools and our most disadvantaged students. My emphasis betokens no lack of concern for the financial burdens that beset hard-pressed school districts throughout the State. Everyone in this chamber knows that the State must substantially increase its share of local education costs, and I will turn my full attention, as I trust you will, to the report and recommendations of the State Aid to School Districts Study Commission chaired by the distinguished Assistant Majority Leader of the Senate, Senator Bateman, as soon as they are made available.

But let us make no mistake about our priorities for today. There are schools in New Jersey that are so deficient as to shame us all—schools that are forced to confront the most difficult educational problems in New Jersey with decrepit facilities, acute teacher shortages, and growing hopelessness. You and I can no longer equivocate on this point: these terrible schools, and their tens of thousands of graduates who, at the completion of their so-called formal education, are often barely able to read and write and whose abilities, however great in potential, and whose aspirations, however noble in purpose, are thereby seriously and perhaps irrevocably undermined, must command our immediate attention.

Emergency State Aid Program

Accordingly, I recommend that you authorize the sum of $25 million for an emergency State aid program that will enable overburdened local school districts to concentrate new energy and resources on the special problems of their disadvantaged students. This emergency aid, which will complement highly useful but inadequate federal funds available to New Jersey school districts under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will be administered in accordance with a formula and standards already developed by the State Board of Education to ensure the most effective possible use of funds. Beginning July 1 these funds will be used to supplement programs already designed and budgeted for the forthcoming school year, and in succeeding years they will serve a similarly vital enrichment purpose.

This emergency State aid program constitutes no opposition on my part to the recently announced majority proposal to increase, even in advance of the Bateman Commission report, State assistance to minimum aid districts, nor does it constitute a prejudgment on my part as to the forthcoming recommendations of that Commission, which will project a plan for increased State aid to every school district in New Jersey. But the emergency program I propose does represent a commitment to the improved education of disadvantaged children, and to school districts that are struggling courageously to provide that education, that simply must have the highest priority and that should be implemented without delay.

In addition, I request this Legislature to focus immediately on the following concentrated but modest programs, which represent a minimum State commitment to improve education in our most grievously inadequate schools:

Emergency School Building Aid

First, I ask you today to act promptly upon, and to triple, the emergency school building aid program proposed in January by the State Board of Education. The State Board has already specified in careful detail the alarming number of antiquated and sometimes dangerous facilities that plague a number of school districts. The Board's excellent program, which it rightly views as no permanent panacea to the school construction problem, is addressed to the immediate building needs of the struggling rural community, the fast-growing suburb, and the old central city—but most of all to those districts which, encumbered with enormous problems of urban and rural poverty, find themselves unable alone to relieve obsolete and overcrowded conditions that make first-rate education simply impossible. I recommend an appropriation for this program in the forthcoming fiscal year of $2 million. This sum, together with subsequent annual appropriations, would authorize qualified districts to issue $60 million in local school bonds in each of the next three years—bonds that will be amortized by the State over a 35-year period. This program will therefore make possible emergency school construction in the amount of $180 million—construction which, although absolutely essential, overburdened local districts would otherwise be unable even to consider.

It is my best judgment, after the most careful study, that you should act promptly on this emergency school construction program. But because capital construction is at issue here, I ask you to withhold final judgment on the legislative detail of this matter until you have examined the priorities to be established by the distinguished Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey, whose report will appear in several days.

I also call your attention to legislation currently pending that would permit school districts to enter into long-term leases for school facilities in combined use buildings constructed by the Housing Finance Agency. This legislation would permit imaginative combinations of public schools and private housing in the same building. In some cases, through judicious use of air rights and other properties, school costs can be substantially reduced. I therefore urge prompt action on this pending legislation.

Urban Education Corps

Second, I propose that you authorize the sum of $500,000 to permit the expansion of the pioneering and widely heralded Urban Education Corps. Educational research confirms what you and I know by intuition: that the first requirement for good education is an able, dedicated, and responsive teacher. Yet there is an alarming shortage of qualified teachers statewide, and especially in our most overburdened school systems. The Urban Education Corps was formed last summer to meet this acute shortage of first-rate teachers, and in just a few months of operation it has channeled many dedicated teachers into schools that confront our most complex educational problems. A grant of $100,000 from the federal government will finance an intensive training program this summer for outstanding college graduates who, as members of the Urban Education Corps, want to bring a Peace Corps kind of spirit and resolve to our most difficult educational problems. This federal commitment to our Urban Education Corps is encouraging indeed, but the need for new teachers of this high quality far exceeds the 100 who can be trained this summer with these funds. One major school system alone shows a shortage of 700 fully qualified teachers at the present time, and others are comparably pressed. I therefore request you to authorize funds to recruit and train an additional 500 dedicated young men and women to teach in New Jersey's most difficult schools next fall.

Educational Opportunity Fund

Third, I propose that you establish a New Jersey Educational Opportunity Fund and appropriate the sum of $2.5 million for its first year of operation. As I pointed out to you in my Legislative Message, the State Scholarship Commission is convinced, as I am, that many young men and women in New Jersey who are fully capable, with assistance, of work at the college level are prevented from entering college because they lack both financial resources and acceptable scores on competitive tests. The Commission believes, as I do, that it is essential to identify and assist students of outstanding character and leadership potential whose comparative underachievement or low test score performance is associated principally with poor school training—in other words, boys and girls whose scholastic weakness is not their fault, but our collective fault.

The Educational Opportunity Fund will enable New Jersey to utilize federal resources already allocated for disadvantaged students in the State. These resources total $1.5 million, for our public colleges and universities, in the next academic year, and they will be lost if the State does not provide matching funds. If we fail to act, we will fail these students and we will fail New Jersey.

In addition, federal and private funds for disadvantaged students are available to independent institutions in the amount of more than $2.4 million. But if these colleges are to succeed in making these resources available to the 1,000 disadvantaged students they have already identified and are prepared to admit in September—or to the additional 2,500 disadvantaged students whom these colleges would also be prepared to admit, given adequate funds for assistance—they must have available additional resources from the Educational Opportunity Fund. This assistance will supplement, not replace, private scholarships, work-study stipends, loans, and individual student resources. The Fund will be administered by an Educational Opportunity Commission through college aid officers under strict standards of need and performance.

The Fund will enable the Commission to seek out those young people most worthy of support. It will stimulate and support remedial programs at our colleges and universities to compensate for inadequate training in pre-college years. It will also serve as a magnet for additional public and private scholarship funds to enable more and more young people to overcome cultural and educational deprivation to become productive and highly valued members of society. Finally, it will complement the self-examination and strenuous efforts now being made throughout our entire higher education system, under the leadership of Chancellor Dungan, to address far more directly the problems of our cities and our disadvantaged citizens. No investment in human resources could promise a greater return, and I urge your immediate support of the Educational Opportunity Fund.

Neighborhood Education Centers

Fourth, I recommend the establishment of a network of neighborhood education centers to attack the stubborn and explosive problem of the high school dropout. We can no longer permit the creation of an ever-growing mass of idle, restless, and unskilled youth in our cities. Caught in a dead end, such youth are nothing less than social dynamite, and, if not recaptured by society, may well become a heavy charge against it. These young men are not enemy strangers from another planet but are Americans, and if American society has failed them thus far, we now must bring them into the American mainstream.

The problem of actual and potential school dropouts, in the face of many attempted solutions, has grown more rather than less intense. But the evidence is clear from neighborhood education centers that have worked effectively elsewhere—using street-workers drawn from the neighborhood and new store-front schools—that many dropouts can be motivated to reenter the educational process and, in many cases, go on to college and certainly to productive employment. Neighborhood education centers, which will be located in neighborhoods with high unemployment and school dropout rates, will provide remedial training in basic subjects by skilled teachers in an informal atmosphere. Teaching assistants and volunteers will contribute individual tutoring and study help. The centers will specialize in reaching out vigorously to attract dropouts back toward the educational system and propel them forward as far as they can go. They will in addition serve as neighborhood after-school study centers to help other students remain in school by providing tutoring and a quiet place to study.

Such centers in Harlem have shown dramatic results with an annual budget of $60,000 each and a service capacity of 200 dropouts, or an annual cost of $300 per youth. I recommend the appropriation of $480,000 for centers to be established under the joint supervision of the Departments of Education, Higher Education, and Community Affairs, through contract with local agencies, in communities throughout the State that are plagued by especially high school dropout and youth unemployment rates. In Harlem, major corporations such as IBM and the First National City Bank have adopted and are paying for centers of this kind, and I shall call on our own business community, through the New Jersey Alliance of Business and other outstanding business organizations, to match the State's investment in school dropouts and to adopt or establish centers in other communities that seek to recapture for society those dropouts whom it has lost to idleness and hopeless defeat.

Project Head Start

Fifth, I call on the Legislature to provide an appropriation of $100,000 to assist those Head Start programs in New Jersey that have been badly disrupted by the announced cut-back of 14% in federal Head Start funds for New Jersey. No program aimed at the eradication of poverty has been more widely acclaimed than Project Head Start, which last year served more than 15,000 disadvantaged pre-school children in New Jersey. I call on Congress, and I trust that you join me, to restore the sum of $25 million to the national Head Start program that it has eliminated. But I ask you to provide $100,000 now to prevent the disruption of on-going programs and consequent damage to pre-school children whose development Project Head Start has done so much to advance.

Skills Center Expansion

Sixth, I ask you today to authorize the sum of $1,547,000 to match the same sum that the U. S. Economic Development Administration is prepared to commit to the construction of an occupational experimentation and demonstration center in Newark. This center will double the capacity of the Newark Manpower Training Skills Center, which has been operated successfully by the Division of Vocational Education of the State Department of Education since June, 1965. More than 1,800 seriously disadvantaged, unemployed and underemployed youths and adults—including former welfare recipients—have completed training at this center, which is widely recognized as one of the nation's finest such institutions, and more than 90% of them have been placed in jobs for which they were trained. I urge your prompt action on the expansion of this vital job training center.

Transfer of Newark Schools

Seventh, I recommend that this Legislature take under the most careful advisement the analysis and recommendation of the distinguished Select Commission on Civil Disorder that "the Newark public school system is in a state of educational crisis. This crisis demands that the State take over the administration of the Newark public schools during the crisis."

The Commission has presented compelling evidence—evidence confirmed by the independent analysis of educators, journalists, and other skilled professionals in New Jersey—that the Newark public school system is indeed in a state of crisis. This crisis can be measured in cold statistics that describe the antiquated and dangerous physical plant, the acute and growing shortage of teachers, the prevalence of thousands upon thousands of school children who fall further and further back until they are years behind their counterparts in other New Jersey communities, and many of whom can neither read nor write at all effectively. But this crisis can also be measured—and has been measured—in the growing inefficiency and hopelessness of a system that, through no fault of its own, has simply been overtaken by events.

It is indeed these events—the consequence of the overwhelming changes in Newark occasioned by post-war migration—that have generated this crisis. Mayor Addonizio has nearly doubled the city's educational budget during his tenure. The Newark Board of Education has energetically sought and secured available federal funds. It has instituted many innovative and experimental programs. Administrators and teachers have worked long and hard to reverse the trend of declining educational achievement. But despite these brave efforts, Newark has not won the battle.

The New Jersey Constitution states in Article VIII, Section 4: "The Legislature shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for the instruction of all children in the State between the ages of five and eighteen." In its wisdom the Legislature has delegated considerable responsibility to local school systems. But when a local system, for reasons beyond its control, can no longer provide a "thorough and efficient" program of education, the State is constitutionally obliged to reassess its delegation of authority.

I therefore ask you to consider—if and only if the City administration and the Newark Board of Education concur—authorization of a transfer of administrative responsibility of the Newark school system to the State Board of Education. This transfer would be made on the following basis, and only on this basis:

1. The transfer would be a temporary measure that accords with the recommendation of the Select Commission on Civil Disorder. It would also be a unique situation that arises from the fully specified crisis of the Newark school system. The transfer would have effect for a period of five years, after which full administrative and financial responsibility would revert to Newark.

2. To meet Newark's educational crisis the goal of this transfer is a fundamental reform and revitalization of the Newark school system. Accordingly, the State Board of Education would be vested with those powers now exercised by the Newark Board of Education and the Board of School Estimate.

3. For the duration of this transfer tenure procedures for school administrators in Newark would be suspended, although full teacher tenure rights would be preserved.

4. The City of Newark would continue to raise by taxation funds for educational purposes equal to the amount provided in the current year, and, in addition, funds for additional pupils at the average per pupil cost for the current year. Furthermore, Newark would accommodate any salary commitments made by the Newark Board of Education prior to transfer of authority.

There can be no guarantee that this transfer of authority will ensure the massive improvement in the Newark schools that must occur. No city in this nation has truly succeeded in finding the key to first-rate education for inner-city children. I propose today, however, that for the first time in the history of the nation, a state shall marshal its energies in support of a badly floundering urban school system. This experimental partnership between a state and an overburdened and troubled city might perhaps provide the beginning of the sound response to the crushing problem of ghetto education that all concerned Americans seek.

To this end the State Board of Education would attempt to focus national attention and resources on Newark's educational problems. Because of this pioneering effort in state-urban cooperation, the Board could succeed in securing federal and foundation funds for Newark's schools in amounts far greater than would otherwise be possible. In addition, if you authorize this program, I shall request a special supplemental appropriation to enable the Board to address the grave deficiencies in the Newark schools.

Let me repeat that there can be no prior guarantee of success in this enterprise. You may therefore be reluctant—understandably reluctant—to undertake it. But these are troubled and pressing times, and it is no longer adequate simply to enumerate the possible shortcomings of any new projected course of action. The real question that you must ask as you weigh the wisdom of my recommendation to you is this: can we afford to let the educational system of Newark remain on its tragic downhill course and thereby lose still another generation of school children? I think not, and if Newark officials are prepared to accept the transfer I propose under the specific conditions I have outlined, I urge your careful consideration of this program.

School Lunch Program

Eighth, I recommend speedy passage of Senate Bill No. 421, which would provide State funds to local school districts participating in the National School Lunch Program administered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This legislation, sponsored by Senator Del Tufo, would more than double the scope of this program, which is vital to the health of our school children, at a cost of $3 million per year. Last year a federal allocation of $1.76 million made it possible to provide nutritious lunches for 234,000 New Jersey school children in 363 school districts.

This federal aid now is apportioned on the basis of four cents per lunch, and Senate Bill No. 421 would provide matching State funds of five cents per lunch. State participation at this level would have these great benefits: more school districts would be brought into the program; lunch prices would be substantially reduced for those children who can afford the price of lunch; more free lunches would be served to children who cannot afford to pay; the quality of lunches would be improved; and since the federal formula is based on statewide participation, federal funds and commodities coming into New Jersey would be increased.

This new program would be especially beneficial to disadvantaged children, many of whom live in school districts so beset by financial difficulties that basic lunch programs frequently have a low priority. I therefore urge your prompt and favorable action on Senate Bill No. 421.

HOUSING

The first major national housing bill, which was passed by Congress in 1949, represented a national consensus. The principal sponsor of that bill was Senator Robert Taft, the most respected Republican leader of that decade. Its other sponsors were Senator Robert Wagner, Sr., a northern liberal Democrat, and Senator Allen Ellender, a southern Congressional leader. Thus American leaders of many different persuasions put politics aside to seek, as the bill proposed, "a decent home and suitable living environment for every American family."

We all know that this promise has not been kept. We know that national inaction in the housing field during the postwar period is now exacting a fearful toll in human despair. In 1966, there were six million substandard housing units in the country, two million of them occupied by non-whites. The Kerner Commission found that two-thirds of all non-white city dwellers live in neighborhoods "marked by substandard housing and urban blight," and the evidence is clear that conditions are getting worse, not better.

New Jersey's Housing Shortage

New Jersey's housing problems for low-income families are large, widespread to almost every area of the State, and increasing year by year. The best available data show that there is now a statewide total of 365,000 housing units of inferior quality occupied by low-income families. This number will grow by nearly 25,000 units each year in the absence of positive programs to stem growing deterioration. If we do not take action now to meet the problem in new ways, by 1980 we will face a shortage in New Jersey of 660,000 decent living places for our citizens. We need desperately now a consensus on the need for adequate housing in the State and in the nation like the consensus that propelled three political leaders of widely different outlooks—

Taft, Ellender, and Wagner—to their common goal twenty years ago.

A substantial start can and must be made immediately to begin reducing the housing deficit. The State must take the initiative to expand existing and planned federal and private programs if decent housing is to be brought within the reach of our poorer families.

The past year has marked the real beginning of a housing program for New Jersey. Our Housing Finance Agency, in cooperation with the Prudential Insurance Company, has provided mortgage funds for 270 units of cooperative housing in the Central Ward of Newark. This project is well under way. The Agency recently announced approval of an additional $26 million in housing programs which will provide 1,412 units in areas of great housing need, construction on all of which should begin this summer. We can be proud of these accomplishments in less than one year of operation, but we must come face to face with this major problem—that the various housing programs now in effect under federal and State auspices are not able to produce enough housing at rents or carrying costs within the means of low-income groups.

Housing Demonstration Fund

I therefore now propose a $25 million increase in the Housing Demonstration Fund for fiscal year 1969 to stimulate housing for low-income families, a program which I am confident will allow us to say that this was the year of the turn-around in New Jersey, the year in which the number of inferior, congested, rat-infested housing units began to decrease, rather than increase, relative to our population. A State investment of $25 million would by itself provide housing for a minimum of 10,000 lower-income families in the first year. More importantly, it would bring forth at least $125 million in additional funds from other sources, private and governmental, to multiply its effectiveness in promoting housing manyfold.

This program would allow us to adopt a variety of mechanisms to reach three specific goals:

1. Direct assistance to reduce the rental cost of housing to low-income families.
2. A significant program in support of home ownership among low-income families across New Jersey.
3. A major program of housing rehabilitation across the State.

To achieve the first of these goals, a Housing Assistance Fund of $12.5 million would be created to assist private and non-profit owners and investors to reduce room rents for low-income families. We must face the obvious fact that the construction cost of housing is rising rapidly and inevitably. If we propose to assist the low-income family, we must reduce the ultimate rent through some form of direct State assistance. What I propose here are several alternative means of accomplishing this essential objective.

Already proposed in my Budget Message is a rent supplement program which would be used exclusively for 600 families who will be forced to relocate by public projects or code enforcement. This mechanism allows us to take advantage of existing vacant private housing in a number of our center cities by bridging the gap between a family's ability to pay and the reasonable market rent of that housing. This proposal will both provide more decent housing and strengthen the housing market of our center cities, and consequently their tax base.

Interest Subsidies

Another major tool for lower rentals would be an interest subsidy program to spur increased private investment in new housing construction. For example, let us consider the $1 billion commitment of the insurance industry to ghetto investment. As you know, the insurance companies of America have pledged themselves to make loans at slightly below their market rate to ghetto housing programs. Today's interest rates, however, mean that even this generous undertaking will not produce low-income rentals. A direct subsidization of the interest rate sufficient to reduce it two points over the first ten years of the mortgage would have the effect of reducing the rent on a five-room apartment by $40 a month under the rates which would obtain through the special insurance industry program. In this way we will enable that segment of the population which until now has been unable to afford rentals of this kind to acquire decent housing. Insurance companies have responded favorably to this interest subsidy program. For example, the Prudential Insurance Company is prepared, if you enact this program, to make an immediate investment of $18 million, which, together with $3 million in State funds, would finance 1,000 units of low cost rental or co-op housing. Many other concerned enterprises in New Jersey will also join in this effort if the State will act to authorize the program.

In Lieu Tax Payments

A third major tool in our drive to encourage new housing at lower rentals would be in lieu of tax payments to municipalities. Property taxes today count as a major cost of the operation of housing. A sure way to reduce rents is to grant tax abatement so that good housing is available to low-income families. But all of us know that our older cities are not in a position to absorb the total loss of tax ratables at the same time they are asked to provide better services and better education for the inhabitants of that housing. Today average taxes on rental housing runs about 26% of gross income. By a program of direct State assistance to municipalities in lieu of taxes, we could reduce the operating cost of housing by 26% while at the same time providing a municipality with its needed operating revenues. Here again our State assistance will do double duty.

Home Ownership

A second major goal will be to promote home ownership among low-income families. The advantages of giving the low-income family a stake in our society both in pride of ownership and as a means of building up equity are obvious. Nothing will lead more rapidly to social stability in our State. Yet many private lenders do not make mortgage loans at any price for inner-city housing. The problem is especially acute for the inner-city resident who wishes to become a home owner in the city, but who, although steadily employed, is unable to get a loan.

I propose that the State embark on a program of guarantees for mortgage loans and direct loans administered through private lenders in center city areas. Mortgage lenders would be encouraged by a State guarantee to extend the same mortgage loans in ghetto areas that they make to their prime-risk customers. Even under these liberal terms, there will be many families who, despite long years of steady work, have not been able to accumulate sufficient savings for a conventional down payment because their wages have always been at the subsistence level. In this case, the State, working through the primary lender, would make a direct loan to help the home buyer meet his own down payment requirement. Five million dollars invested in this manner would call forth at least five times that amount from private lending agencies.

Housing Rehabilitation

To spur housing rehabilitation I suggest a rehabilitation loan and grant program. At present, the small home owner or landlord who wants to do something about poor living conditions is often faced with the fact that he cannot get loans for rehabilitation and that the effect of his rehabilitation will be greatly to increase his local property tax burden. These factors combined force him to leave things as they are or simply board up the property and evict the tenants.

We can and must do something about this vicious cycle. The dimensions of our problem indicate that we must rely on the upgrading of existing housing stock to a very great extent. I therefore propose that the State, in cooperation with private lenders and federal agencies, establish a second mortgage loan fund or guaranty fund to enable vital repairs to be made. A $5 million investment in this program would assist some 2,500 families in the first year.

Also, I will ask you to consider enabling acts which would permit municipalities to provide tax incentives to motivate, not penalize, rehabilitation by owners. Under detailed guidelines, municipalities should have the option of granting property tax abatement so that a new rehabilitation investment would not immediately result in high taxes, higher operating property costs, and higher rents. Condemning authorities, including municipalities, should have the power to take immediate possession of property upon payment into court of the estimated value of the property, as is currently done in the case of highway acquisition.

Revolving Demonstration Fund

Finally, I propose a $2.5 million expansion for the revolving demonstration fund which has proved so successful in its first year of operation. This year under the Demonstration Grant Law we have aided twenty-six non-profit projects in fifteen communities and eleven counties. Seed money has expedited the processing of mortgage applications for nearly 5,000 dwelling units. The rate of applications for such assistance is increasing rapidly, and in this fiscal year sound proposals will far outstrip available funds. Two-thirds of the amount proposed will be for revolving no-interest loans to non-profit sponsors. The remaining one-third would go for outright grants to help support the increasing number of local and regional urban and housing development corporations under business and community leadership and for special demonstration projects in new housing techniques.

One demonstration project which we are most anxious to undertake, at least on a pilot basis, would be advance loans to municipalities to begin early land acquisition and rehabilitation or reconstruction under federal and State programs. A frustration for every community is the stop-and-go approach of many federal programs, which often leave land vacant for many years. With the approval of the federal government, the State could speed up redevelopment immensely and be reimbursed for its advance when the federal project was finally fully approved and funded. It should be noted that a major portion of funds assigned for the home ownership and rehabilitation loans, as well as the "seed money" loans, will be recoverable by the State over a period of time.

A Model Program

What I have presented here is, I think, a pioneering effort to maximize a state's limited resources in support of a major housing program—a program which does not impose upon private enterprise but rather spurs it and works through it—a program which will set a pattern for other states and for the federal government.

As you weigh this proposal, I ask you to remember that many families in New Jersey live in housing so poor as to be indecent, and that this condition is a spreading cancer which is surely weakening the whole body of our society. Let no one pretend to unconcern with these conditions, for they directly affect the whole State in the clearest possible way. They constitute a major cause of America's, and New Jersey's, grave social problems, and if we would revitalize New Jersey's health, we simply cannot ignore this crucial element of our affliction.

INSURANCE

As Chairman of the President's National Advisory Panel on Insurance, I had an opportunity to examine closely the shortage and/or unavailability of property insurance for urban areas. As our urban problems grow, loss ratios for insurance companies increase, until it becomes difficult, if not impossible, for the homeowner and small businessman to obtain adequate coverage at reasonable cost. Without insurance, no prudent businessman can establish, expand or continue his business, and no bank loans or mortgage financing can be made available for the construction, repair or improvement of property. Property insurance is therefore one of the lifelines of a city and a factor necessary to its growth.

I believe that an adequate supply of insurance in urban areas can and should be maintained. I shall submit to you legislation that would, first, authorize the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance to establish a plan whereby any individual who has sought and been denied property insurance can obtain an inspection of his property and a report advising him of the specific condition which renders his property uninsurable.

Insurance Pool

In some cases, these conditions can be and should be corrected by the owner; in others, properties may be intrinsically sound but rendered uninsurable by environmental factors beyond the owner's control. Therefore the legislation will further authorize the Commissioner to establish an Insurance Pool which will be required to insure such property at manual rates.

If government is to ask the insurance industry to assume such extra risks, government must also offer protection against catastrophic loss. There is now pending before Congress legislation which provides such federal protection. The legislation I propose will provide for a State Insurance Pool Liability Fund, as required by the federal legislation, permitting the State to meet Pool losses up to 5 per cent of the annual premium volume of standard insurance coverage in the State, after the Industry has absorbed an amount equal to 3 per cent of the annual premium value. With such a Pool and such a State financial commitment, the federal legislation will also accommodate any additional losses. My legislation will also authorize the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance to require the Pool to report to him quarterly the environmental conditions, listed by city, which would otherwise have limited property insurance, in order that hazards may be lessened.

In all these respects, my legislation follows the recommendations of the National Advisory Panel, a group which represented the local, state and federal governments as well as the private sector. I urge your prompt action on this essential program for homeowners and businessmen in our urban areas.

EMPLOYMENT

A great Governor of New Jersey and President of the United States, Woodrow Wilson, once wisely said: "No one can worship God or love his neighbor on an empty stomach." And we in this State and nation cannot achieve healthier communities and happier lives for our citizens unless we cure the present cancer of unemployment which eats away at our society, breeding despair instead of hope, frustration instead of fulfillment. Without a decent job no man can live in dignity, provide a meaningful life for his family, or realize his dreams for his children.

Government, of course, bears a major responsibility for solving the unemployment problem. Like other employers, it can provide jobs, and New Jersey State government is now reaching out to the unemployed to fill vacancies. The Department of Civil Service is reviewing job requirements in an on-going program designed to lower unnecessary barriers to State employment. The Department of Community Affairs is actively seeking disadvantaged youth to fill 200 summer jobs with State government that require minimum skills.

New Jersey Alliance of Business

But the public sector alone cannot do enough. The primary responsibility for meeting our unemployment problems must rest with our corporate citizens, the employers. New Jersey business has recognized this responsibility, as exemplified by the recent formation of the New Jersey Alliance of Business. This group, in cooperation with the National Alliance of Business, is committed to find both permanent jobs for the hard-core unemployed and summer jobs for young men and women from poverty-ridden communities. Government will do its part in this effort by helping to seek out the unemployed and keep them on the job.

But the mere cooperation of government is not enough. Employment means not only making jobs available but also providing training. Many businesses will be able to train these workers at company expense, but, where necessary, the State must be prepared to subsidize such training.

Therefore, I shall submit to you legislation authorizing the Department of Labor and Industry to enter into contracts with employers to reimburse them for this training at a rate not to exceed $500 per trainee. I shall ask you to appropriate for this purpose $1 million—a cost far smaller than the cost, in welfare and other burdens, of hard-core unemployment.

Youth Service Program

The business community, in conjunction with federal and State programs, will put almost 10,000 youngsters to work in our State this summer. But there will remain 10,000 other school age youths throughout our State who are poor, who will be looking for work this summer, and who will be unable to find it.

At the same time New Jersey is ironically faced with a cut-back of 5,000 slots in the federal Neighborhood Youth Corps program. I therefore recommend that the State develop a Youth Service program to employ 5,000 youths in community service projects this summer. The average cost per youth will be $500 for a ten-week program, guidelines for which have been developed by the Governor's Manpower Coordinating Committee. I request that you provide $2.5 million for this program, to be administered on a grant basis by the Department of Community Affairs.

WELFARE

At the very outset of our consideration of welfare, let me emphasize that the current problem is not of New Jersey's own making. Because of such factors as the mobility of our population and new technologies, the welfare burden is truly national in character and requires a federal response. But until that response is forthcoming, we in New Jersey must either act or stand idly by while our cities and counties, and thus our local taxpayers, are crushed under the weight of skyrocketing welfare costs. I propose that we act—and act now.

I recommend that effective July 1, 1968, the State assume responsibility for payment of 75 per cent of the non-federal share of categorical assistance and 75 per cent of the cost of general assistance. The administration of all welfare programs, and therefore the cost of that administration, will remain with the counties and municipalities.

A proposal that the State assume 75 per cent of the non-federal welfare cost should not be interpreted as a denial of the merits of a complete State assumption of fiscal and administrative responsibility for welfare, which, given sufficient revenue, could and should be instituted. Rather, this proposal recognizes the priority of relief to county and municipal taxpayers against whom an extremely unfair share of public assistance costs is now levied.

Breaking the Welfare Cycle

My recommended plan also calls for the incorporation of several essential provisions of federal law which can help break the vicious cycle of welfare dependency. This improved public assistance program will require an appropriation of $54.5 million and will bring to New Jersey an additional $20 million in federal welfare funds. It will also produce a net saving to the counties of $20.8 million and to the municipalities of $11.1 million.

In order to ensure the most effective possible use of these released funds, I call upon the Chairman of the Joint Appropriations Committee to request all counties and municipalities that will realize in the forthcoming fiscal year a saving of $50,000 or more from this program, to submit to the Committee a detailed statement of how these funds have been utilized. In view of the sacrifices required to develop these funds and to assist the counties and municipalities, it occurs to me that the ongoing power from year to year of the Appropriations Committee would seem the most effective instrument for State oversight of the prudent use of such released funds.

The program improvements which I recommend are:

1. Legislation to permit families with dependent children to remain eligible for assistance if an unemployed father or under-employed parent resides in the home. New Jersey's failure to implement this program, which federal law has authorized since 1962, has placed an unintentional premium on broken and deserted homes. Action by this Legislature will thus help restore in many cases the family unit and the essential discipline and stability associated with it.

2. Implementation of recent federal legislation which provides funds for emergency assistance, limited to one month in a 12-month period, to families with dependent children.

3. Assistance for home improvements and repairs up to $500 to be made available where a welfare recipient, be he blind, elderly or disabled, owns his own home.

4. Revision of the State welfare law to authorize the introduction by county welfare boards of "presumptive eligibility." This revision will enable a board to provide assistance immediately in any case that appears to fall within a categorical program classification, subject, of course, to subsequent investigation.

Adoption of these recommendations will effect a substantial reduction in the public assistance burden on local prop erty taxpayers; make our welfare system more humane and effective; and significantly increase the federal contribution to New Jersey's welfare costs.

Work Incentive Program

But we must also act firmly—and act now—to begin to break the so-called welfare cycle. The 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act make available federal funds to advance this vital effort through the Work Incentive Program. This program places upon the Department of Labor and Industry responsibility for the classification, preparation, training, and job placement of persons eligible for assistance under the AFDC program.

The Work Incentive Program will prepare AFDC recipients to function effectively in the labor market by placing them in on-the-job training, work training programs, or work experience projects. Federal guidelines propose that New Jersey fill 1,200 work incentive positions before June 30 at a cost to the State this fiscal year of $264,000 and, beginning July 1, an additional 1,700 positions, at a cost next fiscal year of $374,000. This total expenditure of $638,000 will attract more than $2.5 million in federal funds.

A necessary element of this important Work Incentive Program is a statewide program for the day care of children, as required by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act. I therefore request an appropriation of $800,000 to the Department of Institutions and Agencies to implement day care services for the 6,000 children of the estimated 2,900 Work Incentive Program participants who will require them. This sum will constitute the State's 15 per cent share of the total cost of the program for fiscal year 1969 and will provide for the necessary expansion of existing day care programs. New Jersey's goal in this respect must be not the provision of mere baby-sitting or custodial care, but the development of supportive services that will enable the children, like their parents who are equipping themselves for work, to break free of the welfare cycle.

Food Stamp Program

Many observers have been deeply impressed by the success of Food Stamp Programs in those counties which have taken advantage of them. I strongly urge the Boards of Chosen Freeholders in counties which have not yet initiated this program to earmark a small fraction of the savings that will accrue to them from the partial transfer of their welfare costs to the State to implement it as soon as possible. The creation of a Food Stamp Program in every county will require an aggregate expenditure by the counties of only one half million dollars, but this sum will attract $9 million in additional federal funds for this vital program.

Garnishment

On previous occasions, I have presented to you the merits of legislation that would prohibit discrimination by employers against employees whose wages are subjected to garnishment. While it is indisputable that judicial remedies must be available to creditors to collect honest debts, it is both illogical and inequitable to maintain a system which in the past has operated to penalize the poverty-stricken and preclude them from any opportunity to regain solvency. Today I also urge passage of a bill now before you to increase the amount of wages exempt from garnishment from the level of $18 a week, established in 1915, to an amount consistent with today's economy and income standards. These measures, designated as Assembly Bills Nos. 485 and 474, deserve your careful scrutiny and prompt passage.

State Membership on County Boards

Modern State government must develop improved policy communication with units of local government, especially when it assumes an increasingly large share of local program costs. To enable county welfare boards better to utilize the knowledge, expertise, and planning assistance available through the State Division of Public Welfare, and to keep the Division fully apprised of the programs, policies, and problems of the several boards, I recommend legislation providing for the appointment by the State Board of Control, subject to the Governor's approval, of a county resident as a State member of each of the county welfare boards. This State member will serve as a full-time board member and will reflect the policy concerns of the Division of Public Welfare and the Department of Institutions and Agencies in public assistance programs throughout the State.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

During these past few troubled weeks we have seen again the tragedy of civil disorder in New Jersey and across the country. Violence has spared neither our nation's capital nor our State capital here in Trenton. Today I am presenting to you a program not for the suppression of riots but for the elimination of their cause—not a plan for disaster but a blueprint for progress. I do not recommend this program as a submission to fear, but as a renewal of courage sparked by our own intelligence as fair and decent-minded Americans.

But no progress in any direction can be made in the absence of law and order, and every citizen in New Jersey must know, and shall know, that violence and crime under any and all circumstances, or for whatever cause, will not be tolerated nor permitted to endanger the public peace. We in the great American center—98% of us, black and white alike—know that only in the law and the Constitution may true justice and the protection of our whole society be found. We do not intend to show weakness in the face of violence.

Accordingly, to complement the highly effective tools already in our possession, such as the statute which makes the act of arson resulting in the death of any person a capital crime, I am forwarding to you today a bill to provide that any person who willfully and maliciously burns or attempts to burn or conspires with any other person to burn an occupied building shall be punished by a term of imprisonment not to exceed thirty years. I am also forwarding a bill to provide that any person disobeying a lawful order of a police officer during a legally declared emergency shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

But law enforcement must be not only firm but fair, efficient, and highly professional. We must ensure that the law is not only equitable and deserving of respect in fact, but that it is so perceived by every New Jerseyan. Accordingly, I am placing before you the following essential recommendations, which comprehend the impact of our entire legal structure—the police, the courts, the probation system—on our citizens.

Police Scholarships

First, we must recognize that the labors of the overworked and underpaid police officer in our urban areas—to protect a ghetto community for whose intolerable living conditions and consequent hostility he is not responsible—command deep public admiration. They command also a renewed effort fully to equip our police officers for their vital work—first of all in respect of the opportunity for better education and better training. I ask you to make available to the Police Training Commission the sum of $50,000 to be used for scholarships for the higher education of 200 selected local police officers, who will continue to work full time as they pursue their studies. I also ask you to set aside $25,000 for scholarship assistance to the State Police to enable 100 troopers to attend college while continuing to perform their duties.

Operation Combine

Second, as another essential effort to increase police professionalism I recommend that you appropriate $185,000, of which $130,000 will be a non-recurring expenditure for preparation of facilities, to expand the special police training program now conducted by the State Police at Sea Girt. These funds will enable the State Police, who have long conducted basic training for municipal police, to double the capacity of Operation Combine, a program designed last summer to prepare local law enforcement agencies throughout the State to prevent and control civil disorder. More than 800 senior local police officers from 265 municipalities have already graduated from Operation Combine, as have 78 State Police officers and 28 New Jersey National Guard officers. Many student observers from other states have also participated. The excellence of this program is nationally recognized, and it has led many other states to initiate similar training courses. My proposed expansion of Operation Combine will extend the widely acclaimed benefits of skill upgrading and increased professionalism to twice as many local police officers as can now be accommodated. This important request merits your immediate attention.

Attitudinal Testing

Third, the establishment and maintenance of peace in our communities requires in the first instance that all local police officers are by temperament and character worthy of the community's confidence. Attitudinal testing, if administered objectively and equitably, can provide this assurance. The Police Training Commission is now developing methods to administer such testing and to introduce it into the curriculum of the training courses required of all police officers in New Jersey. I request the appropriation of $50,000 for full development and administration of a meaningful screening program of this kind, which will enhance the respect accorded and due every police officer in New Jersey.

Police Cadets

Fourth, peace in our communities depends upon mutual respect between the police and members of the community. The loss of respect for police is not dissimilar to modern disrespect of all authority, the law, the courts, the family, the church, in fact of society in general, and mutual respect must be restored. In a number of cities throughout the country, this kind of respect has been markedly increased by the creation of a sub-professional police auxiliary composed of young men, many of whom reside in the community itself. This auxiliary of police cadets, or community service officers, not only provides job opportunities with the potential of promotion into regular police ranks after appropriate experience and training, but also evokes a recogdition among the poor that law enforcement is a noble profession whose objective is protection, not repression. I recommend that you authorize the Police Training Commission to pay 50% of the cost of police cadet programs in communities that develop effective programs with emphasis on the involvement of disadvantaged young men. I ask you to set aside $300,000 for this important program.

Further Action Against Organized Crime

Fifth, we must recognize that gambling, narcotics traffic, and other forms of organized crime strike especially hard at the poor. I am therefore requesting that $500,000 be made available for the recruitment of 60 additional State Policemen, thereby permitting the immediate assignment of 30 additional State Policemen to the organized crime section of their agency to strengthen State assistance to local crackdowns on organized crime, including narcotics enforcement. I also call your renewed attention to, and urge the passage of, a number of bills already introduced by my administration, generally with bi-partisan support, including witness immunity, State grand jury, Interstate Police Compact, and an anti-trust law, which are directed at the control of organized crime.

Increased Police Effectiveness

Sixth, increased effectiveness of our law enforcement efforts depends upon both technological advances and maximum utilization of available manpower and resources. In furtherance of State Police efforts to establish a modern statewide law enforcement communications network, I recommend an appropriation of $330,000 to permit an expansion of the present communications system and an additional $70,000 for two 50-unit emergency systems. I recommend, in addition, $475,000 to enlarge the staff and expand the physical facilities of the State Police Laboratory, and also $50,000 to be made available to the New Jersey Police Training Commission for a review of existing command structures and administrative costs of police service at the municipal level and for development of a comprehensive plan for the potential sharing of activities, personnel, and equipment.

Improved Police Recruitment

Seventh, to assist our municipalities in filling vacancies in police departments, the Civil Service Commission has already begun recruitment at military installations to attract many fine returning servicemen to police work in New Jersey communities, and is currently making arrangements to conduct examinations at those bases and immediately to bring together appointing authorities and successful applicants. Revision of the law to permit recruitment of non-State residents is essential in this regard, and I am forwarding legislation to you to this end. I believe that this effort will go far toward the recruitment for police work of minority group members and will improve recruitment in general. Furthermore, the Civil Service Commission is developing a title for bi-lingual officers which will not include the specific height and weight requirements that have in the past eliminated many fine young men of Puerto Rican extraction from candidacy as police officers. Finally, the Civil Service Commission is now establishing a separate title for special agents. Thus municipalities will be able to hire specialists in appropriate fields without undermining the present command structure of uniformed service. The Council Against Crime has examined all these important proposals in depth, and I commend your attention to their analysis of them.

Complaint Bureau

Eighth, I have asked the Attorney General to advise each county prosecutor that he should establish within his office a highly visible complaint bureau to which citizens may come with grievances against official activity and which will, on a clear and regular basis, give those persons information as to the disposition of those grievances. The Attorney General will designate a special deputy to coordinate these complaint bureaus and to assume ultimate responsibility for the fair disposition of all grievances. I believe that through this effort, confidence in the fairness of police and other official actions will be enhanced, while at the same time the serious damage to police morale often associated with a non-professional review system will be avoided.

Transfer of Municipal Courts

It is imperative that our judicial system administer justice firmly and fairly to all who come before the bar of justice. The operations of our municipal courts have a great bearing on the effectiveness of our law enforcement efforts and on public confidence in our system of justice. Many highly qualified observers, including the distinguished members of the Commission to Study the Causes and Prevention of Crime chaired by William George, have for some time proposed that the functions of the present municipal court system be transferred to a unified State court system. I endorse this proposal, but I fully recognize that it involves a host of complex problems. Their resolution will require the most thoughtful consideration and I therefore recommend the establishment of a special Commission, consisting of members selected by the three branches of our government, to conduct an exhaustive investigation of this proposal, to review the suggestions of the many groups concerned with our courts, and to recommend the best possible transfer system. This inquiry must proceed with deliberation and healthy caution, but I recommend that the Commission move forward to plan for a transfer of responsibilities that would take effect not later than January, 1971.

Recording in Municipal Courts

Short of this major reform of our judicial system, there are significant steps that can be taken now. First, in order to restore full confidence in our court system at its most fundamental and most visible level, I recommend that the State assume the expense of providing recording equipment for the municipal courts in all our cities with populations over 50,000. It is in these cities that the volume of cases makes such equipment especially necessary and that the absence of a record gives the impression of assembly line justice and sometimes deprives the accused of effective review. For this purpose, I request that $105,000 be appropriated to the Administrative Director of the Courts.

Strengthened Administration of Justice

Second, confidence in our courts will also be promoted by greater utilization of procedures to render the initial stages of the criminal process—arrest and bail—less traumatic, yet no less swift and sure. I recommend extension of the system of summons in lieu of arrest to include those accused of minor offenses normally dealt with at the municipal court level. Further I suggest more effective implementation of the release on recognizance system to achieve quick evaluation of an individual's background to ascertain whether or not it is necessary to retain him in custody to ensure his appearance at trial. Thus jobs will not be lost and families thrown on relief unnecessarily because of cumbersome processes of the law irrelevant to the goal of swift, firm, and fair justice. The probation aide corps which I propose—and which I shall describe momentarily—will permit a more prompt evaluation of arrested individuals. I also recommend that $25,000 be made available to the Administrative Director of the Courts for a thorough study of programs such as the non-criminal treatment of alcoholics, which has been effectively utilized in such places as New York City under the auspices of the Vera Institute.

Probation

I have often said that I believe no dollar of public money is more wisely used than a dollar invested in improving probation services to guide young people away from lives of crime and toward useful places in society. To prove this case, we need only compare the burden upon taxpayers of maintaining one person in a penal institution against the much lower cost of supervising the same person on intensive probation. For instance, the State spends approximately $2,100 per year for each inmate at the State Prison, $2,900 for each inmate at the Annandale Reformatory, and $4,900 for each inmate at the State Home for Girls, while the average annual cost of probation is estimated at approximately $300 per probationer. And the burden on taxpayers is multiplied when, as is often the case, the family of a prison inmate is added to the welfare rolls.

Hard practicality, not leniency toward lawbreakers, dictates that we spend the money necessary to expand our probation services.

One undeniable problem in this respect, however, is the increasing lack of communication between inner-city residents and the community at large. This breakdown, which is by definition dangerous, can be disastrous when it impedes the relationship between a probation officer and a youth under his supervision. At present, the high educational qualifications required for probation officers—namely a college degree—make it difficult to recruit for probation work persons whose own experience would help them bridge this gap.

Probation Aides

But I do not suggest that standards be lowered for entry into this noble profession. Rather, I propose that there be created within the various county probation departments the position of probation aide. This position would require only a high school diploma or its equivalent. With in-service training and college incentives, a program for probation aides would provide not only job opportunities for young persons but also a bridge between probation officers and the community. These probation aides, while always working under the supervision of the professionally trained probation officer, could reach into disadvantaged communities to help secure employment, housing and other services for probationers. I request that $350,000 be appropriated to the Administrative Director of the Courts for this program, which on a cost-benefit basis represents an extremely sound investment for society.

Division on Civil Rights

In order that the Division on Civil Rights may more effectively implement this State's exemplary civil rights law, I am recommending that an additional appropriation of $275,000 be made to it. With these funds the Division will be able to staff and maintain a third regional office in Camden and to establish branch offices in other key areas. In addition, this appropriation will permit the establishment of an Affirmative Action Unit to locate and overcome patterns of discrimination.

Expanded Real Estate Commission

I also ask that the New Jersey Real Estate Commission be enlarged by the addition of two members, and that the salaries provided for Commission members be increased from $4,000 to $5,000 per year. Acting in concert, the Real Estate Commission and the Division on Civil Rights can do much to make the ideal of fair housing a reality.

Stronger Consumer Protection

I also recommend an increased appropriation of $100,000 for the Office of Consumer Protection to establish a regional office in the southern part of our State and to expand its consumer education programs in the curricula of the public schools of our State. So that consumer credit is available to core city residents at fair interest rates, I also suggest the authorization of credit unions whose membership may consist of residents of a well-defined urban neighborhood or community.

NARCOTICS CONTROL

The complex and baffling problem of narcotics addiction and drug abuse is one of the most talked about but least understood social problems of our time. It is a vitally important problem because of the spread of its manifold evil effects among our youth.

Action is required in the two broad areas of prevention of new addiction and the rehabilitation of present addicts.

Education Against Narcotics

In the area of prevention, an important step we can take is to educate our youth as to the extreme dangers of drug abuse. Since the drug habit is so intractable, once begun, it is vital to head off its initiation because of ignorance or experiment. I have therefore asked the Commissioner of Education to take a number of steps to make facts about drugs known in our schools. Earlier this year the Commissioner circulated 5,000 copies of a comprehensive 65-page reference book on drugs for teachers in our schools. In response to a suggestion by the Senate Majority Leader, Senator McDermott, the Commissioner will form a speakers bureau staffed by experts including doctors, law enforcement officials, rehabilitation personnel, and other knowledgeable parties, to make appearances at local schools in forums and seminars with teachers and students.

I have also asked the Commissioner to arrange seminars on drugs, to be held this summer for teachers from school districts throughout the State, at which the fundamentals of drug addiction and detection can be imparted, much as they are to our police. An expansion of this immediate program by the fall would make it possible for a teacher from every high school and junior high school in the State to have attended this important seminar by the end of the coming school year. I have asked the prosecutors of our various counties, the New Jersey Narcotic Enforcement Officers Association, and the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs to participate fully in this program. An appropriation of $40,000 will be necessary for administrative costs and payments to teachers in lieu of salary during the seminars. I have also asked the Chancellor of Higher Education to explore with the trustees and presidents of the State colleges a new concentration on narcotics information in our teacher-preparation programs, especially in the fields of health education and physical education.

Additional State Police

Prevention also requires action in the field of law enforcement. Here I refer to law enforcement activities directed primarily against the narcotics vendor, who constantly seeks to create new addicts, and against the apparatus of organized crime that secures and distributes drugs in the streets. No more cruel or reprehensible class of persons exists, and an increase in our activities against them can only have a salutary effect on control of the size of the addict population with which we must deal. We must insist on severe punishment of these despicable purveyors of dangerous drugs, and on vigorous police action directed toward their apprehension. Elsewhere I have requested an appropriation of $500,000 for the recruitment of 60 additional State Policemen, at least 30 of whom will be assigned to the organized crime section of that agency. One of the major duties of that section will be undercover assistance to local governments in locating and apprehending those responsible for the pushing of drugs, and I therefore urge prompt approval of this request.

Rehabilitation

In the rehabilitation of present addicts, New Jersey has much to be proud of, but in truth there is no full and provable solution yet in sight in this or any other state.

In 1964 the Legislature unanimously passed, and I signed into law, Senate 210, which became Chapter 226 of the Laws of 1964 (N. J. S. A. 30:6C). With this landmark legislation New Jersey became the first State in the nation to offer hospitalization as a voluntary alternative to incarceration for noncriminal addicts convicted as disorderly persons. The law is an extraordinarily farsighted one, but several difficulties have arisen in its implementation.

First, there is not adequate validated scientific knowledge of how to keep a detoxified addict off his habit—how to rehabilitate him. This fact was early recognized by the Legislature's Narcotic Drug Study Commission, chaired by Senator Sandman, who was a chief sponsor of the bill. It was for this reason that the Department of Community Affairs sought and won a $1.1 million grant in 1967 from the federal Office of Economic Opportunity to determine the value of community involvement in narcotics rehabilitation and to provide experience in the use of new rehabilitation techniques. Through this program the Department is supporting the efforts of community-based groups in Essex, Hudson, Middlesex and Monmouth counties, and concrete programs are already underway in the first two of these counties. These groups will test, under the guidance of the Department of Community Affairs personnel of great authority in this field, all major rehabilitation techniques that have been attempted, under public or private auspices, elsewhere in the country.

Liberty Park Center

Furthermore, I have arranged with the federal Office of Economic Opportunity to make available to these community-based groups the former Job Corps center at Liberty Park, in Jersey City. This facility will greatly enhance planned rehabilitation activities, and the Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies will periodically inspect it pursuant to its designation by him as a temporary rehabilitation center under Chapter 226. I am hopeful that this program, which is functioning entirely without State funds, will help provide the knowledge and techniques necessary to make the rehabilitation phase of Chapter 226 work.

Coordinated State Effort

Second, because of the need for closer coordination of State efforts under Chapter 226, I have directed the Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies to strengthen the organization of his Department in this sphere consistent with the broad purposes of Chapter 226. The present Bureau of Drug Abuse Control will henceforth report directly to the Commissioner rather than to any Division head. The coordination, direction, planning, and supervision of all programs, including after-care clinics, under Chapter 226 will be placed under the Director of the Bureau. A research unit in the Bureau will be established to seek out innovative approaches to cure and control addiction, and to this end the Director will have close ties with the experimental program of Department of Community Affairs and with relevant federal agencies.

Medical Treatment and After-care Supervision

Third, experience under Chapter 226 has shown that some addicts volunteer for medical treatment in lieu of incarceration not because of a sincere desire for rehabilitation but because hospitalization appears less onerous than incarceration. Experts agree that in order to be treatable, an addict must genuinely seek rehabilitation and a change in his way of life. I therefore recommend that N. J. S. A. 30:6C-6 be amended to provide that when an addict opts for medical treatment in lieu of incarceration, the court must order confinement for such treatment for a minimum of six months with a mandatory probation period of five years. The court will retain jurisdiction to inflict the original sentence of one year should the addict violate his probation by a relapse into addiction or by other cause. By imposing a minimum of six months' medical confinement and five years' probation, we shall discourage addicts from taking the medical option unless they have a sincere desire for rehabilitation. We shall therefore have a much greater chance to rehabilitate those who do opt for medical treatment.

Narcotics Rehabilitation Centers

Finally, Chapter 226 has suffered from a shortage of facilities for housing addicts who choose medical treatment. Because of this shortage, and the need to reach a large number of addicts, the period of confinement has become quite short. We owe it to our citizenry, and to our police who work so hard to apprehend addicts, to keep them in confinement for an appropriate period of time, for their own good and for the good of society. I therefore recommend that you appropriate funds for the establishment of one or more narcotics rehabilitation centers for the reception and housing of addicts confined for medical treatment and rehabilitation under the new six months' minimum confinement period that I have recommended. Without these centers, this minimum confinement period cannot be administered effectively. On the basis of 350 resident addicts, such a center would require $1,080,000 annually in operating costs for the provision of an intensive program of work, individual and group therapy, counseling, and training in basic work and academic skills.

Narcotics Parole-Probation Officers

The precise priority of capital expenditures for centers of this kind will be determined in the forthcoming report of the Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey. With no prejudgment on my part as to the Commission's conclusions in this regard, I consider the initiation of this program so important that I request $500,000 to rent appropriate facilities, with an option to buy, until capital funds can be made available. Furthermore, to implement the five-year probation period that I have proposed, I recommend the establishment of a cadre of selected and specially trained parole-probation officers who would supervise in the community addicts discharged from the narcotics rehabilitation centers, and I ask you to provide $500,000 for this purpose. Also, I request $200,000 for the establishment of after-care clinics to be located in the areas of greatest need, for the testing and supervision of addicts on parole.

COMMUNITY HEALTH CENTERS

You and I must soon foreclose further delay on the institution of a fully adequate Medicaid program for New Jersey. Because of the greatly improved health care that Medicaid can bring to a sizeable number of our citizens, we must determine shortly its initial size and shape—and see to it that they fully reflect the unmistakable health needs of our people.

But as an immediate and necessary step to overcome carefully documented deficiencies in health services for the poor, I recommend the appropriation of $720,000 for the Department of Health to operate, or contract for the operation of, six community health centers in low-income neighborhoods. Each center would be staffed by a community medical service team, consisting of licensed physicians, registered nurses and para-professional community health aides. Physicians and the hospital or local health department with which each center would be affiliated would provide comprehensive supervision. I urge your prompt action on this important health proposal.

SUMMER RECREATION

Recreational facilities in our inner-city areas are often inadequate, and sometimes non-existent. To provide improved recreational opportunities for inner-city children this summer I have directed the Commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development to make maximum use of our outstanding State park system, which can accommodate, on the average, about 6,000 additional visitors on weekdays and 3,500 on weekends and holidays. Sponsors of groups of inner-city children—including boards of education, churches, and community action agencies—who wish to take advantage of our State parks will normally have to provide supervisory personnel and transportation. To ensure maximum participation of hard-pressed sponsors, however, I request an appropriation of $50,000 for the Department to provide seventy staff counsellors for the park system during the eight-week summer period and $100,000 for the Department to subsidize transportation costs where absolutely necessary.

To improve recreational opportunities within our inner cities themselves, I request $500,000 for the Department's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to administer, on a fifty-fifty matching basis with communities, a program for facilities that must be approved by the Bureau and that could range from fire hydrant sprinkler heads to portable swimming pools.

FINANCING THE PROGRAM

In suggesting this program to meet a New Jersey crisis of massive proportions, I recognize my responsibility to propose the source of funds for its accomplishment. But because of the clear control of this Legislature by the majority party, I can but propose, and thus do not have the final choice. I shall do so in good faith and with full willingness to share with you responsibility for the enactment of any tax program necessary to meet our obligations. These immediate obligations, as I have outlined them and as I honestly see them, break down as follows:

1. State assumption of a major proportion of welfare costs	$55.9 million
2. The urban program and law enforcement	20.2 million
3. The emergency State school aid program	25 million
4. The housing program	25 million
<hr/>
Total	$126.1 million

New Jersey's Needs

First of all, let us consider together whether the programs are really needed. In making this decision we must ask ourselves a number of questions.

Can we dispense with an adequate housing program which will provide several tens of thousands of family homes, when we know the realistic needs in this State run into the hundreds of thousands of homes?

Can we avoid the emergency State school aid program when we know how minimal it is in beginning to make up for the deterioration and deficiencies of the past—our past?

Shall we lay bare our society to crime and violence and narcotic addiction and hopeless frustration, and foster that alienation which will truly make us two nations, living as though in an armed camp, while we continue verbally to pledge allegiance to "One nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all"?

Shall we condemn our fellow citizens, both those who honestly need welfare assistance and those local property taxpayers who are staggering under the burden of its support, to an unending Frankenstein-like welfare cycle, or shall we try to break that cycle and restore the family unit and provide training and incentive for useful work instead of permanent welfare dependency?

If we are convinced of the need of these programs, as I think we are, we must face this question: What shall we do about them?

Shall we be men of courage and reconciliation and vision and wisdom, or shall we jockey for political advantage and seek political asylum from our duty, to the immediate damage of our own State and the sure discredit of our own record as it will be written down in the history of these times?

Revenue Programs

I have confidence that together we shall do right, as we see the right. To that end, I have informed the leaders of this Legislature, first, that I shall not avoid responsibility for suggesting tax sources to sustain this program, and, second, that I am not stubborn in my views as to the means to accomplish the program, as firmly convinced as I am of the necessity of the program itself.

My first preference to meet the needs I have described is a graduated personal income tax at approximately half of the current New York income tax rates. I should like to tell you my reasoning:

1. This tax would scarcely affect (not nearly as much as does our present sales tax) the majority of the citizens of this State. A man earning $7,500, for instance, with a wife and four children, would pay less than $50 per year.

2. The tax paid to New Jersey would be deductible in computing income subject to federal taxation, and thus, millions of dollars would come to New Jersey instead of to the federal government, an outcome devoutly wished every year by taxpayers' groups and other informed citizens.

3. The yield of this tax for the half of the forthcoming fiscal year in which it would be collected would adequately meet the cost of the program I have outlined.

4. The ensuing full-year tax yield would enable us (a) to look forward to paying for a meaningful and not a pretended Medicaid program; (b) to defray more than $100 million in mandated increases, such as pensions, which will come due next year and be beyond the range of ordinary revenues and also beyond the practical control of any one of us to avoid; (c) to meet the initial debt costs of any capital program decided on by the people; and (d) to cope with the operating costs of any expanded college, highway, institutional, or other program which is in prospect.

But under apparent legislative policy, affecting members of both parties, it appears that an income tax would engender debate which would promote a long and possibly fruitless political controversy. No matter how that controversy eventually would be resolved, it would eat up valuable time in these next two months—the time remaining for the most important decisions a New Jersey Legislature was ever called upon to make. These decisions are emergent and vital. They cannot await the outcome of any long new-tax debate.

My position is clear. But if the Legislature is indeed unwilling to re-examine its position—as I believe it should—then, in the face of the present emergency, we must be prepared to look elsewhere.

The cost of the program I suggest could obviously be met by a one percent rise in the New Jersey sales tax and a five cent increase in cigarette taxes. And if this solution is not agreeable to the Legislature, the program might be supported by other sources of tax revenue, and I shall be glad to consider whatever conclusions you reach.

For as I have said, the program is of first importance to me, as it must be to you, and the nature of the tax revenue needed to support it is of secondary importance. Like you, I dislike taxes of any kind and, if such a thing were possible, might prefer to go on from year to year, stringing the beads and balancing the mirrors, a little excise boost here and a little gimmick there. But we have seen with our own eyes, in our own political lifetime, the result of such equivocation. It has brought us to a very sorry pass, and unless we wish to hurt our State and its communities and its people severely, we must come to our senses and, like other states, begin to pay our own way, provide for the needs of our own citizens, fulfill our own destiny.

I think we have come to the end of that happy road when the citizens of the most tightly run state government in the nation can be looked in the eye by a politician and blandly told that imaginary economies in government, or tightening the belt against make-believe extravagances, or buying time with another study or tax convention, or getting past another election year, or finding some mysterious kind of non-tax revenue, can solve our problems.

We have reached the day of reckoning. And I tell you very seriously and respectfully that we must act in these two months before us or this State over the next six years will sink into stagnation and despair that will take a quarter of a century to overcome. Dedicated New Jersey citizens who serve on our boards of education, as trustees of our colleges and universities, as boards of managers of our institutions, as members, for instance, of the distinguished Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey, and who serve the State in many other ways will soon begin to lose confidence if we equivocate any further. And our people and our communities—especially the most hard-pressed among them—will pay a heavy price indeed for further neglect on our part.

If you think I exaggerate, only look for yourself—look at our urban communities, at our rural poverty, at our rotting tenements, at our decaying schools, at the generations of youth we are wasting, at many other weaknesses in a State which could be a leader in the American community of states, if we would only face the truth and do our simple duty.

Let us proceed to that duty. Let us do that job—not as Republicans or Democrats, not as conservatives or liberals, not as men of the city or the suburb or the farm, but as men of courage and wisdom, bearing the trust of our fellow citizens who ask of us only one thing—to do our honest best.

The following message from the Governor was received by the Senate and read by the Secretary:

SPECIAL MESSAGE ON CAPITAL NEEDS

BY GOVERNOR RICHARD J. HUGHES

TO THE LEGISLATURE

MONDAY, MAY 6, 1968

I transmit this special message to urge your approval of a program of capital construction for New Jersey—a program of emergent importance to the health and growth of this State.

A week ago the people of this State received the historic and sobering report of the Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey. The outstanding members of this Commission—citizens distinguished by their business and professional achievements and also noted for their prudence, indeed in some cases their conservatism, their sound fiscal judgment, and their undoubted credibility—have told us the harsh and uncomfortable truth.

They have concluded that we in New Jersey are failing dangerously to protect our common future. They have fully exposed the shame of past neglect—but they have also charted the course by which we can change to a proud and feasible and necessary grasp of the future.

They have based their findings on an unprecedented, rigorous and independent audit of our capital needs. Their report shows that they have weighed every question with the Missourian skepticism of “Show me.” And they have proposed, in the most lucid and compelling terms, that we must act—and act now—to save this State from falling into permanent second-class status.

I had asked this Commission, in probing our capital needs, to act with the freedom and objectivity of a grand jury. The Commission did exactly that—and listen to the indictment they returned:

“Everywhere that this Commission looked, it saw the tragic results of years of neglect. Passenger rolling stock is on the verge of collapse. Railroad stations are dark and dilapidated. Highways are choked. A severe drought brought us to the brink of real peril. Prisons and mental health institutions are patched and worn, with many positively inhumane facilities. Secondary and elementary schools are overcrowded and many of the older ones are sadly in need of repair or replacement. Our colleges and universities can accommodate only a fraction of our applicants, forcing most of them to go out of state. Our rivers are polluted and our cities are pockmarked with crumbling ghettos."

Listen to these further indictments:

"These conditions are all very serious in themselves, but they are also serious beyond themselves. Lack of adequate capital funds has undoubtedly contributed heavily to our racial problems and to the decline of our cities as centers of industry and culture."

"Our Commission foresees a serious weakening of the economic and social stature of New Jersey if this regressive fiscal philosophy continues. We are deeply disturbed to see one of the wealthiest states in the nation apparently condoning conditions which could ultimately destroy it."

Finally, listen to the Commission's inescapable conclusions:

"The people of New Jersey have two great responsibilities to fulfill, and to fulfill now. First, we must eliminate the enormous backlog of capital deficiencies. Second, we must build toward the future. We must guarantee for ourselves a growth which will keep pace with our future obligations. Prudent expansion and preventive maintenance must be substituted for virtual stagnation in new construction and a massive accumulation of deferred maintenance."

"The price of these years of inactivity in capital appropriations is now very large. But it must be paid if we are to prevent further atrophy and create a viable and progressive State."

For establishing this painful but essential truth beyond the shadow of a doubt, the Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey has earned the respect and gratitude of every citizen who truly cares about the well-being of this State. What the Commission has concluded is precisely what any group of responsible New Jerseyans would conclude if they too were to take the time and trouble candidly to assess our real needs. The Commission looked hard and honestly, and it saw and reported nothing more or less than the truth about this State. To respond to this truth—to overcome our dangerous weaknesses and to reinforce our great basic strengths—the Commission has asked: “How can we correct the faults without contaminating the virtues? This is a fundamental question, and it has only one answer—by introducing into our economy new capital funds from new sources.”

There is indeed only this one answer, and I concur fully with the Commission’s clear and reasoned judgment of what we must do now—as an “irreducible minimum”—to set New Jersey on a sound and progressive course once again.

Accordingly, I recommend that you authorize four bond issues to be placed before the people in the general election in November:

- | | |
|--|----------------|
| 1. Construction of buildings for education and institutions | 635.4 million* |
| 2. Transportation | 800.0 million |
| 3. Water Pollution Control | 190.6 million |
| 4. Conservation | 120.8 million |

These issues total $1.75 billion. The difference between this sum and the full Commission recommendation of $1.95 billion is represented by the vital public school construction program to which the Commission rightly attaches such great importance. However, to prevent any delay in this essential school construction program—to begin immediate repair and replacement of school facilities so run down and overcrowded, in overburdened and helpless school districts throughout the State, as to mock the notion of good education—I have recommended a substitute solution. I repeat my endorsement, as outlined in my April 25 message, of the plan advanced in January by the State Board of Education

* This sum includes $492.4 million for higher education, $100.0 million for institutions, $27.5 million for vocational schools, and $15.5 million for a New Jersey public broadcasting system. I recommend this last figure, and not the $17.4 million proposed by the Commission, on the advice of the Commission on Public Broadcasting, which has succeeded in reducing by $1.9 million the construction estimate it submitted in March to the Capital Needs Commission.

for State support of a three-year emergency school building aid program of $180 million. The State would assume responsibility in its annual budget, beginning with a $2 million appropriation this year, for the payment of principal and interest on local school bonds to support this program.

Some in this Legislature might argue that overcoming this school collapse is a local responsibility, and not the business of the State. I point out, however, that when some of our seashore communities were flattened by the storm of 1962, their rescue became the business of the whole State, and citizens not immediately affected—say, the residents of Morris and Bergen Counties—helped to pay for that rescue. By the same token, residents and Legislators from South Jersey, although not locally affected, had no hesitation in coming to the aid of North Jersey commuters in the years when railroad passenger service began to collapse, and they paid, and are still helping to pay, the huge subsidies which are preserving that service.

If commuters and seashore municipalities are the whole State's business, are not the children whose lack of decent educational facilities disgraces us all also our business? Indeed, are not these children the State's most important business?

The Constitution forbids the selfish and shortsighted viewpoint which would deny this obligation, for it provides in Article VII of Section IV:

“The Legislature shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for the instruction of all children in this State between the ages of five and eighteen.”

I also recommend that the vocational school construction of $27.5 million proposed by the Commission, to match federal funds in that amount, be included in the bond issues you will authorize.

I shall not burden you here with specific details of my entire recommendation for capital construction. These details are already available, or can be made available, to you from the Commission's report, from members of my Cabinet, and from a number of independent citizens' groups: Let me note briefly here, however, what this capital program will do for New Jersey:

It will provide spaces—desperately needed spaces—in our higher education system for 71,100 more undergraduates, 10,000 more graduate students, and 927 medical students and interns by 1975.

It will provide vocational facilities, in concert with federal matching funds, for 3,000 students.

It will provide a State-wide system of public broadcasting which, in the judgment of the Commission, will “substantially aid the educational situation in the State and permit a marked upgrading in the quality of instruction in those areas which are now below average.” It may be noted parenthetically that immediate State action in the field of public broadcasting is required to prevent permanent loss of the four remaining non-commercial UHF channels assigned to New Jersey.

It will provide for the renovation, rehabilitation, and relief of overcrowding at virtually all of our existing institutions. It will also provide for community mental health centers, rehabilitation facilities for narcotics addicts, a new children’s unit at Trenton State Hospital, a new Somerset State School for the retarded who need institutional care, more than 900 of whom are still on our waiting list, and other important projects.

It will provide, together with federal funds and regular budget appropriations over the next five years, $325 million required for the revitalization of our dying commuter rail system, $725 million for essential State highway construction, $150 million in aid to local roads, and $25 million for improvement of our bus systems and airports.

It will provide $190.6 million as the State’s share of $762.7 million of trunk sewer lines and treatment plants which are required now to conform with established health standards. These funds will qualify New Jersey for federal moneys that will cover up to 55 per cent of the total cost of these critically needed projects.

It will provide $90.8 million for the acquisition and construction of reservoir projects, and $30 million for Green Acres matching programs.

In short, it will provide a measured and necessary response to New Jersey’s fully documented backlog of capital needs and will enable the State to perform those minimum services—and no more than those services—to which the citizens of a first-class state are entitled.

The Commission has made several additional recommendations that merit your immediate and favorable attention. These include improvement of statutory bidding procedures, strengthened capital planning and control adaptation to better seasonal construction schedules, and more orderly planning in the field of water resources and distribution.

TIMING OF THE PROGRAM

The timing of this capital program is the consequence not only of sound management practices but also of the serious backlog of our capital requirements. The Commission reduced more than $5 billion in original requests to less than $2 billion, and it concluded—rightly—that a minimum program in seven crucial fields must be mounted now with no further delay.

Given the indisputable urgency of all these programs, and indeed of others beyond them, you and I simply cannot afford the luxury of leaving to another Legislature or another Governor, whose pressing concerns and special priorities none of us can anticipate, the task of providing for capital needs that we know we should accommodate now. I for one am not prepared—nor do I think you are—to relegate to some uncertain future date the minimum programs in highway construction, commuter rail transportation, college building, reservoir site acquisition, water pollution control, emergency school construction, or improvement of inadequate and even inhumane institutional facilities. We cannot simply forget, as if it were too much bother, about one or more of a range of capital programs that together represent only a bare minimum effort to avert the impending threat of grave social and economic weakness for this State.

There is one further important factor in the timing of this capital program that you must consider carefully. The program that the Commission has recommended, and that I endorse, calls for a major authorization of bond issues this year. But the bonds themselves will be drawn over a number of years, in certain cases up to 1975, depending on the plans outlined by the Commission. Why must the full program be authorized at this time—and why would it not be equally good to authorize the bonds each year in anticipation of the needs of that year? The answer is clear and undeniable: capital spending will never produce full value as long as it takes place on a crisis-by-crisis basis. It is precisely this method of operation that has plagued our capital programs for so many years: we have shored up crumbling walls instead of constructing them initially on a firm foundation.

Let me illustrate why capital commitments into the future, as I have recommended, are an economic necessity rather than a fiscal nicety.

Consider our languishing commuter railroads. What choice lies before New Jersey? If we will commit ourselves to the expenditure of $325 million that I have proposed, we can offer the commuting public facilities that will encourage, not discourage, their use. But if we were to begin their rehabilitation without an advance commitment for the full $325 million, or receive only half that amount, we might end up by throwing away millions of dollars. For we would not have railroads that would attract back commuters or that could conceivably operate on a sound financial basis. In other words, if there is no commitment now for the full sum, and no assurance that the full $325 million will be forthcoming later, then we might better decide never to start on the rehabilitation of the railroads. How dreadful to think that we might deprive our citizens of such a vital service because of our lack of faith in their ability to see the need and to be willing to pay for it!

This same need for authorization now of capital programs—as opposed to piecemeal authorizations over several years—is just as apparent in highway, college, institutional, and other vital construction. A highway administrator, for example, might well embark on a comprehensive and badly needed construction and repair program only to find himself, because of the absence of an initial authorization of sufficient magnitude, compelled to cease operations in the middle of projects that would thereby be rendered totally useless to anyone. Similarly, an institutions administrator would be unable to plan and build modern and humane facilities if he were compelled—as has been the case to date in New Jersey—to work on a hand-to-mouth basis that permits only a patchwork capital effort at best.

The case for timing the bond issue authorizations as I have recommended them, then, rests on indisputable grounds of efficiency and practicality. Nor can we in good conscience request institutional patients at Greystone Park, for example, to suffer for several more years, pending an institutions referendum at some unknown date, or advise our commuters that they must continue to battle their way to work in disgraceful passenger cars or over crowded highways until the State's political leadership gets around to the problem. The Commission has identified, beyond the shadow of a doubt, too many essential interests to be served now for us to continue on the path of disorderly capital programming that has brought us to our present sorry pass.

SIZE OF THE PROGRAM

Closely related to timing is the question of the size of bond issues that you authorize now. I conclude, as does the Commission, that the size of the program it recommends is not too large but is rather an "irreducible minimum." And I can therefore not agree with those who argue that bond issues of this magnitude are too large for the public to accept in November.

Arguments to this effect, in my judgment, sell the people of New Jersey short. I am convinced that if you authorize this program on a strong bi-partisan basis, and if we all campaign actively for it, these referendums will follow the historic pattern for bond issues in New Jersey: that no bond issue since 1937 that has enjoyed strong bi-partisan support has failed to gain acceptance at the polls.

To those who remember with concern the defeat of the bond program five years ago, let me recall to you that this defeat was due chiefly to the lack of such bi-partisan support and to opposition, for various reasons, by powerful, almost unanimous elements of the press, by almost all civic and trade organizations, and by other influential groups throughout the State. But we are in different circumstances now. Because of the irrefutable presentment returned by the Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey—and the initial favorable reaction to it from many groups who five years ago opposed that bond program—I am convinced that the present bond issues will receive widespread if not unanimous support from all those elements, distinguished individuals and groups alike, whose efforts, together with support by both major parties, could guarantee the success of the present referendums. I therefore urge you, in the strongest possible terms, not to silence or discourage the deep concern and good will of so many citizens—not to sell the people of New Jersey short—but rather to give the people the chance to speak affirmatively on their wishes for our common future.

The distinguished Economic Policy Council, as you know, has also confirmed the prudence of bonding of this kind, which is characteristic of the capital programming practiced regularly by our most respected private corporations.

I hope, then, that by your statutory authorization and your bi-partisan support, to which I will add every possible effort on my part, you will permit the people of New Jersey in November to decide these issues and assure the future security of our beloved State.

Now, finally, the whole case rests with you—and only with you—not just for capital needs but for the urgent solutions to our pressing urban problems recommended in my message of April 25. Never in history has a New Jersey Legislature had such important decisions to make. Never has one body had such surpassing unilateral power over the destiny of the whole State. Never has a crisis been more plain, nor a challenge more compelling, nor a duty more demonstrably clear. But I must also say to you that there has never been a time when decent men have been more subject to certain temptations to sway them from their duty.

For you have it within your power to make a choice between that plain duty and a shallow and political response to the urgency of the times. You have it within your power to say “no new taxes” or “we cut the Governor’s program to pieces,” and thus bid for superficial popularity by appealing to the worst in public sentiment. But even such popularity is fleeting at best. For the people are quick to sense acts of political expediency. And I am convinced—as I trust you are—that any public official who, in the face of our emergent needs, trifles with the public interest will be remembered for his betrayal and quickly repudiated at the polls.

The majority members of this Legislature were elected under the slogan “a responsible Legislature,” and I am prepared to hope that it will be responsible. But will a responsible Legislature, thinking to oppose a Governor but really hurting the people of a whole state, succumb to the temptations before them? Will that Legislature stall until next year the 75 per cent takeover of welfare costs and the implementation of useful amendments which will restore the family unit and its discipline, and begin to break the terrible cycle of welfare dependency with work incentive opportunities to those on welfare rolls? Does this postponement make sense in order to tailor a deferred cost into some abbreviated package of haphazard tax sources? What possible justification can there be for such postponements? It is as though a man desperately ill, needing immediate hospitalization, were to postpone, at the risk of his life, medical attention which he needs now, "until next year."

I repeat to you in the most serious way that New Jersey is very ill, and it is only you, not the other two branches of government, that can make it well again.

One of its illnesses beyond the welfare burden is the matter of housing. I have placed before you a housing program of integrity, of demonstrated workability, in which we can be partners with private enterprise like the Prudential Insurance Company and the home builders, reaching only a fraction of the housing deficit in this State, yet tipping the balance against the slums and tenements which befoul us. How can a responsible Legislature repudiate this program in whole or in part, when it is so obviously necessary to make our society well and whole again?

Shall emergency aid to education be denied and another generation of children condemned, in violation of our constitutional duty, so that someone can say "we cut the Governor's program down—we avoided new taxes"? Shall law enforcement measures, to which no valid exception can be taken, be put aside and our society laid bare and exposed to crime, narcotics addiction, and civil violence? Would a responsible Legislature do these things?

MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT

And let me point out another danger to you. The bond issue program which the Commission has proposed, and which I recommend, is based on the essential presumption that in regular annual budgets the State will fully maintain its present capital effort in institutions, commuter transportation, highways, and aid to construction of local roads, state and county colleges, and other vital projects. If this basic understructure, or maintenance of effort, is in any way eroded—as, for example, by an attempt to substitute bond issue funds for these normal annual appropriations and thus partially to avoid increased taxes for a time—the entire bond issue program will be aborted and the gross deficiencies in our capital system will not be overcome but will persist and, indeed, worsen.

As I have told you, I am no longer satisfied with my own deferral of certain capital expenditures in my Budget Message of February. But we have all learned something since then, and I trust that you will concur with me now, for the public record, that there must be no effort to subvert the bond issues—already described by the Commission as an “irreducible minimum”—by using them as a substitute for regular and absolutely essential annual capital appropriations. Let us all make it crystal clear right now that the bond issue program is designed to supplement, not to replace, our current inadequate capital program so that we may provide better, not identical or worse, highways, railroads, schools, colleges, institutions, and health and recreational facilities for the people of New Jersey.

I hope the Legislature will not confuse my candor with any thought of disrespect for it. Quite the contrary, I am banking everything—New Jersey is banking everything—on the good faith and responsibility of this very Legislature. My sincere hope is that it will be, as its majority members promised the public last year, “a responsible Legislature.” But I believe in laying my cards on the table, as I have always tried to do with the people of New Jersey, who twice elected me Governor and trusted me. I point out to you that in my first term, just as now, I did not hesitate to speak of the needs and deficiencies of New Jersey in the plainest terms, suffering in 1963 a disappointing, even a humiliating, defeat of a plan I advanced to meet those needs. The election verdict of the people in 1965 convinced me that the people will not repudiate a public official who tells the truth, even the hard and uncomfortable truth.

Nobody trusts a doctor who glosses over a serious illness, nor a lawyer who conceals from his client a grave legal problem. And nobody will trust a public official who tells the people only what they would like to hear, when they know in mind and conscience that he speaks falsely.

But if we speak of “blood, sweat and tears,” we can also speak—honestly—of the happy and productive results of this effort. And I am convinced that the people want to know the truth, bad and good alike.

For truth is a necessary component of responsibility. I hope and believe that truth will be the guidestar of the members of this responsible Legislature in meeting the State's heavy burdens.

Many people may be discouraged by the imbedded political history of this State, of winking at neglect for fear of change, or perhaps for fear of the people. But we must never forget that the tide of history need not run against New Jersey, but can go in the direction in which strong and decent men compel it to go. There are strong and fine members in this Legislature, and you represent the people of New Jersey—they too are strong and decent.

But before the people speak, this Legislature, and only this Legislature, can decide whether our highway system is to collapse, whether our commuter transportation system must die, whether our cities must languish and then explode, whether the shame of our educational and institutional systems must continue—in other words, what kind of state New Jersey shall be.

And the time for decision is short.

As the time for action by this Legislature shortens, the shadows are lengthening over New Jersey—and only this Legislature can decide whether these shadows will plunge it into a dark age of neglect and shame from which it might never be able to emerge.

I wish you Godspeed in making a decision which instead could mean the illumination of new hope for New Jersey and show us the way to leadership in the community of the United States of America.

Messrs. McDermott, Rinaldo and Dumont, offered the following resolution, which was read and adopted:

WHEREAS, There is at present pending in the Congress of the United States legislation to impose a mineral severance tax amounting to 5% of the gross income from any domestic mineral property; and

WHEREAS, By permitting taxpayers to credit against the payment of the Federal tax the amount paid in State severance taxes, this legislation has the intent of promoting uniform rates among the states and, at the same time, will encourage the imposition of such taxes by the states; and

WHEREAS, Such taxes, whether imposed by the states or the Federal Government, erode the competitive position of domestic mineral extractors as against foreign imports, threaten the economic stability of the industry and risk the loss of this industry's current contribution to the national economy; and

WHEREAS, The deleterious effects of such taxes have recently been experienced by the State of Minnesota, which, after suffering loss of iron mining operations which moved to Canada to escape this tax, repealed said tax; and

WHEREAS, Such a tax, added to the obligations of the domestic mining industry in terms of high wages levels, other State and Federal taxes and compliance with other Federal regulations—all imposing economic burdens which do not affect foreign competitors—would be highly inequitable to the domestic industry and would gravely affect its ability to compete with foreign producers not only in the export market but also in the domestic market; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey:

That the health of the mining industry in this country and the best interests of the national economy would be ill served by any Federal legislation imposing a mineral severance tax or encouraging the imposition of any such tax by State governments; and

Be It Further Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the Senate, and that copies be sent to the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, the Vice-President of the United States and to each of the Members of Congress elected from this State.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

SENATE BILL No. 250

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 250, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would amend the "State Aid Road System Act of 1967," to provide that the State's share of the cost of any project shall be increased from the present 50% level to 90% of the total cost. The apparent purpose of this legislation is to relieve counties and municipalities from most of the financial burden of construction projects on the local road network.

As a general proposition, the idea of easing the financial burden on our counties and municipalities is desirable, particularly in these times of high governmental costs. The effect of this legislation, however, is to reduce the local contribution for county and municipal road construction without providing correspondingly increased State funds for this important purpose. As a result, the $30 million that is now generated annually under this program for local road construction from State and local sources will be reduced to approximately $16.5 million. At the present time, approximately $1.5 billion is raised locally by general property taxes. The tax relief afforded by this $13.5 million reduction in local spending must be measured against the equally real loss to our counties and municipalities of the reduced level of local road construction.

A comprehensive study of local road needs has just been completed for the Department of Transportation. This report shows that on the county and municipal primary systems nearly 1,000 miles of local roads are deficient by current standards. In addition, the report indicates that the average annual needs for county and municipal road programs could exceed $300 million a year and that existing revenue sources—Federal, State and local—are inadequate to meet present and anticipated local road requirements. Under these circumstances, I do not believe it is desirable at this time for State government to encourage a decreased level of local support for critical local road construction.

With regard to counties, the present matching requirement does not appear to impose an excessive financial burden on any of these units even though financial capacity varies from county to county. During the past two years, county applications for State funds have greatly exceeded the level of State funds available. For this reason, I believe that the present matching requirement should be retained.

The problem with regard to our municipal units is somewhat more severe. Many of our municipalities have a relatively small ratable base. In addition, a number have been compelled to impose relatively high tax rates. With this in mind, I believe that a modification of the present matching formula can be justified for municipalities. In an effort to balance the need for the largest possible construction program against the financial limitations confronting many municipalities, I would recommend that the present matching requirement for municipalities be adjusted to provide that the State will pay up to 75% of the total project cost.

The present $15 million State Aid program is divided approximately two-thirds to the counties and one-third to the municipalities. If this division is maintained, the modification I have suggested would permit an annual local construction program under this act of approximately $26.5 million, or approximately $10 million more than is contemplated under Senate Bill No. 250.

I wish to call to the Legislature's attention at this time another area of this legislation which requires adjustment. At the present time, bridge improvements are not eligible for participation under this program unless they are located upon the State Aid Road System. It is apparent that many local bridges throughout the State will require improvement in the next few years. A number of these structures can be improved only by a substantial expenditure of funds but many of these structures are not now eligible for participation in the State Aid Road System program because they are not physically on the system. This situation may tend to preclude these structures from serious consideration, although their condition may justify prompt attention. In a time when our attention has been directed particularly to the problem of bridge safety, I would recommend to the Legislature that the State Aid Road System Act be amended to provide that bridges are eligible for State assistance without regard to their location throughout the State.

As an indication of the need for this change, the Department of Transportation has been notified by most counties that a comprehensive inspection of existing county bridge structures, which total in excess of 25,000 bridges, will require several millions of dollars. Most of these counties are seeking State assistance to underwrite this substantial but highly essential inspection cost. I am, therefore, suggesting that up to 10% of the next State Aid allocation be made available to defray these inspection costs so that this essential local bridge inspection program can be carried out as completely and expeditiously as possible.

Accordingly, I am returning herewith Senate Bill No. 250 for reconsideration with the recommendation that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, title, line 1, after "amend", insert "and supplement".

On page 1, section 1, line 4, delete "90%" and insert in lieu thereof, "in the case of the county projects 50% and in the case of municipal projects 75%".

On page 1, section 1, line 10, following section 1, insert a new section as follows:

“2. County and municipal bridges and viaducts, without regard to location in the State, may be improved or reconstructed with funds available under the provisions of this act in the same manner as county and municipal roads on the State Aid Road System.

“Of the total funds available to counties and municipalities under the provisions of this act for the calendar year commencing January 1, 1969, the Commissioner may allocate not more than 10% of such amount to defray the cost of carrying out a comprehensive bridge inspection program but to the extent possible the allocation of such funds shall be made in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as is provided for all other funds distributed under the provisions of this act.”

On page 1, section 2, line 1, delete “2” and insert in lieu thereof “3”.

Respectfully,

[SEAL]

RICHARD J. HUGHES,

Attest:

Governor.

Secretary to the Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 281

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 281, without my approval, for the reasons set forth below.

Senate Bill No. 281 would amend chapter 135, Laws of 1966, as it relates to the distribution to municipalities of revenue derived from the so-called "Chapter 51 Replacement Tax Package" of 1966. By this amendment the State Legislature would extend the save harmless provision of the 1966 law which was designed to protect municipalities from revenue loss occasioned by the coincident repeal of the locally imposed business personalty tax. Section 2 of the 1966 Act provided that under no circumstances would the fund returned to each municipality be less than the greatest amount of revenue levied by it in any one of three base years; the years 1964, 1965 and 1966. By Senate Bill No. 281, the Legislature would add the year 1967 as an alternative base year and thereby increase the cost to the State by some $5.4 million.

The "Replacement Tax Package", substituted in 1966 for the business personal property tax, consisted of a combination of four taxes to be uniformly administered at the State level. These were the State business personal property tax, the unincorporated business tax, the retail gross receipts tax and an increase in the corporation net income tax rate. These new "replacement" taxes were not designed to extract additional revenue from the business community, but rather to establish a stable tax program by eliminating the threat of "tax lightning" which chapter 51 formerly posed, while at the same time saving to the municipalities the same amount of revenue as previously derived from local tax on tangible personal property. In enacting chapter 135, the Legislature added the year 1966 to render the new tax most current with existing circumstances.

At the time of its enactment, the "Chapter 51 Replacement Tax Package" was hailed for the predictability and uniformity which it brought to the property tax in New Jersey. It is those very virtues which are now severely undermined by Senate Bill No. 281. I am informed that if the year 1967 were to be included in the save harmless provisions, 262 of this State's 567 municipalities would benefit. Obviously, the remainder would not. I am told that the year 1967 ought to be included in this formula because these 262 municipalities should not be penalized because the State has introduced a uniform tax. When taxpayers in municipalities that do not benefit are asked to pay the cost of benefits to other municipalities, there can be no true uniformity consistent with the acknowledged purpose of chapter 135 of the Laws of 1966.

Obviously, Senate Bill No. 281 was introduced when it became clear early this year that the revenues from the business personalty tax element of the 1966 package would exceed original estimates by approximately $10 million. Hence, the argument that the State could afford to include the year 1967 in the save harmless formula. This argument loses sight, however, of the fact that there were four elements in the 1966 package and that the present estimates of revenue to be derived from all four elements indicate that the net return from all four sources would fall approximately $4 million short. The inclusion of the year 1967 therefore would mean that $5.4 million will have to be paid out of sources unrelated to the chapter 51 replacement taxes. It is this fact which occasions my concern.

While I do not deny the necessity of relieving the tax burden upon our municipalities, I cannot view Senate Bill No. 281 as the most effective measure to accomplish that result. There is pending before this Legislature a proposal for the assumption by the State of 75 per cent of the non-federal cost of welfare which, if adopted, would relieve taxpayers in those municipalities where the burdens are greatest and the needs most exigent. At a time of crisis such as exists in the State of New Jersey today, our limited State resources should not be expended in any way which does not fully come to grips with the needs of our society. Among those municipalities listed as beneficiaries under Senate Bill No. 281 are some of the most affluent municipalities in this State. The measure then has little relation to the needs of the day and I consequently must withhold my approval of it.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

Upon receipt of proper proofs of the death, occurring on or after July 1, 1968, of a former member who was covered for the additional death benefit coverage pursuant to subsection d. of this section, there shall be paid to such [person, if living, as the member shall have nominated by written designation duly executed and filed with the board of trustees, otherwise to the executor or administrator of the member's estate,] former member's beneficiary an amount equal to [3/16] 1/4 of the compensation received by the former member in the last year of creditable service.

f. The contributions of a member for the additional death benefit coverage shall be deducted from his compensation, but if there is no compensation from which such contributions may be deducted it shall be the obligation of the member, except as provided in subsection h. of this section, to make such contributions directly to the [board of trustees] retirement system or as directed by the [board] system; provided, however, that no contributions shall be required while a member remains in service after attaining age 70 but that his employer shall be required to pay into the fund on his behalf in such case an amount equal to the contributions otherwise required by the board of trustees in accordance with this section.

g. Any other provisions of this article notwithstanding, the contributions of a member for the additional death benefit coverage under this section shall not be returnable to the member or his beneficiary in any manner, or for any reason whatsoever, nor shall any contributions made for the additional death benefit coverage be included in any annuity payable to any such member or to his beneficiary.

h. [A member who has elected to purchase the additional death benefit coverage provided by this section may file with the board of trustees, and alter from time to time during his lifetime, as desired, a duly attested, written, new nomination of the payee of the death benefit provided under this section. Such member may also file and alter from time to time during his lifetime, as desired, a request with the board of trustees directing payment of said benefit in one sum or in equal annual installments over a period of years or as a life annuity. Upon the death of such a member, a beneficiary to whom a benefit is payable in one sum may elect to receive the amount payable in equal installments over a period of years or as a life annuity.]

For the purpose of this section, a member shall be deemed to be in service (1) while he is disabled due to sickness or injury arising out of or in the course of his employment as a teacher to whom this article applies, is not engaged in any gainful occupation, and is receiving or entitled to receive periodic benefits (including any commutation of, or substitute for, such benefits) for loss of time on account of such disability under or by reason of workmen's compensation law, occupational disease law or similar legislation; or (2) for a period of no more than 2 years while on official leave of absence without pay if satisfactory evidence is presented to the retirement system that such leave of absence without pay is due to illness other than an illness to which (1) above applies. No contributions for the optional death benefits provided by this section shall be required of a member while he is deemed to be in service pursuant to the above provisions of this subsection h.

i. All other provisions of this section notwithstanding, this section and the benefits provided under this section shall not come into effect until a required percentage of the members shall have applied for the additional death benefit coverage under this section. This required percentage shall be fixed by the board of trustees. Any such percentage may be made applicable to male or female members only or to other groupings as determined by the board of trustees. Applications for such additional death benefit coverage shall be submitted to the [secretary of the board of trustees] system in such manner and upon such forms as the [board of trustees] retirement system shall provide.

j. Any person becoming a member of the retirement system after benefits provided under this section shall have come into effect, who is, by sex or other characteristic, within the grouping to which the additional death benefit coverage under this section is applicable, for the first year of his membership in the retirement system shall be covered by the additional death benefit coverage provisions of this section with the benefit in the event of death, in the first year of membership only, being based upon contractual salary instead of compensation actually received and shall make contributions as fixed by the board of trustees during such period. Such member shall have the right to continue to be covered by the benefits of this section and to contribute therefor after his first year of membership has been completed. This subsection shall not apply in the case of such a member who has already attained his sixtieth birthday prior to becoming a member of the retirement system unless he shall furnish satisfactory evidence of insurability at the time of becoming a member.”.

WHEREAS, The "Golden Warriors" band of Franklin High School in the Township of Franklin, County of Somerset, in competition with High school bands from all over the nation at the "Jaycees' Parade of States" in Phoenix, Arizona, was adjudged national champion, thus retaining a title which was acquired in similar competition at Baltimore Maryland, in 1967; and,

WHEREAS, With a spirit and determination equalling their musical proficiency, the members of the Franklin High School Band, in the course of the competition, maintained a smart, quick-step march through their hour-long march under a sweltering Arizona sun that raised the temperature to 115 degrees; and,

WHEREAS, The skill and spirit of the band members were ably seconded and supported by the residents of their community, who helped to raise the money for the transcontinental trip and many of whom accompanied the band to lend encouragement and assistance; and,

WHEREAS, The outstanding success of the Franklin Township High School Band in this nationwide competition is a source of great pride and satisfaction to the people of Franklin Township, Somerset County and New Jersey generally; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey:

That this House hereby congratulates the members of the Franklin High School Band and its marching units and Band Director Jack Pirone on the retention of their national championship, praises the skill and pluck which carried them through their grueling march with great verve and spirit, and commends the people of the community for the excellent support and encouragement given to an organization eminently deserving of such encouragement and support; and,

Be It Further Resolved, that this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the Senate and a duly authenticated copy, signed by the President of the Senate and attested by the Secretary of the Senate, be transmitted to the Franklin High School Band and its Director.

Mr. Hauser spoke on Senate Committee Resolution No. 14 under personal privilege as follows:

MEMORANDUM

June 24, 1968.

RE: SCR 14

Introduced January 9, 1968—Judiciary Committee

Reported January 15

Recommitted January 15

Public Hearing January 22

Reported with Committee Amendments February 5

Second Reading February 5

Judiciary Committee March 11

Second Public Hearing April 1

Reported April 1

Passed in the Senate amended April 8

Received in the Assembly, no reference April 18

Passed in the Assembly April 22

The Assembly Minutes of February 5, 1968, Book 1, show that on January 15, 1968, the Secretary of the Senate sent 80 copies to the Assembly and on resolution by Todd printed copies were placed on the desks of the members and that the Clerk did so.

The Senate Secretary's message of March 11, 1968, stated that 80 copies of SCR 14 with Senate Amendments requesting that they be placed on the desks of the General Assembly.

The Senate Minutes of March 14, 1968, show that SCR 14 with Senate Amendments was placed on the desks of members of the Senate on March 11. These Senate Minutes show a message from the Clerk of the Assembly that SCR 14 was placed on the desks of the members of the Assembly, but there was no mention of Senate Amendments being placed on the Assemblymen's desks.

The Assembly Minutes of March 11 show that printed copies of SCR 14 were placed on the desks of Assembly members but the Minutes do not mention that the Senate Amendments were placed on Assembly members' desks.

It is evident then that although copies of SCR 14 with Senate amendments were placed on desks of the members of the Senate, this was not done in the case of members of the Assembly. This is established by both the Minutes of the Senate as to the message from the Clerk of the Assembly and also by the Minutes of the Assembly itself. Therefore, under Article IX of the Constitution of New Jersey, Senate Rule 167, and Assembly Rules 17:4, etc., SCR 14 has been illegally passed and I move that SCR 14 be recalled and brought back into the possession of the Senate for further disposition.

Failure to do this will cause this matter to be printed on all the ballots for the November referendum and withdrawal thereof thereafter will prove to be an expense to the State and the counties.

Mr. President: I move that this statement be made part of the record on SCR 14 in this Senate.

Mr. President: I move that SCR 14 be recalled for the purpose of reconsideration.

Senator Frederick H. Hauser.

It was announced that the Senate Committee on Law, Public Safety and Defense will hold public hearings in the Assembly Chamber on September 16 on Senate Bill No. 897 and on September 17 and 18 on Senate Bill No. 802. The hearings will commence at 10:00 o'clock A. M. on each day.

Pursuant to Senate Rule 155 the members of the Assembly Committee on Law, Public Safety and Defense are invited to participate in said public hearings.

Mr. McDermott and all Senators offered the following resolution, which was read and adopted:

WHEREAS, In the death on August 13, 1968, of Joseph G. Carty, every member of the New Jersey Legislature lost an esteemed friend and the citizens of the States of New Jersey and New York lost a devoted and dedicated public servant; and

WHEREAS, For nearly fifty years Joe Carty served the veterans of this State and the nation effectively and with distinction as a leader in the American Legion, serving successively as a charter member of Plainfield-Donnelly Post No. 9, as its Commander, as Union County and New Jersey State Commander and as a member of the National Legislative Commission of the American Legion; and

WHEREAS, By successive appointments by three Governors, he served from 1950 until his death as a member of the Veterans Service Council of the State of New Jersey and by a recent appointment was named Chairman of that Council; and

WHEREAS, Since 1927 Mr. Carty served the Port of New York Authority and its predecessor commission, successively as paymaster, personnel director and, since 1946 as Secretary to the Port Authority, and as a diligent and effective representative of the Port of New York Authority in the halls of the New Jersey Legislature and as the recipient in 1960 of the Port Authority's Distinguished Service Medal; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey (the General Assembly concurring):

The members of the New Jersey Legislature record with deep regret the death of their esteemed friend, Joe Carty, and herewith record their individual and collective respect and admiration for his tireless work on behalf of his employer and the veterans of this State which will long be remembered.

2. The sympathy of each member of the New Jersey Legislature is extended to Mr. Carty's widow, his children and his grandchildren.

3. A copy of this resolution signed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the General Assembly and attested by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the General Assembly be forwarded to Mrs. Dorothy Carty.

The following messages were received from the General Assembly by the hands of its Clerk:

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 185, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would exempt properly identified members of the New Jersey National Guard from the payment of tolls on any toll road bridge or ferry within the State which they use while going to, or returning from, any required parade, encampment, drill, meeting or active duty for training.

For the reasons expressed in my veto message regarding Assembly Bill No. 400, I herewith return this bill without my approval.

Respectfully,

SENATE BILL No. 355

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 355, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill is similar to, and represents no substantial improvement over, Assembly Bill No. 142 of 1965, which I filed in the State Library without my approval. An accompanying statement explained my objections to that bill. Both that bill and the present bill are intended to authorize a municipality to prohibit parking on all streets in the municipality during a snowfall merely by posting signs at "the entrances and exits of the municipality."

This bill is objectionable because it does not provide for adequate notice to motorists of the special no-parking prohibition it authorizes, and because it fails to provide municipalities with any option to apply such a prohibition to some, but not all, of the streets within its borders.

Elementary concepts of fairness require that reasonable steps be taken to inform motorists of parking prohibitions on streets where they would otherwise expect to be able to park. Merely posting signs "at the entrances and exits of the municipality" is not adequate in these circumstances to provide effective notice.

Municipal restrictions on parking during a snowstorm may be necessary in order to facilitate snow-plowing and removal. But municipalities ought to be permitted greater flexibility than is provided by this bill. It may be more practical for some municipalities to establish such restrictions only on some streets, or only when the snowfall reaches a significant depth. For instance, the Teaneck ordinance involved in the case which first prompted the seeking of state legislation was applicable only when at least three inches of snow had accumulated on the streets.

While some state legislation on this subject may be desirable, I am convinced that the effect of this bill would be more harmful than beneficial. This bill would be unfair to motorists and impractical and unenforceable from the standpoint of the municipalities.

I therefore return Senate Bill No. 355 without my approval.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

SENATE BILL NO. 405

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 405, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would permit public employees who are receiving disability pension benefits because they were injured or disabled in the course of their employment to apply for and receive workmen's compensation benefits for the same injuries or disabilities.

Under present law, such a duplication of benefits is not possible and quite frequently a person will waive application for workmen's compensation benefits in order to qualify for the usually larger disability retirement benefits.

In determining disability retirement benefits, the pension systems of this State take into consideration compensation for injuries and disabilities. It is for this reason that these benefits are generally higher than those provided to persons who qualify for a service retirement pension based on longevity. To enable a person to qualify for a disability pension benefit, as well as a workmen's compensation benefit, would be a windfall. In fact, I have been informed that it is possible that some persons, if they were to receive both benefits, would receive an income exceeding their wages while working.

The resulting financial burden on all public employers from the application of this bill would be substantial. Based on the number of persons who retired last year and who are receiving disability benefits from the larger public pension systems in the State, it is estimated that the financial impact of this bill would be approximately $1.8 million the first year, of which about $900,000 would be borne by the State. This cost would double the following year, and would continue to grow substantially every year thereafter.

For the above reasons, I feel constrained to return this bill without my approval.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 687

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 687, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill provides that a qualified voter who is unable to go to the polls because of admission to a hospital as an emergency patient may apply for a civilian absentee ballot at any time within three days prior to the election.

Senate Bill No. 687 is no longer necessary. I recently signed into law Assembly Bill No. 276 which establishes a procedure for voting by hospital patients which is far more practical than that suggested by the instant measure. Under the provisions of Assembly Bill No. 276, each county election board will appoint special hospital election boards whose members will go into each hospital within the county to determine the voting eligibility of persons confined therein and who will supply eligible voters with an absentee ballot. This appears to be a more workable method to assure the right of vote to persons confined in hospitals than an act authorizing the filing of an application for an absentee ballot within three days of an election when it would be virtually impossible to complete the absentee ballot process within that three day period.

Lastly, Senate Bill No. 687 would amend the same section of law which was recently amended by Chapter 238 of the Laws of 1968. I could not approve this measure without repealing a portion of that law.

For these reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 687 without my approval.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,
Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 729

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 729, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would prohibit, and punish as a high misdemeanor, certain criminal offenses commonly known as loan sharking. However, an essential element of the offense so prescribed would be a showing that interest at a rate exceeding 50 per cent per annum had been charged. After consultation with numerous law enforcement officials, I must conclude that proof beyond a reasonable doubt of that essential element of the crime would be virtually impossible. Senate Bill No. 729 would serve to protect rather than punish loan sharks.

Common experience tells us that loan sharking is not some polite form of commercial transaction where neat records of interest charges are kept which may be subpoenaed by the prosecutor and introduced into evidence. We are not dealing with the occasional businessman who would engage in sharp practices to overreach his customers—an activity reasonably deterred by Senate Bill No. 759 which I have signed into law as chapter 256 of the Laws of 1968. Rather, we seek to root out a brutal racket where records are kept in the heads of gangsters and the method of collection is the threatening phone call, the midnight visit and the brutal beating. If we are serious about eliminating the evil practice of loan sharking then we should look at and punish the actual and provable activities of those who engage in that heinous crime. Senate Bill No. 754, which I have signed into law as chapter 83 of the Laws of 1968 does exactly that and in fact provides for more severe penalties than those which would be imposed by Senate Bill No. 729.

Finally, we should consider the potentially disastrous effects upon the administration of justice which could be produced if Senate Bill No. 729 were to become law and in the trial of a person indicated thereunder proof disclosed that only 49 per cent interest had been charged. The law then would appear to license a terrible crime.

For these reasons, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 729 without my approval.

SENATE BILL No. 744

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 744, without my approval, for the following reasons:

Senate Bill No. 744 would relinquish the interest of the State of New Jersey in a portion of lands subject to a tax lien arising out of an obligation under the Alcoholic Beverage Tax Law. Ostensibly, the Legislature would, by this measure, permit a judgment debtor, the owner of substantial real property, to deed lands subject to a State lien to enable such lands conveyed away to be increased substantially in value, and to dissolve the State's lien upon payment of the value of such parcel prior to its improvement. In effect, this private bill seeks to remit, at least in part, a tax obligation owed the State.

The Constitution, Article IV, Section 7, paragraph 9, specifically prohibits the adoption of "any private, special or local laws . . . relating to taxation or exemption therefrom". While by its terms this bill neither grants an exemption from taxation, nor does it relate explicitly to taxation, it is clearly in violation of the constitutional prohibition.

Sympathetic though I may be with the circumstances of the family in whose interest this bill is offered, I cannot countenance a proposal which could well establish a precedent inviting less than honorable schemes to avoid payment of our tax obligations. Though the taxpayer would pay $500 in consideration of the release of the lien against the conveyed parcel, that parcel is currently of far greater value, having been enhanced by the improvements of the taxpayer's son. The remaining portions of the tract against which the lien was filed and the improvements thereon are of insufficient value to satisfy the current obligation. This bill, insofar as it constitutes a relinquishment of an interest owned by the people of this State for less than full value, cannot be considered responsible legislation.

I therefore return Senate Bill No. 744 without my approval.

SENATE BILL No. 493

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 493, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would amend the law to limit the types of projects which may be undertaken by the New Jersey Highway Authority. It is common knowledge that the proponents of this bill have indicated strong objections to the construction of a cultural center in North Jersey by this Authority. This bill would, in effect, limit the Authority to projects which are directly related to the use of highway facilities and divest it of its current responsibility for operating the cultural center.

I need not make a decision as to the propriety of the Authority's action in the construction of a cultural center, since I am constrained to return this measure because it is defective.

In creating the Authority, the State made the following statutory pledge to bondholders:

"The State of New Jersey does pledge to and agree with the holders of the bonds or notes issued pursuant to authority contained in this act, that the State will not limit or restrict the rights hereby vested in the Authority to maintain, acquire, construct, reconstruct and operate any project as defined in this act or to establish and collect such tolls or other charges as may be convenient or necessary to produce sufficient revenues to meet the expenses of maintenance and operation thereof and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the holders of bonds or notes authorized by this act or in any way impair the rights or remedies of the holders of such bonds or notes until the bonds and notes, together with interest thereon, are fully paid and discharged. L. 1952, c. 16, p. 82, § 11." (Emphasis Added)

Since there are outstanding bonds, the limitation on authorized projects provided by Senate Bill No. 493 would be in violation of this specific covenant of the State with the bondholders, and well might be unconstitutional.

For these reasons I am returning herewith Senate Bill No. 493.

SENATE BILL No. 577

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 577, without my approval, for the following reasons:

Senate Bill No. 577 would effectively strip the Department of Health of authority to require the construction of regional facilities for the treatment of sewage. It was early recognized by those who observed the declining purity of the waters of New Jersey that adherence to arbitrary and irrelevant political boundaries in the fixing of jurisdiction to treat domestic and industrial wastes was inefficient and short-sighted, and, in fact, a factor contributing to continued pollution.

In 1965 the Legislature clearly enunciated a public policy which reflected the unanimous knowledge and experience of water conservationists.

“It is hereby declared to be the public policy of the State of New Jersey to encourage and support, as hereinafter provided, the promotion, planning, developing and construction of public sanitary sewerage facilities, including sewage collection, transmission, treatment and disposal works on a regional or multi-county basis.”
N. J. S. 26:2E-1, P. L. 1965, c. 121, State Public Sanitation Sewage Assistance Act of 1965.

Senate Bill No. 577, in reversing this policy, is the instrument of those who would cling to an outmoded response to today's community needs. The small treatment plants adequate decades ago no longer suffice to prevent the pollution and consequent destruction of our waterways; their unregulated proliferation will contribute heavily to our future inability to restore them.

The dangers inherent in this rejection of regional effort have stimulated the concern of the federal officials whose responsibility it is to assure equitable and effective distribution of federal anti-water pollution funds. The federal government, as well as the government of this State, recognizes the vital necessity of continued emphasis on regionalization. Correspondence prompted by the passage of this bill expresses the sincere dismay of the federal government, at the legislative thrust to weaken rather than advance the battle against pollution.

The Department of Health has encouraged regionalization and multi-community action not merely by refusing permission to create and operate non-regional facilities but also by contributing substantial funds to the development of engineering studies of the feasibility of multi-unit facilities. There is now available a workable state-wide plan designating those areas in which regionalization is both economically feasible and technically most efficient. Approval of Senate Bill No. 577 would render that plan and the real hope it provides for the availability of pure water in this State a futile gesture. Pursuant to existing law the Department of Health when presented with an application for sewage facilities feasible in all other respects, may nevertheless, disapprove such application on the sole grounds that the facility does not comply with a regional program. There is sufficient flexibility in the law to permit the selective construction of non-regional interim treatment facilities to prevent the inhibition of residential and commercial development apparently feared by the sponsors of this legislation.

I therefore return Senate Bill No. 577 without such approval.

Respectfully,

RICHARD J. HUGHES,

Governor.

SENATE BILL No. 243

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section 1, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 243, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would provide for the State licensure of master plumbers by a State board of examiners of master plumbers.

Over the years, it has been increasingly apparent that licensure of master plumbers by individual municipalities, which has application only within the physical boundaries of such municipality, is antiquated in our modern mobile society. A plumber today, in order to work in several municipalities, is required to obtain a license in each municipality. In addition to the obvious nuisance factor, limited licenses of this nature have been known to be used in an improper manner to limit competition.

I therefore am in agreement with the main purpose of this bill, namely, to provide for a State license which will permit a master plumber to work throughout the State. The licensure provisions of this bill, however, gives the master plumber a choice between obtaining a municipal license or a State license. This will of course limit the effective supervision of activities of plumbers by the State Board and may be confusing to the public. Therefore, I would recommend to this Legislature that careful study be given to the advisability of deleting, by future legislation, the authority for municipal licensure of master plumbers.

In reviewing the provisions of this measure, certain technical defects were disclosed, and I would recommend that the Legislature amend the bill to clarify the powers and duties of the board, the qualifications for licensure, and to assure that the board will be financially selfsustaining.

For these reasons, I return herewith Senate Bill No. 243 and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 2, section 3, line 8, delete "2" and insert in lieu thereof "one".

On page 2, section 3, line 10, delete "one" and insert in lieu thereof "2".

On page 2, section 3, line 10, delete "a representative" and insert in lieu thereof "representatives".

On page 2, section 6, lines 9 and 10, delete "subject to the civil service laws".

On page 2, section 6, line 13, after "Treasury." insert "All expenditures deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of this act shall be paid by the State Treasurer from the license fees and other sources of income of the board, within the limits of available appropriations according to law, but in no event shall expenditures exceed the revenues of the board during any fiscal year."

On page 2, section 7, lines 1 through 6, delete the section in its entirety and insert in lieu thereof, "The State board may adopt, amend and promulgate such rules and regulations which may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act; provided, however, that the board's jurisdiction shall not include the regulation or determination of matters relating to trade or craft jurisdiction or the determination of whether any particular class of employee is entitled to perform any particular work."

On page 6, section 22, lines 14 through 16, delete the sentence in its entirety.

On page 6, section 22, line 12, delete ''.'' and insert in lieu thereof '' ; or''.

SENATE BILL NO. 373

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section 1, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 373, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would require that all motor vehicle license plates issued subsequent to December 31, 1968, shall be treated with special reflectorized materials. Because reflectorized plates may contribute—even if only slightly—to improved highway safety, I approve the purpose of this bill.

However, the production of reflectorized plates will require the use of different materials and the installation of new equipment by the Bureau of State Use Industries, which manufactures the plates for the State. The quantity of materials already on hand or contracted for, and which will not be suitable for use in the reflectorized plates, and cannot be readily disposed of for other purposes, will not be exhausted until plates have been produced to supply most of the estimated needs for the first half of 1969. Production of the new, reflectorized plates will require installation of large-scale new equipment, because the process involves heating, laminating, and baking procedures not required for the present plates. The new equipment cannot be fitted into the present assembly-line and will necessitate the transfer of operations to a new assembly-line.

To facilitate the orderly transition in manufacture and distribution of plates from the present type to the new reflectorized plates, I recommend that the deadline after which the present type of plates may not be distributed be postponed until August 31, 1969. It is expected that the distribution of new plates will begin well before that date, but this schedule will provide time for restocking plate supplies in the motor vehicle agencies and will afford reasonable leeway in case any difficulties are encountered in the new production process.

The postponement I recommend will avoid disrupting the worthwhile program of helping to rehabilitate correctional inmates through constructive work under the Bureau of State Use Industries and will also avoid a substantial waste of State funds. The only way the State could possibly obtain reflectorized plates for distribution starting next January would be to purchase the plates on an emergency basis from some private manufacturer. There is no assurance that such arrangements could be made.

I therefore recommend that the bill be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, in lines 21 through 23, delete: "All registration plates or markers issued subsequent to December 31, 1968, shall be treated by the department with special reflectorized materials designed to increase the visibility and legibility thereof." In lieu thereof, insert the following: "All registration plates or markers issued by the department subsequent to August 31, 1969, shall be treated with special reflectorized materials designed to increase the visibility and legibility thereof."

SENATE BILL No. 559

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 559, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Senate Bill No. 559 seeks to clarify section 34 of The Banking Act of 1948 by providing that the qualifying certificate necessary to appointment as a fiduciary by a court or officer of the State shall be, in the case of a national bank, the certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency. The existing law makes no distinction between national banks and banks subject to the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance and appears to require the Commissioner to certify the qualifications of all.

It is proper that the certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency be relied upon in determining the qualification of a national bank, however, the language employed in Senate Bill No. 559 to accomplish that end misses the mark. While the statement appended to Senate Bill No. 559 announces its purpose to be the facilitation of the qualification of a national bank, the bill itself appears to require dual certification by the Comptroller and the Commissioner. I therefore suggest amendments which I believe will, in fact, clarify the procedure to be followed by a national bank, and which also reflect other technical changes recommended to me by the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance as more in keeping with modern banking practices.

Senate Bill No. 559 would also clarify the right of a trust company to deposit securities held by it with another bank. No discussion of this aspect of the bill is necessary since I have already signed into law Assembly Bill No. 645 which, in identical language, clarifies the same right.

For the reasons stated above, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 559 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 4, after "qualified bank" insert "or qualified savings bank".

On page 1, section 1, line 7, after "qualified bank" insert "or qualified savings bank".

On page 1, section 1, line 8, after "officer." insert "Such certificate shall be dated not earlier than 30 days prior to the date of its presentment to the court or officer, provided the court or officer is located in a county other than that in which the qualified bank or qualified savings bank is domiciled. In the case of a qualified bank or qualified savings bank located in the same county as the court or officer, such certificate shall be dated not earlier than one year prior to the date of its presentment."

On page 1, section 1, line 9, delete "qualified bank" and insert "qualified banking institution".

SENATE BILL No. 565

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, Paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 565, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would require payment by any taxpayer of 75% of a tax assessed against him prior to disposition of his appeal to the Division of Tax Appeals provided that six months has elapsed from institution of his appeal. The bill is designed to save from financial embarrassment those taxing districts which are deprived of substantial revenue pending the judgment of the Division of Tax Appeals on review of local property tax assessments. In some cases a single taxpayer contributes a substantial proportion of the entire revenue to the taxing district; thus, where issues regarding evaluation and taxability are vigorously contested, where amounts in controversy are great and where final resolution of these issues by the Division of Tax Appeals is delayed, some municipalities are made to suffer potentially disastrous financial hardship for substantial periods of time.

Unfortunately, the bill as adopted by the Legislature applies equally to the modest home owner as well as to the mammoth corporate property owner. In this respect, a mandatory and automatic early payment of a contested tax, triggered merely by the passage of time, could work an inequity upon a taxpayer even where a taxing district could suffer no hardship by further delay.

More equitable, and indeed more responsive to the dangers of the current situation would be a provision designed to permit, initially, each taxing district to itself assess the necessity for an early payment of controverted taxes and to require such taxing districts to establish, in a summary manner, objective facts indicating a necessity for such extraordinary relief. Such a procedure should invest the Division of Tax Appeals with little discretion in responding to the need of the community as evaluated by its representatives, and should deny to the taxpayer claim of financial distress in defense of the order to pay pending appeal. Finally, such order should be enforceable as is any other procedural order of the Division of Tax Appeals.

Accordingly, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 565 for reconsideration and recommend that it should be amended as follows:

On page 1, Section 1, Lines 4, 5 and 6, delete "in which a final judgment has not been or shall not have been rendered within six months from the date of the filing of the petition of appeal to the Division".

On Page 1, Section 1, Line 7, following "shall", insert " , upon order of the Division of Tax Appeals, ".

On Page 1, following Line 17 insert a new section as follows: "2. An order of the Division of Tax Appeals providing for payment of 75% of the tax pending appeal shall issue upon the motion of any taxing district supported by affidavit or other reliable evidence that a) no final judgment has been rendered by the Division of Tax Appeals; b) that more than six months has elapsed from the date upon which

I have not altered my opinion that within the fiscal program which this Legislature saw fit to adopt a wiser allocation of resources could have and should have been made. However, I cannot close my eyes to the fact that as a result of the frank and open discussion which has taken place, legislative authorization has been obtained for a $12.5 million housing bond issue to go on the ballot in November. If that issue is approved by the people — and it will be if both political parties honor the unconditional commitment of support which they freely gave — a beginning will be had toward a solution of housing problems. I do not believe that the Legislature will ignore the opportunity which I have given it today in my conditional veto of Senate Bill No. 841 to address itself, at long last, to the grave and emergent educational problems confronting numerous school districts in this State.

If the housing bonds are approved and if emergency school education is authorized we will at least have demonstrated our concern. I am confident that the effort, once begun, will be followed to its inevitable conclusion — a decent education and a decent home for every citizen of this State. In these circumstances a State aid program for municipalities — the need for which I have never denied — is acceptable.

The program, however, is acceptable only if some sensible standard is laid down for the use of the money to be returned to the municipalities. Some overriding purpose must be served. There is no better purpose to be served — at this turbulent time in our nation's history, when crime in the streets and organized criminal activity concern all our people — than the purpose of law enforcement. I am therefore recommending that the moneys returned to the municipalities by Senate Bill No. 721 be used solely and exclusively for law enforcement purposes. It is not sufficient that we support our police by slogans when it is within our power to do something about the shamefully low salaries which we pay. For instance, a patrolman in the City of Trenton receives a beginning salary of $6,725 per year. His counterpart in Bridgeton receives $5,400 and in Newark, where the difficult problems confronting the police are well known, the beginning salary is $6,951. We cannot in good conscience continue to ask young men to risk their lives in defense of society and at the same time deny them a living wage. It is not enough that we decry violence in our cities and the growing power of organized crime when we can provide money for training, communications and police-community relations to efficiently combat those twin evils. Parenthetically, I note that the great demands now being placed upon our uniformed firemen, particularly during instances of civil disorder, warrant their inclusion in any plan for increased compensation.

To those who would argue that conditioning the use of State-aid money for law enforcement is proper in regards to large municipalities but does not reflect the needs of smaller communities, I call attention to recently published statistics of the Federal Bureau of Investigation documenting the alarming increase of crime in suburban America. Crimes against person and property have increased sharply in the most prosperous communities. Narcotics pushers ply their dirty trade in the suburb as well as the city. The record is tragically clear — there is not a municipality in the State which does not have a need for some improvement of law enforcement, even including a regional defense against crime. Adoption of the recommendations contained herein will provide the means by which every municipality, acting separately or jointly, can step up its efforts against crime.

In order that the State be assured that law enforcement purposes are being served by the revenue returned under Senate Bill No. 721, I am recommending that each municipality's allocation be set aside until such time as a plan for its use has been approved by the newly created State Law Enforcement Planning Agency (SLEPA). This agency, created by Executive Order No. 45, is composed of representatives of the three branches of government and is already charged with the administration of funds received by this State under the Federal Safe Streets and Crime Act. It has been estimated that the State of New Jersey will be entitled to approximately $16 million per year under the federal program. SLEPA will plan for its use and assist municipalities in deriving the greatest possible benefit from that money. Oversight by SLEPA as to the use of State money under Senate Bill No. 721 will provide a coordinated State-Federal-local effort under which municipalities can use State money to match federal contributions, thereby assuring a maximum effort against crime.

Finally, I am suggesting that the formula for distribution of money under this program be somewhat modified as to more truly reflect the current burden upon individual mumunicipalities and the efforts that those municipalities are making to help themselves. Rather than reliance strictly upon population, I recommend that the money be apportioned under this act based on the ratio which a municipality's tax levy for local purposes bears to the total raised for local purposes by all the municipalities of this State. In this way, those municipalities which have the greatest need for police, fire, sanitation and other services will receive a fairer share of the money to be distributed.

Much has been said for and against Senate Bill No. 721. At times the debate has been acrimonious and bitter. I hope that the controversy can now be ended on the common ground of our desire to bring peace to the streets and security to the homes of our State. Partisan differences could not be laid aside for a more worthy goal.

For these reasons, I return herewith Senate Bill No. 721 and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, delete lines 2 and 3 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“a. ‘Taxes raised for local purposes’ means that amount raised for local municipal purposes, exclusive of bank stock taxes, and district school taxes as shown in the table of aggregates prepared pursuant to Revised Statutes 54:4-52(19)b.”

On page 2, section 2, lines 7 and 8, delete “general municipal purposes”, and insert in lieu thereof, “law enforcement purposes. Said money to be set aside in a special account and released to the respective municipality upon approval of a plan for its use for law enforcement purposes to be submitted to and approved by the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency (SLEPA) created by Executive Order No. 45.

In reviewing any plan submitted to it, the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency shall take into consideration the compatability or incompatibility of said plan with a comprehensive statewide law enforcement plan”.

On page 2, section 3, line 9, delete "population of" and insert in lieu thereof "amount of taxes raised for local purposes by".

On page 2, section 5, line 6, after "act." insert "The allocation shall be determined on the amounts to be raised by taxation for local municipal purposes during the year in which certification pursuant to this section is made."

On page 2, section 5, line 10, delete "." and insert in lieu thereof ", provided the use to which said money is to be put has been approved by the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency."

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section 1, paragraph 14 (b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 746, without my approval, for the following reasons:

Senate Bill No. 746 is the last in a series of bills which have been introduced in this Legislature to resolve the thorny problem of establishing a fair and equitable procedure for the resolution of legitimate public employee grievances which does not impinge upon the public's right to uninterrupted service from the various branches of government. This measure is not perfect nor do I expect to be able to perfect it by the series of amendments which I propose. (I do believe, however, that those amendments substantially improve the bill.) We cannot wait for perfection when vital public services have been halted or confronted with the threat of interruption in such areas as police and fire protection, education, institutional care and transportation. We must get on with the job, even with the knowledge that in moving into a rapidly-changing field—the relations between public employers and public employees—we will make mistakes.

While Senate Bill No. 746 is not perfect, it enjoys an advantage which no previous piece of legislation has enjoyed—the substantial support of most employee groups. Employee confidence in the machinery for resolving disputes is clearly more important to satisfactory employer-employee relations than is the machinery itself. I do not doubt that theoretically more sound procedures for the resolution of grievances than those contained in Senate Bill No. 756 could be developed. There are bills pending before this Legislature which contain such procedures, but they have not attracted substantial support. The sponsor of this bill is to be congratulated for his success in reconciling the previously irreconcilable views of a number of employee groups. Nor should we fail to recognize the great contribution made by the Public and School Employees' Grievance Procedure Study Commission. While frankly not enough of that distinguished group's recommendations have found their way into Senate Bill No. 746, it is clear that it was the Study Commission's deliberations that unraveled many of the conceptual problems which impeded prior legislation in this area.

Senate Bill No. 746 is a significant step, however, it can and in some instances must be improved upon before it is added to the statute books of this State.

First, of paramount concern to me is the fact that the bill, as presently drafted, appears to suggest that public employees have a right to strike, contrary to long-established judicial interpretations of the New Jersey Constitution. Whether by indirection or otherwise, the Legislature in a last-minute amendment struck from Senate Bill No. 746 language disavowing any intention upon its part of enlarging upon the rights of public employees under the Constitution. That deletion, considered in conjunction with certain other provisions of the bill, implies that public employees may engage in work stoppages. The Public and School Employees' Grievance Procedure Study Commission developed a concept of collective negotiations which embraces a bundle of bargaining rights up to but not inclusive of the right of public employees to strike. But for the defects noted in the act, I would assume the Legislature intends that the term "collective negotiations" be given no greater scope than did the Study Commission. If, however, the Legislature intends more, it should be clearly understood that the Governor of this State will not become a willing partner. I have suggested language which will remove all doubt as to the intention of Senate Bill No. 746 on this subject.

Secondly, I have been advised by the Attorney General of the State of New Jersey that the provisions of Senate Bill No. 746 dealing with the presentation of grievances by individual public employees is in violation of the New Jersey Constitution. Article I, Section 19, paragraph 2 of the Constitution provides, in pertinent part:

“Persons in public employment shall have the right to organize, present to and make known . . . their grievances and proposals through representatives of their own choosing.”

That right cannot be conditioned upon the absence of a majority organization as this bill attempts to do. That is not to say that exclusive representation for purposes of collective negotiations cannot be conferred so long as the basic minimal rights of all public employees are preserved. I have suggested an amendment which I believe accomplishes that dual purpose.

Thirdly, in developing a procedure for public employee grievances we must take care that there are no untoward intrusions upon the civil service system. In 1962, President Kennedy's Task Force, in recommending adoption of Executive Order 10988 providing certain collective negotiating procedures for federal employees noted:

“The task force wishes . . . to note its conviction that there need be no conflict between the system of employee-management relations proposed . . . and The Civil Service Merit System, which is and should remain the essential basis of the personnel policy of the Federal Government . . .”

The Public and School Employees' Grievance Procedure Study Commission also took the position that a system of collective negotiations could operate without assault upon the established civil service method of recruiting, selecting and promoting government employees on the basis of merit, provided, however, that legislation establishing collective negotiations did not abrogate, modify or hinder established civil service law, regulations or procedures. Language safeguarding civil service procedures was incorporated into Senate Bill No. 502, the bill to implement the Study Commission's report in toto, and I am recommending that the language now be engrafted upon Senate Bill No. 746.

Fourthly, I have noted, at the outset, the extreme importance of having employee confidence in whatever procedure is set down for the redress of their grievances. The other side of that same coin is that where a group of employees and their employers desire to pursue non-adversary procedures for the solution of grievances they should be permitted to do so. I have been asked by college administrators and by organizations representing college professors to exclude faculty members from the coverage of this act so that the evolving pattern of

In view of this apparent unanimity, I am recommending such an amendment.

In addition to the above, I am making a number of other recommendations for amendment of this measure which I believe will:

- (1) clarify the definition section;
- (2) eliminate ambiguities in the structure of the agency;
- (3) enlarge the Commission so as to permit a broader representation of employer and employee interests;
- (4) preserve managerial initiatives in the formulating of new policies; and
- (5) clarify other technical defects in the bill.

Finally, Senate Bill No. 746 as presently written would go into effect immediately. It is my belief that an adequate time ought to be given for the selection of the most competent persons possible to perform the very delicate and difficult task awaiting the Commission and to give those persons an opportunity to develop workable rules and procedures. I therefore recommend that the effective date of the act be extended until January 1, 1969. During this interim period the Legislature should seriously consider whether the $100,000 appropriated for this purpose is sufficient in light of the experiences with similar legislation in other states. For instance, I am informed that the New York State Public Employment Relations Board, with jurisdiction over approximately one million workers, has a budget of $1 million. It is extremely unlikely that adequate attention will be given to the needs of the 340,000 public employees in this State with a budget of $100,000.

For these reasons I herewith return Senate Bill No. 746 and recommend that it be amended as follows:

SENATE BILL NO. 769

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section 1, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 769, with my objections, for reconsideration.

The bill would require all employers subject to the Federal Unemployment Tax Act to provide unemployment compensation and temporary disability benefits for their employees, except for those expressly excluded by R. S. 43:21-19 (i) (7). Among those groups exempted by this subsection are employees of the State or any of its political subdivisions, or any instrumentality of the State or any of its political subdivisions.

I am in full agreement with the expansion of coverage provided by this bill. However, notwithstanding the specific exemption of public employees, the title and section 2 of the bill seem to imply that certain public employees may be entitled to unemployment compensation and temporary disability benefits. Since this is not the case, I believe the bill should be amended to eliminate the language creating this ambiguity.

Also, it has been pointed out that some employing units may be subject to the federal employment tax one year, and not the next. Therefore, as presently provided in this bill, it would be impossible, in the early part of any given year, to determine whether or not an employee is eligible under the provisions of this bill for unemployment compensation and temporary disability benefits. In order to avoid any delay in processing such applications, I would suggest that the eligibility of any such employee be based on whether or not the employing unit was subject to said tax either during the current year, or the preceding year.

I am accordingly returning Senate Bill No. 769 for reconsideration with the recommendation that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, title, lines 1 through 6, delete the title in its entirety, and insert in lieu thereof: "An Act concerning unemployment compensation and temporary disability benefits, and amending section 43:21-19 of the Revised Statutes."

On page 4, section 1, line 131, following "Act", insert "within either the current or the preceding calendar year".

On page 4, section 1, line 132, delete " ;".

On page 9, section 2, lines 1 through 11, delete the section in its entirety.

On page 9, section 3, line 1, delete "3", and insert in lieu thereof "2".

Respectfully,

SENATE BILL No. 841

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section 1, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 841, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This measure provides that every school district shall receive an additional apportionment of $25 per resident pupil, beginning July 1, 1969. It has been estimated that the total cost to the State of this additional aid would exceed $34 million.

I have from the outset indicated that I would approve a measure increasing the State aid formula even though one might argue that such an increase in advance of the final report of the State Aid Study Commission, chaired by the distinguished Senator from Somerset County, Senator Raymond H. Bateman, is premature. No one can doubt the fact that the taxpayers of this State need, and are entitled to, tax relief. By increasing State aid to education, the State will be alleviating the heavy burdens of the cost of education which now fall upon the taxpayers of this State. My support for this taxpayer relief was evident even when the Legislature was considering assisting only those municipalities which presently receive minimum aid. My support for these proposals, however, has been premised upon the abiding belief which I have, that the Legislature, in increasing State aid, would not ignore the very real educational crisis confronting the poorest school districts in this State.

It is common and shameful knowledge that too many of our schools, particularly those in our urban communities, are turning out those not well educated, and in fact in some extreme cases, functional illiterates. The burden which the in-migration of persons having special educational problems has placed upon these schools has made effective education virtually impossible. We must provide emergency assistance because the problem is truly emergent. We cannot leave the school systems of our great cities to flounder and finally collapse any more than State government could ignore natural disasters. In the past when the New Jersey shore was ravaged by hurricane, State government, on behalf of all the people of the State, took emergency action. In the last session of this Legislature, emergency action was taken to assist the flood victims in several northern counties of this State. We can do no less in the face of an educational crisis. This is one State and one people and if the educational system fails in one part of the State its ramifications are felt throughout. We need only look at rising crime rates, and rising welfare costs to see some of these effects.

There is before this Legislature a measure sponsored by Senator Woodcock of Bergen County, which would appropriate $25 million to the Department of Education so that special educational programs could be implemented in those school districts where they are most needed. I sincerely wish the Legislature had seen fit to pass that measure. Since it did not, and since the Constitution precludes me from increasing items of appropriation contained in a bill, I am suggesting that a compromise be struck through the amendment of Senate Bill No. 841. I am recommending that the increase in State aid which this bill provides be reduced from $25 to $20 per resident pupil and that the balance of the $34 million be allocated for emergency assistance in needy school districts effective January 1, 1969.

On page 1, section 1, after line 2, insert new sections as follows:

"2. The Commissioner of Education with the approval of the State Board of Education shall have the authority and responsibility for making grants to school districts for educational programs and services designed to meet the needs of children who, because of environmental factors, are handicapped in their ability to profit from instruction, (hereinafter referred to as environmentally handicapped children) and to stimulate and assist in the development of exemplary and innovative educational programs in areas where there are high concentrations of such environmentally handicapped children.

"3. The State Board of Education shall promulgate rules and regulations for the granting of funds as hereinafter provided, which may be used for, but need not be limited to the following:

(a) The planning and development of programs which invent a creative solution to a problem related to the education of the environmentally handicapped,

Demonstrate an exemplary program which has possible widespread use,

Adapt an exemplary or innovative program to local circumstances and organize its incorporation into the local educational program.

(b) The lease, renovation or construction of facilities and the acquisition of such equipment as may be necessary for the operation of the program.

(c) Other expenses for programs and services necessary for the successful completion of the project.

“4. The determination of the eligibility of a local school district shall be based on the number of children of families receiving in excess of $2,000.00 annually from payments under the approved State plan for aid to dependent children under Title IV of the Social Security Act as of January 31, 1967 on enrollment as of June 30, of the fiscal year prior to that in which application for a grant is made.

“5. The Commissioner of Education shall, with the approval of the State Board of Education, promulgate rules and regulations, establish procedures, acquire personnel, and take all other necessary steps to insure the implementation of the provisions of this act.

“6. The Department of Education shall receive an amount equal to the sum of $5 multiplied by the total number of resident pupils eligible for State assistance in this State for the purposes set forth in sections 2, 3, 4 and 5 of this act.”

On page 1, section 2, line 1, delete “2.” and insert in lieu thereof “7.”.

To the Senate:

Pursuant to the policemen and firemen pension law, a member is entitled to receive a disability pension of two-thirds of his salary if he is permanently disabled while in the line of duty and 40 per cent of his salary for all other types of permanent disabilities. These disability benefits are based on the member's inability to perform the normal duties of a policeman or fireman and are granted without consideration of longevity of service. It is, however, recognized under this law, that even though such a person may be permanently disabled, he may, under certain circumstances be able to obtain employment. Therefore, the present law provides that a retirant, who is employed, can earn a salary up to the amount he would have been making as a full-time policeman or fireman. If he currently earns more than that amount, his pension benefit is reduced by the difference between his present salary and the salary now attributable to persons in his former position. Senate Bill No. 105 would amend this section to permit a policeman or fireman who receive a disability pension, to earn, without limitation, other monies and receive his full pension benefit.

I recognize that this present limitation on the earning capacities of these retirants may in certain cases be an economic burden. Obviously, depending on the nature of the permanent disability and the age of the retirant, his present earning capacities may be in excess of the present salary which would have been paid to him if he was able to remain a policeman or fireman. I would therefore, recommend that the bill be amended to increase by 25 per cent, the amount of earnings that such a person may receive without a reduction of his pension benefits. This modification is reflective of the promotional opportunities and the resulting increase of salaries, which may have been earned by the retirant if he was able to remain in public service. It also retains for the Division of Pensions of the Department of the Treasury, a review of the earning capacities of persons receiving disability pensions which is a good indication of the continuance of his incapacitations.

For these reasons, I return herewith Senate Bill No. 105 and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 2, section 1, line 28, insert the following paragraph:

“(3) If such beneficiary is engaged in an occupation paying more than the difference between (a) his retirement allowance and (b) the salary now attributable to his former position in the police or fire department plus 25 per cent in excess of such salary, the amount of his pension shall be reduced to an amount which, together with his annuity and the amount of his earnings, shall equal the amount of the salary now attributable to his former position in the police and fire department plus 25 per cent in excess of such salary. Should his earnings be later changed, the amount of his pension shall be further modified; provided, that the new position shall not exceed the amount of the pension originally granted."

On page 2, section 1, line 29, delete "(3)" and insert in lieu thereof "(4)".

SENATE BILL No. 494

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 494, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would amend the "Municipal Planning Act (1953)," P. L. 1953, c. 433, to specify more detailed procedures whereby subdivision developers may obtain release of the performance guarantees which municipalities may require to assure satisfactory installation of improvements. I recognize the desirability of spelling out such procedures in the statute so as to attempt to reduce the quantity of litigation on this subject.

Ideally, such steps should be considered as part of an over-all, systematic revision of our land use laws. Regardless of whatever action this Legislature takes with respect to this bill, I would hope that it will give further attention to the subject in considering a new Land Use Law during the next session.

In the meantime, however, I am recommending certain amendments to the present bill in order to assure protection of the interests of municipal taxpayers and of prospective residents of subdivisions as well to prevent undue hardships to the developers.

The 60-day period in which the municipal engineer would be required by this bill to make his inspections of the improvements and to submit his report to the governing body may sometimes prove inadequate to complete the thorough inspection that the public interest may require. Furthermore, the bill in its present form fails to achieve its purpose of assuring the developer that the municipality will act within a reasonable time to release the performance guaranty bond, because no time limit is provided for municipal action after receipt of the engineer's report. Since the developer is concerned only with the total time it takes to obtain release of the bond, I suggest that a single time period of 180 days be established to cover the three steps of (1) the governing body directing the engineer to make the inspection, (2) the engineer completing the inspection and submitting his report, and (3) the governing body acting on the report.

In order to avoid any danger that municipal claims under a performance bond may be forfeited because of a misunderstanding, it appears sensible to require the developer to indicate clearly his intent to take advantage of the bill's time limit, before the provision for automatic approval through municipal inaction can take effect. Otherwise, situations could arise in which the developer concedes that the municipal engineer's inspection has revealed the need for further improvements and while the municipality delays final action to permit completion of such work, the expiration of the time period causes forfeiture of the municipality's claims regardless of the merits of the case. Notification of the completion of the improvements is normally a routine step; a conflict between the developer and the municipality because of failure of the municipality to grant approval is less routine. The initial routine notice probably should not be allowed to trigger the running of a period which could automatically result in substantial losses to a municipality and its taxpayers. The requirement of a second notice is not too onerous a burden to place upon the developers. Although the maximum period of eight months in which a municipality could stall is longer than normally should be necessary to complete municipal action, it nevertheless would be a vast improvement over the far longer delays that now sometimes occur. I invite further review of this procedure during consideration of the forthcoming Land Use Law.

Although the bill exempts maintenance bonds from the effects of its provisions, it appears desirable to accompany the drastic restrictions here placed on the utilization of performance bonds with explicit provisions for, and restrictions on, maintenance bonds. Otherwise, the litigation now surrounding performance bonds is likely merely to be transferred to the subject of maintenance bonds. I am, therefore, proposing that this bill incorporate a provision on this subject which had been prepared as a recommendation for inclusion in the proposed Land Use Law.

Maintenance bonds enable the municipality to retain some protection against latent defects in the improvements which may not be readily apparent. The passage of time is needed to allow for soil settling and to reveal whether the improvements will withstand freezing weather and the effects of other seasonal changes, before a municipality can confidently release all security on subdivision improvements.

Other amendments recommended here are in the nature of clarifying language. A slight delay in the effective date appears desirable to permit adjustment to the new procedures required under the bill.

On page 1, lines 21 and 22, after "shall" delete " , within 45 days after receipt of such notice,".

On page 1, line 25, delete "made within".

On page 2, lines 26 and 27, delete "60 days after receipt by him of the aforesaid authorization from the governing body; said report shall be".

On page 2, lines 28 and 29, delete "approval or rejection of said improvements, either in whole or in part, and if" and insert in lieu thereof "either approval, partial approval, or rejection. If".

On page 2, line 32, insert the following additional sentence: "Where said report indicates partial approval of said improvements, it shall indicate the cost of the improvements for which approval is rejected or withheld."

On page 2, line 33, after "shall" insert "accept or reject the improvements, grant partial approval, or withhold approval, on the basis of such report and shall”.

On page 2, line 35, delete “.” and insert thereafter “not later than 180 days after receipt of the notice from the obligor of the completion of the improvements. Where partial approval is granted, the obligor shall be released from all liability pursuant to its performance guaranty bond, except for that portion adequately sufficient to secure the improvements not yet approved.”

On page 2, lines 36 through 40, delete this paragraph in its entirety and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“If the municipal governing body fails to send such notification to the obligor within 180 days, the obligor may notify the governing body, in writing, by certified or registered mail, with a copy thereof sent to the municipal engineer, that failure of the governing body to provide the obligor with such notification within 60 days shall constitute approval of the improvements. Within 60 days after receipt of this warning notice, the governing body shall send such notification of the contents of the report and its action with relation thereto to the obligor by certified or registered mail. Failure of the governing body to send or provide such notification to the obligor within 60 days shall be deemed to constitute approval of the improvements and the obligor and surety, if any, shall be released from all liability, pursuant to its performance guaranty bond.”

On page 2, after line 55, insert the following:

“Before final approval of plats the governing body may require, in accordance with the standards adopted by ordinance, the installation, or the furnishing of a performance guarantee in lieu thereof, of any or all of the following improvements it may deem to be necessary or appropriate: street grading, pavement, gutters, curbs, sidewalks, street lighting, shade trees, surveyor’s monuments, water mains, culverts, storm sewers, sanitary sewers or other means of sewage disposal, drainage structures, and such other subdivision improvements as the municipal governing body may find necessary in the public interest.

“The municipality may also require a maintenance guarantee for a period not to exceed 2 years after final acceptance of the improvement, in an amount not to exceed 15 per cent of the cost of the improvement or of the original installation.”

SENATE BILL No. 524

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section 1, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution I herewith return Senate Bill No. 524, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This bill would validate and confirm conveyances of land made in the name of any corporation which had expired by its own limitation or had been annulled by the Legislature, or otherwise dissolved.

Under the provisions of this act, a conveyance of land made by a corporation which had lost its franchise because of non-payment of corporation taxes, would be validated. It has been the policy of this State to require defunct corporations to pay a corporation reinstatement fee, which includes the payment of outstanding corporation taxes, before they may perform any further corporate activities. Senate Bill No. 524 could validate corporation conveyances, notwithstanding the fact that said corporation had not paid their outstanding corporation taxes.

It is my understanding that the sponsors of this measure did not intend such a result and therefore, I would recom-

It should be noted at the outset that just four years ago the Legislature passed Senate Bill No. 247 of 1964, which would have increased the minimum number of rooms required for licensure under N. J. S. A. 33:1-12.20 from 50 rooms to 100 rooms. I was reliably assured then, as indeed I have been recently, that the economics of hotel-motel industry were such that establishments of 50 rooms or less — each with an initial construction cost of $8,000.-$13,000. — were the predominant mode of construction. Four years ago, and all the more so today, complete meal and beverage service is a sine qua non of a financially successful hotel or motel. In the absence of any credible showing of destructive competitive practices, my approval of Senate Bill No. 247 (1964) would have required an initial investment from prospective hotel-motel operators twice that proven most financially sound. Such a result would have served merely to depress, rather than sustain or stimulate, the hotel-motel industry so essential to the continued vitality of New Jersey's resort economy. Accordingly, my assessment of the patent anti-competitive tendencies of Senate Bill No. 247 (1964) — absent assurances of other protections for the public interest — prompted me to file Senate Bill No. 247 (1964) in the State Library without my approval on March 8, 1965.

The passage of time has amply borne out the conclusions I drew four years ago with respect to Senate Bill No. 247 (1964). Moreover, I have not been presented any evidence whatsoever which demonstrates that those conclusions do not also hold true today. Accordingly I still conclude that an increase in the minimum number of rooms required for licensure under Section 33:1-12.20 of the Alcoholic Beverage Law from 50 to 100 rooms is not warranted. To the extent, then, that Senate Bill No. 498 (1968) provides for such an increase, I must withhold my approval of Senate Bill No. 498 (1968) in its present form.

To the extent, however, that Senate Bill No. 498 (1968) clarifies the eligibility of motels — as distinct from hotels — for licensure under Section 33:1-12.20 of the Alcoholic Beverage Law, I heartily endorse the bill. The enactment of such provisions is wholly consistent with other recent legislative enactments — such as P. L. 1967, c. 76 and P. L. 1968, c. 296 — which recognize that hotels and motels are different juridical entities. In addition, these provisions of Senate Bill No. 498 (1968) will also provide legislative sanction for the long-standing and sound, common-sense construction by the Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control of the Department of Law and Public Safety of the term "hotel" as it appears in Section 33:1-12.20 of the Alcoholic Beverage Law. My approval of these provisions of Senate Bill No. 498 (1968) will moot a legal question that obviously could not have been foreseen by the original draftsmen of the Alcoholic Beverage Law.

For these reasons, I return herewith Senate Bill No. 498 and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 1, section 1, line 5, delete "100" and insert in lieu thereof "50".

On page 1, section 1, line 6, delete "100" and insert in lieu thereof "50".

Delete section 2 in its entirety.

On page 1, section 3, line 1, delete "3." and insert "2."

SENATE BILL No. 481

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, Paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 481, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Senate Bill No. 481 will assure the continued viability of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund by amending the act creating that Fund to assure an opportunity to the public to secure insurance protection against damages inflicted by the uninsured motorist. This bill is the fourth in a series of bills revising provisions of the U.C.J.F. Law and completes the current legislative package to restore that fund and its beneficial effects.

S-481 specifically requires that every automobile liability insurance policy written for delivery within the State provide the insured an opportunity to purchase coverage against damages inflicted by the uninsured motorist. The clear intent of the act is to provide the insured with an option, neither forcing nor preventing the purchase of this added private protection.

By its terms, however, the bill presents no unfettered opportunity for the exercise of a voluntary election. Rather, it provides, in essence, that every insured is presumed to desire this additional protection in the absence of an explicit rejection. In addition, it quite clearly removes from the aegis of the U.C.J.F. not only persons benefiting from private or public uninsured motorist protection but also insured motorists of this State who exercise their option to reject public uninsured motorists protection.

In effect, this latter provision renders nugatory the option afforded persons to reject the coverage in his private policy required by the U.C.J.F. Law. Clearly, such is not the intent of these amendments.

I therefore recommend revision of the mandate to the insurance carriers affected by this act to require only that an effective offer of added coverage be made, rather than that such coverage be necessarily included.

I also recommend the definition of "qualified person" appearing in this act be restored in pertinent part to its former language so that the option provided in section 3 of the act have meaning and be of benefit to the public.

For these reasons I herewith return Senate Bill No. 481 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On Page 2, Section 2, Line 1, following "liability policy", insert "or renewal of such policy".

On Page 2, Section 2, Line 6, following "coverage is", delete "provided therein or supplemental thereto", and insert in lieu thereof "offered in connection therewith".

On Page 2, Section 2, Line 19, following "Such", delete "provision", and insert in lieu thereof "offer".

On Page 2, Section 3, Line 1, following "insured shall", delete "have the right to reject the coverage", and insert in lieu thereof "elect to accept or reject the offer of coverage".

On Page 2, Section 3, Line 2, following "such", delete "rejection", and insert in lieu thereof "election".

On Page 3, Section 3, Line 4, following "shall", insert "or shall".

On Page 3, Section 3, Line 4, following "the policy", delete in its entirety the clause beginning "nor shall it" and ending "coverage in writing", and insert in lieu thereof "according to said election".

On Page 3, Section 4, Line 18, following "of this State", delete "not", and insert in lieu thereof "or".

On Page 3, Section 4, Line 25, following "where", delete "(1)".

On Page 3, Section 4, Line 32, following "similar thereto", delete in its entirety the clause beginning "or (2) such person" in Line 32 and ending "by statute to be offered" in Line 35.

SENATE BILL No. 690

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14 (b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 690, with my objections, for reconsideration.

Senate Bill No. 690 would empower the Board of Public Utility Commissioners to license and regulate the Public Movers of this State. This licensing and regulation would encompass all movers of household goods and of special commodities incidental to the movement of household goods. Its clear purpose is the protection of the consumer of this necessary service from unfair dealing, the promotion of safety, and the protection and coordination of services within this industry.

In all respects, save one, this measure is worthy of enthusiastic approval. By its terms, however, the bill requires implementation of its provisions on January 1, 1969, subject to administrative postponement by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners not beyond April 1, 1969. As this measure requires the Board to enter upon a new field of regulation and to establish an administrative structure competent in all respects to serve both this industry and the public at large, a period of time greater than two months is necessary for preparation by the Board.

I therefore urge the effective date of this legislation be extended to July 1, 1969, by which time adequate preparation should be completed.

For this reason I herewith return Senate Bill No. 690 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

On page 15, Section 22, line 2, following "on and after", delete "January 1", and insert in lieu thereof "July 1".

On page 15, Section 22, line 3, following "1969", delete in its entirety the clause beginning "provided, however," in line 3 and ending "April 1, 1969" in line 7 and insert in lieu thereof "provided, however, that the commission may in its discretion do immediately all things necessary and appropriate to prepare for the implementation of the provisions of this act".

The following message was received from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
November 25, 1968. }

SENATE BILL NO. 477

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 477, with my objections, for reconsideration.

This act would create a Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission and a Hackensack Meadowlands Municipal Committee with the purported mission and capability to reclaim, plan, develop, and redevelop the Hackensack Meadowlands.

The reclamation and development of the Hackensack Meadowlands has been a New Jersey problem for centuries. Far-sighted and dedicated men have labored for many years for a solution to this problem. As the principal sponsor of Senate Bill No. 477, Senator Dickinson, has observed, my predecessor, Governor Marcus L. Ward, called for Meadowlands reclamation and improvement in his legislative message one hundred years ago.

Thus the perspective of New Jersey history, as well as the urgency of our modern interests, led this Administration to set as one of its major objectives the realization of this great dream. For years we have worked with the Legislature, with local officials, with private groups, with distinguished commissions and agencies, and with the federal government to develop legislation that would fairly and effectively bring about the reclamation and proper development of this immensely important land.

Senate Bill No. 477, as originally passed in the Senate without opposition, provided an honest and workable vehicle to achieve these goals. As you know, this original bill, before Senate passage, contained carefully conceived amendments that were responsive to legitimate local concerns, and in these amendments the legislative sponsors and I jointly concurred, for they did not weaken, much less destroy the bill. Thus on leaving the Senate, this bill, on which many men of good will had expended enormous effort, was clearly the product of compromise in the best sense of the word.

In the Assembly as well, some further amendments, respectful of local interests yet not destructive of the substance of the bill itself, were agreed on, and I have no objection to them.

Thus on November 18, during the month in which we are celebrating the 300th anniversary of the meeting of the first New Jersey Legislature at Elizabethtown in 1668, the New Jersey Assembly had within its grasp the opportunity to solve a problem almost as old as the Legislature itself. The Assembly had before it a bill assuring comprehensive reclamation and development of the Meadowlands—development to be made possible by federal flood control and reclamation aid in the amount of $300,000,000, and by the independent revenue-raising capacity of a Meadowlands Commission.

Any doubt as to the prospect of such federal support of the Meadowlands program—before the imposition of destructive amendments—was resolved in a letter to me of November 19, 1968 from the United States Army Corps of Engineers which advises:

“1. The master plan of the area embodied in the Senate Bill 477 prior to Assembly amendments did provide sufficient basis to proceed with the economic evaluation portion of the study that would lead to recommendations for transmission to the Congress. We have been proceeding on this basis, and we anticipated meeting the scheduled completion date of 30 June 1969, for the draft study including recommendations. Moreover, as we indicated in our letter, dated 21 March 1968, to Senator Fairleigh S. Dickinson, Jr., Chairman, Senate Standing Committee on Agriculture, Conservation and Natural Resources, the Senate Bill No. 477 then provided:

‘ . . . an appropriate and responsible agency, at the desired State level, that would have the authority to control the appropriate development of the Hackensack Meadows so as to meet the Federal requirements as well as to protect the interests of communities involved. The Corps of Engineers could operate and coordinate its efforts through such an agency in a timely and effective manner to obtain the implementation of the required local cooperation essential to the development of any project for the Hackensack Meadows.’ ”

Here, then, was the key to the solution of a centuries-old problem—a solution essential not only to the Meadowlands communities but also to all of New Jersey in view of the vast economic impact of a reclaimed and developed Meadowlands. Of equal importance to every community in this State are the interests of the constitutionally dedicated School Fund, which run to hundreds of millions of dollars in the enhanced value of riparian lands involved in Meadowlands development.

Thus every citizen of the State, and every child who will ever go to the school in this State, have a direct interest in what happened to this bill on that fateful November 18, 1968.

And yet, on the very threshold of success, all hope for a workable Meadowlands project disappeared when last-minute amendments to the bill were insisted upon before the bill would be released by the majority party conference for a vote on the floor of the Assembly. This action was unfortunate because it is certain that many minority party votes would have been available to supplement majority party votes in support of the original bill—if that bill had been permitted to come to a public vote.

The critically damaging amendment was the carving out from the Commission's area of jurisdiction of some 5,300 acres, almost one-third of the entire acreage of the project. This excision, which was responsive to a few local and special interests, so vitiated the bill as to destroy all prospects of developing the Meadowlands.

As amended, the bill: (1) throws away the opportunity to obtain $300 million in federal flood control and reclamation aid; (2) eliminates the revenue-raising capacity of the Commission itself; (3) thereby creates an ineffective and financially unworkable Commission; (4) raises grave constitutional questions which will lead to endless years of litigation; and (5) grants indefensible windfall benefits to a few special interests at the expense of the municipalities included in the Meadowlands area and of the School Fund, which is dedicated to the service of every community in this State.

Let me be perfectly clear. It may be convenient, but it is certainly self-deluding and false, to say "This is a first step", or "We have made a start", or "At least we have a Meadowlands Commission", or "We can repair the damage, adjust the boundaries, and straighten things out a little." The fact is that the amended bill, which is without any financial foundation, is fatally defective. Because of its grave flaws, the bill is worse than useless, and neither in conscience nor in intelligence can I sign it. I will not, by my approval, foist upon the people of this State a Meadowlands Commission which, without capacity to act, would be nothing more than a slogan, or rather another study committee. I refuse to be a party to playing a trick upon the people of this State by raising their hopes with a make-believe Meadowlands solution that all of us know in honesty can accomplish nothing whatever, and which, on the contrary, would abort Meadowlands development for years and years to come.

Let me make the facts perfectly clear. In the first place, federal planning of the reclamation project, which is today on the verge of favorable completion, as indicated (supra) to Senator Dickinson, would now—should I sign Senate Bill No. 477 as amended—come to a dead stop. As the United States Army Corps of Engineers advised me on November 19, 1968:

"However, the revised area which is involved in the bill, as amended by the Assembly, would make previous master planning information inapplicable. Therefore, it would be necessary that our current congressionally authorized study be held in abeyance."

Thus, if I were to sign Senate Bill No. 477 in its present form, we would be required to start all over. We would have to attempt to achieve the same regional action that was provided for originally in Senate Bill No. 477 by seeking from individual municipalities that have areas excluded from the legislation by the amendments the very kind of cooperation that has always eluded us, and that eludes us even now. The search for such consent would be an idle fantasy. We must face the hard fact that a Meadowlands solution has eluded us for these many years precisely because of the tragically mistaken belief that the necessary local cooperation was "just around the corner". Next year, and the year after, and the year after that—if Senate Bill No. 477 were enacted in its present form—we would find once again that no one was really refusing to cooperate, that meetings upon meetings were in process, that the "final solution" was, as always, "just around the corner."

And if such local cooperation in these terms could be achieved at all, it would take many years, probably beyond the lifetime of most of us.

The Corps of Engineers assesses these prospects with stark realism in its letter to me of November 19:

"Based on our past experience such coordination would be extremely complex and protracted with no assurance that a mutually acceptable master plan for development of the areas and method of implementation of local cooperation would eventually result. Such inability to meet the conditions of local cooperation, which would have been effected under the Senate Bill 477, prior to Assembly amendments, would then of necessity result in a completion of the study with a negative recommendation for Federal participation in any possible improvement to the Meadowlands."

One need not look very far to find other projects in northern New Jersey where the failure to obtain the necessary "local cooperation" has blocked important flood control programs. Within the last year alone, we remember flooding of the Passaic River that caused millions of dollars of damage and untold hardship which could have been prevented if the affected municipalities—at any time in the last three decades—had agreed to any one of almost a dozen plans developed and presented by the Corps of Engineers. Now, more than thirty years and many tragedies later, we are still seeking the necessary "local cooperation" to bring about this essential flood control program.

Our experience with "local cooperation" in respect of water supply is also noteworthy. For many years, some of them desperately drought-ridden, this State has been seeking "local cooperation" to furnish the financial base for pipeline construction from the Spruce Run and Round Valley reservoirs. The "solution" has eluded us and even today we are still tied up in the courts. Yet, if the State had acted firmly in 1958, the pipeline would long since have been constructed.

These experiences clearly demonstrate how foolish it would be to gamble Meadowlands development on the notion that the history of 300 years will suddenly be reversed and the necessary "local cooperation" will somehow miraculously materialize.

Thus, if we really want a solution, we must reject the empty shell of illusion which will cause the continued waste and deterioration of the potentially great Hackensack Meadows.

As indicated, Senate Bill No. 477, before the Assembly amendments reducing the acreage subject to the Commission's jurisdiction, would have provided the Commission with sufficient financial capacity to conduct by itself that portion of the reclamation and development that would not be covered by federal funds. The Commission would be able to operate a self-sustaining project at no cost to the taxpayers of New Jersey. The excision of 5,300 acres, however, strips the Commission of the financial strength needed to sustain its operations and leaves it without the tools even to make a start on Meadowlands development.

But the amended bill does not merely undermine the economic feasibility of Meadowlands development and the financial viability of the Commission. It also clearly invites protracted litigation as to the very constitutionality of the legislation. For under the amended bill, if the excluded municipalities do not consent or are unable to raise their share of reclamation and development costs, these costs would fall on the area under Commission jurisdiction and thereby — in probable conflict with the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution — provide windfall benefits to the areas excluded by the amendments. The clear threat of litigation under these conditions would obviously make it impossible for the Commission to sell its revenue bonds in the financial markets.

The amended bill appears to violate the Constitution in still another way. The sponsors of the amendments sought to undo the damage they had done by improperly delegating legislative authority to an administrative agency. Apparently realizing that the exclusions would cripple the plan, the authors of the amendments gave the Commission the authority to restore certain lands in the Hackensack Meadowlands, but they failed to lay down any standard for the exercise of this authority.

For example, the amended bill would enable the Commission to include within its jurisdiction riparian lands along the Hackensack in northern Bergen County municipalities which were not even discussed in connection with the original legislation. Such an open-end delegation of authority is clearly vulnerable to constitutional attack.

Let there be no misunderstanding on this point. The flaws in Senate Bill No. 477, as amended, are so damaging that they would lead inevitably to lengthy, and indeed virtually endless litigation. In other words, Senate Bill No. 477, as amended, is not merely a useless bill; it is worse than useless because it would completely abort Meadowlands development by tying it up in the courts for many years to come.

Let us be perfectly honest on this point as well. The effect of the exclusions is to grant windfall benefits to certain municipalities, and to certain private interests within those municipalities, at the expense of their neighbors and of citizens throughout New Jersey, for this is not merely a local or even a regional matter. The Fund for the Support of Free Education, which benefits every school system in this State, has a financial interest running into hundreds of millions of dollars in high-quality development of the Hackensack Meadowlands. You and I have an overriding responsibility to the school children of New Jersey to protect the interests of this Fund.

I am respectfully sympathetic to the fact that pressures have been exerted upon some legislators by local and special interests. But pressures are not unusual, and withstanding them is a part of the job and responsibility which all of us assume in accepting public office.

Nor do I believe that the constituency of an individual legislator in a case such as Meadowlands legislation is smaller than that of a Governor, nor, for that matter, than that of the 39 Senators who supported the original Senate Bill No. 477. Intervening with regard to a highway alignment, or insisting on a stoplight or some like matter of local constituent concern, not affecting the whole State, is one thing. But dooming Meadowlands development, halting economic progress which would mean tens of thousands of jobs, and depriving the School Fund of hundreds of millions of dollars seem to me to be far different matters, invoking a higher sense of responsibility.

And so, with utmost respect, I resubmit this problem to the Legislature for reconsideration. I ask you to remember that together we represent a great State and that history will write the record of your statesmanship, or lack thereof, in reconsidering and reversing your decision for the sake of your fellow citizens, or in persisting in the decision already mistakenly made.

That history will be attentive is certain, for a bill of this importance, with its grave meaning to the people of this State, occurs perhaps only once in a hundred years.

It is as though New Jersey, a giant in its potential, is being tied down, like Gulliver, by the bonds of local and special interests from which only you can free it. The burden of decision resting upon you, then, is quite clear. After all the words are spoken and arguments made, these stark and naked facts remain:

1. Meadowlands development without federal financial support is doomed.
2. Under Senate Bill No. 477 in its present form, that financial support does not and cannot exist.
3. If my recommendations are accepted by you, Meadowlands development is assured.

It is that simple. Your choice is that clear. You now have the sole power of decision, and it is important that all of the people of New Jersey realize now precisely what the issue is.

For it is our seven million fellow citizens — the businessmen, the workers and the school children whose well-being depends upon your decision — they are the ones who really matter and who must be placed above a few local and special interests.

For these reasons I herewith return Senate Bill No. 477 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 930

To the Senate:

I herewith return Senate Bill No. 930, without my approval, for the following reasons:

This bill would increase from 7 to 9 the number of members of a county sewer authority established pursuant to chapter 123 of the Laws of 1946. No sound reasons have been shown as to why such additional members are needed.

This bill is defective in a number of particulars. The existing statute provides for authority boards consisting of either 5 or 7 members, and establishes that 3 members shall constitute a quorum of a 5-member board and 4 members shall constitute a quorum of a 7-member board. N. J. S. A. 40:36A-7. This bill, while increasing 7-member boards to 9 members, neglects to establish the quorum for such an expanded board.

The bill allows no discretion for retaining the present size of 7-member boards even in a county where the Board of Chosen Freeholders may wish to continue that size. Thus, the bill could burden the authorities with additional salary expenses even where there is no desire and no need for a larger membership.

This bill specified the length of terms for the new members when a 5-member board is expanded to 9 members but contains no such provision for the expansion from 7 to 9 members.

Furthermore, by providing that the 4 additional members appointed as a result of such an expansion, would all serve concurrent 3-year terms, the bill would disrupt the carefully constructed system of overlapping terms which assures a continuity of membership under the statute at present. This bill could result in having the terms of 7 out of the 9 members expire in the same year.

Even if it were desirable to expand the size of county sewer authority boards, this bill would fail to achieve that objective in an orderly and effective manner.

For these reasons, I am returning Senate Bill No. 930 without my approval.

Respectfully,

SENATE BILL No. 667

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, Paragraph 14(b) of the Constitution, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 667, with my objections, for reconsideration.

S-667, known as the Administrative Procedure Act, will establish standards for the promulgation of rules and the disposition of contested matters throughout the State Government. Its primary thrust is to permit greater public participation in and familiarity with administrative processes, by requiring advance notice of the intention to promulgate rules and by requiring notice of hearings containing information of assistance to participants in such hearings. Such a measure can be of inestimable value in promoting public understanding of and cooperation with the State Government.

Many states of the Union have, since 1936, adopted administrative procedure acts to accomplish the goals sought to be achieved by S-667. The most cursory examination of these statutes reveals strikingly the necessity for variations among them and for careful response to local traditions, practices and methods. Noticeable in connection with the efforts of our sister states is the availability to those who would draft an administrative procedure act of extensive and comprehensive studies of local conditions and the effect upon them of uniform standards. New Jersey lacks such comprehensive studies; there is no one who can speak authoritatively of the probable effect of S-667 upon the relationship between the citizen and his government.

In the brief time since the Legislature acted upon this measure, I have struggled to assure that its provisions reflect both the needs and the nature of New Jersey's government and its people. These efforts have resulted, I believe, in revisions of S-667 which will ease administrative difficulties, and yet, most assuredly, will preserve the protections and benefits to both the people and the government so clearly intended by the Legislature. These revisions in language are more than 30 in number and touch upon all aspects of S-667. While many are technical in nature and self-explanatory, some are broad and reflect a philosophy which must be expressed.

In structure, S-667 requires of each State agency the adoption, as a formal rule, of a description of its organization and of its methods, operations and objectives, thereby enabling the public to assign responsibility for the administration of any law and to secure the assistance for which the administration was created. In addition, each agency is required to formulate as a rule, the procedures, both formal and informal, employed by the agency in the execution, review and enforcement of the law. The bill further requires that no new rule is to be effective unless its adoption is preceded by public notice sufficient to enable those affected to address themselves to the merits of the proposed rule. All rules, both substantive and procedural, are to be published in a form promoting ready access and currency.

Furthermore, hearings conducted by State agencies for the purpose of resolving disputes of fact or of application of law or rule are to be conducted in an open manner. A party to such a hearing is assured of the right to assert his interest freely and aggressively.

As mentioned, this law is made applicable to all State agencies of whatever composition or function. Exempted from its requirements are two agencies, the procedures of which are already detailed and controlled by positive law. My studies have indicated two additional exemptions are vital. I would first exempt the Office of the Governor, the administrative responsibilities of which are dictated directly by the Constitution.

Second, Senate Bill No. 667 as originally passed, appears to cover the internal operations of educational and medical institutions. The fact that the original bill exempted from its provisions the internal operation of correctional institutions indicates the Legislature's awareness that requirements for the publication of rules and provision for notice and hearing, while clearly appropriate in regard to matters affecting the general public, are neither necessary or proper to the internal operation of an institution. I am therefore recommending that the Legislature enlarge its exemption to cover educational and medical institutions as well as correctional institutions. Of course, the rule-making, adjudicatory, filing and publication requirements of this act will be applicable to the State agencies to which these institutions are ultimately responsible.

I would assure the status of rules adopted pursuant to the act and their utility as instruments of law by investing them with presumptions of regularity and accuracy, and thus ready admissibility as evidence before the courts of this State.

I would substitute for the rule of evidence in S-667, one more consistent with current judicial rules.

I would create, in the Department of State, an agency capable of overseeing the implementation of this law, and of maintaining constant review of administrative rules and procedures.

I would authorize this agency to issue and enforce inter-agency rules binding throughout our government.

And finally, I would provide a grace period of nine months within which State agencies will be permitted to review current practices and rules and to prepare for the enforcement of uniform standards.

It is noted S-667 makes no appropriation. Let it be clearly understood that without the necessary funds it will be impossible to comply with the manifold provisions of the act. I therefore recommend the appropriation of $300,000 to begin the implementation of this important program. It should be realized, however, that full implementation could possibly entail substantially greater appropriations in which case the Legislature will be so advised in the normal budget process.

For these reasons, while urgently supporting the principles inherent in this bill, I herewith return Senate Bill No. 667 for reconsideration and recommend that it be amended as follows:

I. SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE COMMISSION:
CREATION AND AUTHORITY

This Special Legislative Committee To Investigate Certain Allegations Affecting The Legislature And Its Members was established by Assembly Concurrent Resolution Number 70, introduced and adopted by both houses of the Legislature on December 27, 1968. The Resolution stated that (1) William J. Brennan, III, Assistant Attorney General in the Department of Law and Public Safety of the State of New Jersey, who had been assigned certain duties in relation to the special grand jury then sitting in an investigatory capacity in Mercer County, had publicly stated that some members of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey "were entirely too comfortable" in the presence of members of organized crime; (2) the implications inherent in this statement by William J. Brennan, III, reflect upon the good name, integrity and reputation of the Legislature and of all the members thereof; and (c) it is incumbent upon the Legislature, by reason of its constitutional duty and authority to pass upon the qualifications of its members, to punish or expel its members for misconduct and activity reflecting upon its good name, integrity and reputation, and to cause an investigation to be made of William J. Brennan's allegations.

The Committee was charged with the duty "... to investigate the allegations of Assistant Attorney General William J. Brennan, III, and the implications thereof, and such other matters as the Committee shall deem pertinent in relation to such investigation . . ." It was granted the powers vested in legislative committees by Chapter 13 of Title 52 of the Revised Statutes. The Committee was authorized to hold such public and private hearings as it deemed necessary or desirable and was directed to report its findings, conclusions and recommendations to the 1968 Legislature on or before January 14, 1969.

II. GENERAL STATEMENT OF PRELIMINARY MATTERS

On December 11, 1968, William J. Brennan, III, Assistant Attorney General in the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety, who was then assigned to certain duties in relation to the special grand jury sitting in Mercer County, delivered a speech before the members of the New Jersey Chapter of the National Journalism Society, Sigma Delta Chi, in Kenilworth, New Jersey, on the general subject of organized crime in this State. Following the close of his talk, during a question-and-answer period, and in answer to a question from his audience concerning the Legislature, Mr. Brennan stated that "Some legislators were entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime." When further questioned about the number of legislators he considered "entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime", he answered "Three." He did not, on that occasion, identify the "three", nor did he define "comfortable" when asked to do so.

On December 12, 1968, in a memorandum prepared at the direction of the Attorney General, Mr. Brennan stated that the exclusive basis of his remarks was material contained in confidential law enforcement files to which he had access since assuming his duties related to the special grand jury then sitting in Mercer County in an investigatory capacity; that the information he had in all likelihood would not constitute the sort of evidence which could bring forth a grand jury indictment or a trial jury conviction. He further stated that he had not said nor did he intend to say that he had any information leading him to believe that three, or any number of legislators, were criminally involved with members of organized crime. What he meant to convey, he stated, was that legislators should not enter into close social, business or professional relationships with known members of organized crime. He added, "... I do know of three instances — and I have heard of others — in which members of the Legislature have entered into associations with known members . . . [of organized crime] which I would personally find uncomfortable to be in. When asked last evening, and since then by members of the press, to disclose the names, I declined to do so for an obvious reason — to disclose the names involved, especially in public, would impute guilt by association on the individuals concerned. . . ."

On December 16, 1968, following a conference in the Governor's office at which the Governor, the Attorney General, Mr. Brennan, and the legislative leaders were present, the number of legislators was raised from three to six. Mr. Brennan stated that the first three "were more solid than the others" and that there was the possibility of obtaining a criminal indictment in one of these matters.

During the week of December 19, 1968, a newspaper reported that one Mrs. Claire Curran Johnson, legislative aide to Senator Joseph C. Woodcock, had made public a telephone conversation during the winter of 1967-68 with Assemblyman C. Richard Fiore during which Assemblyman Fiore had stated to her that he was under "a lot of pressure" from Gerardo Catena "to stop those kinds of things" (referring to joint Senate and Assembly committee consideration of proposals dealing with crime and law enforcement). Within a day or two following, the newspapers reported a visit by Assemblyman Fiore to the New York City offices of the Waterfront Commission of New York

On December 26, 1968, The (Newark) Evening News reported that it had learned from a "completely reliable" source that three of the six legislators Mr. Brennan said were "entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime" were Senator Sido L. Ridolfi, Assemblyman John A. Selecky and Assemblyman David J. Friedland. Subsequent to the formation of this Committee and during the course of its investigation, The (Newark) Evening News revealed on January 3, 1969, that the names of the second three legislators had been disclosed to that newspaper by "a source considered completely reliable by the News" to be Senator Frank S. Farley, Assemblyman Lee B. Laskin and Assemblyman John J. Horn. No circumstances leading to the characterization that they were "entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime" were stated.

Immediately following the adoption of Assembly Concurrent Resolution Number 70 (1968) by both houses of the Legislature on December 27, 1968, the President of the Senate, in accordance with the provisions of said resolution, appointed Senators Alfred H. Beadleston, J. Edward Crabiel, Richard J. Coffee and Willard B. Knowlton as members of the Committee, and he designated Senator Beadleston as Chairman. At the same time, the Speaker of the General Assembly appointed Assemblyman James S. Cafiero, Joseph Hirkala, Thomas H. Kean and S. Howard Woodson as members, naming Assemblyman Woodson as Vice Chairman.

The Committee met initially, at the call of its Chairman, on the afternoon of December 27 immediately following the close of the legislative session. It appointed Samuel A. Alito, Research Director of the Division of Legislative Information and Research in Law Revision and Legislative Services, as its Secretary, and Sidney P. McCord, Jr., Esq., of Haddonfield its Counsel. The Committee ruled that it would respect the confidentiality of all law enforcement files made available to it during the course of its investigation when so requested, that it would avoid interfering unnecessarily in the process of law enforcement and the administration of criminal justice in this State and that it would avoid impugning the reputation of any person by the public disclosure of any valueless and incompetent information in its possession.

The Committee determined to investigate fully the circumstances relating to the six legislators referred to by Mr. Brennan. It also decided to investigate the charges made in the press concerning Assemblyman Fiore. In addition, it decided to request all law enforcement officers and all other citizens to report to this Committee any information which they had which would lead them to believe that any member of the Legislature was entirely too comfortable with members of organized crime or was otherwise guilty of conduct unbecoming members of the Legislature. It also determined to pursue and investigate every letter and telephone call received regarding associations of legislators with organized crime.

Soon thereafter, letters were addressed to the Governor, the Attorney General and the 21 county prosecutors in the State requesting that any knowledge they possessed of any information which would assist the Committee in making a determination concerning the misconduct of any legislator and, in particular, of any legislator who was associated with organized crime be made available immediately to the Committee.

As of the date of the writing of this report, answers have been received from the Governor, the Attorney General, and four county prosecutors, namely Vincent Panaro of Mercer County, Robert E. Frederick of Warren County, Vincent P. Keuper of Monmouth County, and James A. Tumulty, Jr., of Hudson County. The Governor and the Attorney General responded by reporting that they had no such knowledge except that given to the Committee by Mr. Brennan. The four prosecutors aforementioned reported that they had no such knowledge. A. Donald Bigley, Prosecutor of Camden County; Edward J. Dolan, Prosecutor of Middlesex County; and David B. Kelly, Superintendent, New Jersey State Police; testified before the Committee. In addition to their testimony, they stated that they were unable to give the Committee any further information which would be of value to this Committee. At no time during its investigation did the Committee receive any information of any sort concerning any member of the Legislature other than the seven named earlier in this report (i.e., Senators Ridolfi and Farley and Assemblymen Selecky, Friedland, Laskin, Horn and Fiore).

Copies of all public and executive testimony presented to the Committee, except those portions law enforcement agencies and the Committee consider should not be revealed in order to preserve the confidentiality of police files or to avoid impeding law enforcement, will be made available to all members of the Legislature and the general public promptly.

The Committee decided to invite all legislators named as being associated with organized crime to testify before the Committee. Each of the above-mentioned seven legislators requested that they be heard publicly and each testified under oath.

During its proceedings, the Committee heard testimony from the seven legislators and from the following Assistant Attorney General William J. Brennan, III; First Assistant Attorney General Joseph A. Hoffman; Mrs. Claire Curran Johnson (legislative aide to Senator Woodcock); Norman Robbins, Esq.; State Police Superintendent David B. Kelly; Helena Burk; A. Conover Spencer; James J. Davitt (Assistant to Executive Director, Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor); Senator Joseph C. Woodcock; Joseph G. Michnisky (Police Chief, East Windsor Township); Transportation Department Commissioner David J. Goldberg; James V. Hyde, Director of Right-of-way, New Jersey Transportation Department; Harold M. Bloom, Right-of-way Negotiator, New Jersey Transportation Department; Donald R. Murdaugh, State Editor, The Trentonian; F. Gilman Spencer, Executive Editor, The Trentonian; Edward J. Dolan, County Prosecutor, Middlesex County; Julius Pereira; Paul Perrault; A. Donald Bigley, County Prosecutor, Camden County; Joseph M. Nardi, Jr., Judge of Municipal Court, Camden; Barry S. Greenberger, Esq.; James R. Schuyler, State Highway Engineer, New Jersey Transportation Department.

III. SUMMARY OF PROCEEDINGS

This report makes no attempt to summarize the testimony received by the Committee. The Committee's findings, conclusions and recommendations, therefore, should be read in conjunction with the testimony to be made available as soon as practicable, except for those portions retained in executive session for the reasons stated above.

A. Re: Senator Sido L. Ridolfi

The Committee finds that:

1. Senator Ridolfi, an attorney at law, represented John Simone in the purchase of two residential properties in 1955 and 1960 and in the incorporation of the Atlas Sanitation Service, Inc., in 1955 and its dissolution in 1961. Senator Ridolfi had no financial interests in these transactions.

2. John Simone has a police record of criminal convictions, all prior to the time during which Senator Ridolfi represented him. There is no evidence to indicate that Senator Ridolfi knew of this record during the time he represented John Simone in these transactions or that Senator Ridolfi had any social, business or professional relations with John Simone other than the above three transactions.

3. John Simone is reputed to be a member of or closely associated with organized crime. The Committee found no evidence to indicate that Senator Ridolfi knew this at the time of the above transactions.

4. Senator Ridolfi has purchased and now owns together with Edward Bralynski and Raymond Bralynski as tenants in common a number of tracts of land in Hamilton Township and Ewing Township in Mercer County.

5. Senator Ridolfi is a partner in an insurance agency together with Edward Bralynski, Raymond Bralynski and Raymond Bralynski, Jr.

6. A portion of one of the tracts of land owned by Senator Ridolfi and Edward and Raymond Bralynski as tenants in common lies in the path of the proposed interstate highway, I-295. No evidence is available to indicate that Senator Ridolfi had any information, other than that made generally public, concerning the proposed alignment of I-295.

7. In the time available to the Committee, it was not able to ascertain whether or not any other tracts of land owned by Senator Ridolfi and Edward and Raymond Bralynski as tenants in common may be in the path of, or be adjacent or in proximity to, any proposed highway. The Committee has asked the Commissioner of the Department of Transportation to provide the Committee as soon as possible with an area map of Mercer County showing the proposed highway system in that county and the location of tracts of land known by the Committee to be owned by Senator Ridolfi and Edward and Raymond Bralynski. When this information is received, it will be forwarded to the Legislature together with such findings, conclusions and recommendations as it deems appropriate.

8. Raymond Bralynski does not have a police record, nor does it appear that he is a member of or is closely associated with organized crime.

9. Edward Bralynski has a police arrest record indicating arrests in 1932 and 1935. He is reputed to be a member of or closely associated with organized crime. Until a photograph appeared in the Trenton newspapers on December 15, 1967, showing Edward Bralynski together with John Simone at a municipal court appearance by Angelo Bruno, believed to be a member of organized crime, there is no evidence that Senator Ridolfi had been aware of Edward Bralynski's association with Angelo Bruno and John Simone. Thereafter, Senator Ridolfi knew or should have known of the reputation of Edward Bralynski.

10. Senator Ridolfi, and Edward and Raymond Bralynski purchased as tenants in common one tract of land subsequent to the publication of the above photograph, which tract of land is contiguous to another tract previously purchased by Senator Ridolfi and Edward and Raymond Bralynski as tenants in common.

THE COMMITTEE CONCLUDES THAT:

While Senator Ridolfi has done nothing illegal nor has he violated any written rule of the Senate or of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, his actions have reflected adversely on the Legislature.

Senator Ridolfi has had undesirable business associates and clients of questionable character. He failed totally to exercise sound judgment when he learned that there was question as to the character and reputation of his business associates.

B. Re: Assemblyman John A. Selecky

The Committee finds that:

1. Assemblyman Selecky represented as an attorney at law Salvatore Profaci, Jr., in three real estate transactions between Salvatore Profaci, Jr., and other private individuals.

2. Assemblyman Selecky appeared voluntarily on September 19, 1968, as a character witness for Salvatore Profaci, Jr., in the Municipal Court of Monroe Township on a charge of disorderly person in connection with a motor vehicle violation.

3. Several articles appeared in the press in late April, 1968, and early May, 1968, reporting that Salvatore Profaci, Jr., had been accosted in his automobile containing digging tools in the vicinity of a freshly-dug hole approximately 6½ feet by 2½ feet by 3½ feet. This incident is still under investigation by the police. These news accounts reported that Salvatore Profaci, Jr., is, and the Committee finds that he is, a relative of several individuals reputed to be highly-placed members of organized crime.

4. Assemblyman Selecky had read one of the above news articles before he appeared as a character witness of Salvatore Profaci, Jr.

5. Salvatore Profaci, Jr., asked Assemblyman Selecky to represent him in one matter involving acquisition by the New Jersey Department of Transportation of some of his properties. Assemblyman Selecky referred Profaci to another attorney because of his position in the Legislature. He took no part in the negotiations. He received no fee from Profaci or from the attorney.

6. Assemblyman Selecky took the acknowledgment of Salvatore Profaci, Jr., on a deed prepared by the New Jersey Department of Transportation for Profaci to execute, conveying to the Department lands which were the subject of the transaction mentioned in paragraph 5 above and executed the jurat of the affidavit of title. Mr. Selecky received no fee.

7. Assemblyman Selecky was requested by his client, Salvatore Profaci, Jr., to inquire of the New Jersey Department of Transportation about the apportionment of taxes relative to lands which the Department had acquired from Salvatore Profaci, Jr. In this connection he made several telephone calls and wrote two letters seeking information and forms. He received no fee.

THE COMMITTEE CONCLUDES THAT:

Although Assemblyman Selecky did nothing illegal or contrary to the written rules of the General Assembly or of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, after having read an account of Salvatore Profaci, Jr.'s family relationship to reputedly highly-placed members of organized crime and his possible connection with the digging of an alleged grave, he should have refused to appear as a character witness for Profaci and should have severed his professional relationship with him. By failing to do so, he has brought the Legislature under a cloud of public disapproval.

C. Re: Assemblyman David J. Friedland

The Committee finds that:

1. Assemblyman Friedland, as an attorney at law, represented John Di Gilio, who is believed to have an objectionable and unsavory reputation.

2. John Di Gilio was arrested on May 23, 1968, on the complaint of Julius Pereira charging a violation of N. J. S. 2A:105-4, threatening to kill or injure for purposes of extortion, a high misdemeanor. On the same date, Di Gilio was arrested on the complaint of a State trooper charging a violation of N. J. S. 2A:122-1, malicious destruction of or damage to property, a misdemeanor.

3. During the pendency of the above complaints before the Woodbridge Township municipal judge, on or before June 8, 1968, Di Gilio communicated with Assemblyman Friedland. Several days later, one Norman Robbins, Esq., and Assemblyman Friedland were in communication with each other at which time Robbins stated that he represented Julius Pereira for the purpose of recovering usurious interest paid by Pereira to Di Gilio and for damage to his (Julius Pereira's) property. It appears, parenthetically, that Robbins gratuitously offered his services to Pereira.

4. Usurious interest had been paid by Pereira on two loans made by Di Gilio for himself or others to Pereira.

5. Norman Robbins made a demand of $10,000 for the payment of usurious interest by his client and for the payment of damage to his client's property.

6. Approximately three weeks after Assemblyman Friedland was retained by Di Gilio, a settlement was arranged. Pereira waited while Robbins went to the summer home of Assemblyman Friedland. There Assemblyman Friedland gave Robbins some $6,500 in cash. Assemblyman Friedland neither requested nor received any receipt, release or other evidence of the transfer of cash.

7. On June 27, 1968, subsequent to the above transfer of money, Pereira appeared in the Woodbridge Township Municipal Court and filed a motion to dismiss the above-mentioned complaint charging a violation of N. J. S. 2A:105-4.

8. After turning over the above-mentioned cash to Robbins, Assemblyman Friedland made no inquiries as to whether or not a release had been executed to his client for the payment of usurious interest. At no time did he prepare such a release or a release or covenant not to sue to be executed and delivered to Pereira involving an alleged malicious prosecution action. Assemblyman Friedland's fee for representing Di Gilio was $300. Assemblyman Friedland's file relative to his representing Di Gilio contains nothing.

9. Assemblyman Friedland had a number of conversations with Norman Robbins and Michael A. Querques, Esq., (who represented Di Gilio in the above-mentioned complaints involving violations of N. J. S. 2A:105-4 and N. J. S. 2A:122-1), prior and subsequent to the period while settlement for the payment of usurious interest and property damage was negotiated (June 1 to June 27, 1968).

10. Julius Pereira, on July 11, 1968, signed a request to the grand jury for dismissal of his above-mentioned criminal complaint. The grand jury returned a "no bill" on August 23, 1968.

11. None of the money turned over to Robbins by Assemblyman Friedland was paid over to Pereira until after Pereira's criminal complaint against Di Gilio had been presented to the Middlesex County grand jury on August 23, 1968, and a "no bill" returned. In fact, Robbins did not deliver any money to Pereira until November of 1968, and only after repeated demands from Pereira. Robbins paid Pereira $5,000 and retained the difference.

12. Norman Robbins was municipal corporation solicitor for Woodbridge Township and, as such, acted in the capacity of prosecutor before the Woodbridge Township Municipal Court at the time Pereira's motion for dismissal was made. He was also representing Pereira at that time.

13. Neither Norman Robbins, nor anyone else, ever discussed with Pereira, before the settlement for payment of usurious interest and property damage was made, the fact that Pereira might be sued for either false arrest or malicious prosecution. Pereira gave no consideration to any liability for damages as a result of false arrest and malicious prosecution suits proposed by John Di Gilio prior to the time he appeared in municipal court.

THE COMMITTEE CONCLUDES AND RECOMMENDS THAT:

As stated at the outset of its proceedings, it would take no action which, in its judgment, would interfere with the orderly administration of justice.

A careful review of the testimony of all the witnesses relative to Assemblyman Friedland indicates that the evidence thus far adduced is conflicting, to say the least. For this reason, we, the Committee, do not deem it appropriate at this time to resolve the matter at hand. We are advised that the Grand Jury of Middlesex County has reopened the case of State v. Di Gilio in which Assemblyman Friedland has been called as a witness. Were we to report now to the Legislature, we would of necessity have to reveal prematurely certain evidence, thereby interfering with the Grand Jury and the courts of this State.

We recommend that the Legislature take no action in this matter at this time until at least the grand jury has acted. Furthermore, since we are referring part of the record to the Supreme Court of New Jersey for its consideration, we recommend that the Legislature await that court's decision. The Committee respectfully requests the Supreme Court to advise the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the General Assembly of its proceedings and decisions. The Committee will make the same request of the Prosecutor of Middlesex County as to the disposition of State v. Di Gilio by that county's grand jury and by any court trial that might ensue. The Legislature can then determine what further steps it should take. The Committee will also transmit a copy of the record in this matter to the Attorney General and the State Commission of Investigation.

D. Re: Assemblyman C. Richard Fiore

The Committee finds that:

1. A telephone call was made on December 28, 1967, from the residence of Claire Curran Johnson to the residence of Assemblyman Fiore. The telephone bill shows a charge of $.35 for that call, indicating a conversation in excess of 3 minutes and as much as 13 minutes.

2. There is no corroboration of Mrs. Johnson's allegation that she talked by telephone with Assemblyman Fiore concerning Gerardo Catena or any other person reputed to be a member of or closely associated with organized crime.

3. There is no corroboration of Mrs. Johnson's allegation that she talked by telephone with A. Conover Spencer concerning her alleged telephone conversation with Assemblyman Fiore relative to Gerardo Catena.

4. There is no evidence of any social, business or professional relationship between Assemblyman Fiore and Gerardo Catena or any other person reputed to be a member of or closely associated with organized crime.

5. Assemblyman Fiore's inquiry concerning the work status of John Lardiere with the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor (corroborated by James J. Davitt, Assistant to the Executive Director of the Commission) was entirely proper.

THE COMMITTEE CONCLUDES THAT:

There is no evidence regarding Assemblyman Fiore of any illegality, violation of rules of the General Assembly or of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, or of any misconduct.

E. Re: Senator Frank S. Farley

The Committee finds and concludes that:

1. Information concerning Senator Farley was presented to the Committee in the nature of a Federal Law Enforcement Intelligence Summary appearing in the confidential State Police files which included the following general statement: (1) In December, 1957, Herman Orman was characterized by the United States Senate Crime Investigating Committee as the kingpin of gambling in Atlantic City; and (2) an unidentified police informant stated that Orman is the main criminal power who operates with comparative immunity through his control of Senator Farley.

2. This Committee has considered the testimony given by Senator Farley and Herman Orman, both of Atlantic County, before the Kefauver Committee in 1951 upon which the abovementioned federal law enforcement summary was made and has compared that testimony with the testimony received during its deliberations. This Committee finds no evidence in either instance that Senator Farley was entirely too comfortable in the presence of persons reputed to be members of organized crime. It should be noted that the Kefauver investigation and other subsequent federal and state investigations occurred more than a decade ago. This Committee believes that none of these investigations resulted in definitive action.

3. Assistant Attorney General Brennan testified that the above “. . . is evidence that’s valueless because it is not competent . . .”

4. No evidence to support the characterization that Senator Farley is entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime or any other evidence of any misconduct was produced before this Committee.

F. Re: Assemblyman Lee B. Laskin

The Committee finds and concludes that:

1. The sole information concerning Assemblyman Laskin presented to the Committee was an unidentified investigator’s report on organized crime in Camden County appearing on the confidential State Police files which stated that on August 28, 1968, the said unidentified investigator had received from an informer information that Assemblyman Laskin was frequenting Dio’s Tavern in Pennsauken on a nightly basis and that he was associating there with Anthony Di Giamberardino and Arnold Canzanese and other undersirable persons.

2. Both Anthony Di Giamberardino and Arnold Canzanese have criminal arrest records.

3. There is no evidence that Assemblyman Laskin had, or has, any social, business or professional relationships with either Anthony Di Giamberardino or Arnold Canzanese or any person who is a member of or is associated with organized crime.

4. Assemblyman Laskin was conferring with a client on each occasion that he visited Dio's Tavern.

5. Assistant Attorney General Brennan testified that the above investigator's report "... is evidence that's valueless because it is not competent. ..."

No evidence to support the characterization that Assemblyman Laskin is entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime or any other evidence of any misconduct has been produced before this Committee.

G. Re: Assemblyman John J. Horn

The Committee finds and concludes that:

1. The sole information concerning Assemblyman Horn presented to the Committee was an unidentified investigator's report on organized crime in Camden County appearing in the confidential State Police files which stated that on January 27, 1968, the said unidentified investigator had obtained information that a Mr. A, characterized as a large banker for bookmaking, lottery and sports action in Camden County, had a meeting with Assemblyman Horn and a Mr. B, who was described as a recently-appointed Assistant Prosecutor of Camden County. The report further stated that the meeting was arranged by Mr. A for the purpose of making a deal with respect to a person recently arrested, particularly a Mr. C, described as a brother of Mr. A and who had a conviction for gambling.

2. Mr. B was identified as being Joseph M. Nardi, former Assistant Prosecutor in Camden County and now Judge of the Camden Municipal Court. Mr. A was identified as being Frank (or Francis) Di Renzo; and Mr. C was identified as being Thomas Di Renzo, both of whom are reputed to be members of or closely associated with organized crime.

3. There is no evidence that any such meeting occurred, nor is there any evidence that Assemblyman Horn had any social, business or professional relationships with Frank or Thomas Di Renzo or any person who is a member of or is associated with organized crime.

4. Thomas Di Renzo is now under indictment and his trial scheduled to commence January 13, 1969.

5. Assistant Attorney General Brennan testified that the above investigator's report "... is evidence that's valueless because it is not competent. ..."

6. No evidence to support the characterization that Assemblyman Horn is entirely too comfortable in the presence of members of organized crime or any other evidence of any misconduct has been produced before this Committee.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. In the matter pertaining to Senator Ridolfi and Assemblyman Selecky, in view of the fact that they have done nothing illegal nor violated any written rule of either house of the Legislature or of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, beyond its words of disapproval in each case, the Committee recommends no further action in either house of the Legislature.

The Committee has dealt with recommendations concerning Assemblyman Friedland in the body of this report. (See III c.)

In the matters pertaining to Assemblyman Fiore, Senator Farley, Assemblyman Laskin and Assemblyman Horn, this Committee recommends no action in either house of the Legislature.

2. While the Committee's deliberations have not included detailed consideration of the New Jersey Conflicts of Interests Law, it believes that its investigation has demonstrated that there is sufficient doubt concerning the adequacy of the present law in protecting and promoting the integrity of the Legislature and the legislative process. The Committee recommends, therefore, that the Legislature consider strongly the advisability of creating a bi-partisan commission composed of an equal number of members of each party to re-examine conflicts of interests legislation in depth, including a Code of Ethics or a Code of Conduct containing specific canons concerning the personal conduct of individual legislators.

3. The Committee, however, recognizes that no legislative conflicts of interests law and no code of ethics can be so specific and exact as to proscribe all those actions which legislators should avoid.

Therefore, beyond the requirements of any conflicts of interests law and any code of ethics that might be adopted, there must be an individual commitment on the part of every legislator to avoid all social, business and professional relationships that might lead the people of this State to suspect him of any wrongdoing or undesirable action. Every legislator has a personal and individual obligation to the Legislature and his constituents to conduct himself at all times so that he is above suspicion. He must assiduously avoid all situations that might cast doubt in the minds of his constituents concerning his motives. This calls for the highest level of social, business and professional conduct but the Legislature should expect and demand no less than that.

4. In several instances during the proceedings of this Committee, the personal qualifications of holders of alcoholic beverage licenses arose. As a result, the Committee recommends that the Legislature study and develop legislation to ensure that no person who is a member of or who is associated with organized crime is granted an alcoholic beverage license or has any indirect connection with such a license by requiring uniform and adequate standards at the municipal level under direct supervision and control by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Division.

5. During the course of our proceedings, there appeared in the press on a number of occasions accurate accounts of information which had been represented to us as being parts of certain confidential files of the State Police and other law enforcement agencies and thus available to only a few persons in the Department of Law and Public Safety. Certain newspapers attributed their sources of information to "a completely reliable source" or "to a source considered completely reliable". On the morning of January 10, 1969, our attention was called to a news article containing classified information attributed to high law enforcement officials in the Executive Branch of the government. Not only had this information not been revealed to the Committee but it was of such a high degree of confidentiality that it could be obtained only by subpoena of the Committee directed to the Attorney General and then only with the permission of the Governor conditioned upon its being heard in executive session. The news article appeared in a morning newspaper of wide circulation. Of necessity, therefore, representatives of that paper must have received this information prior to its publication date. With these facts in mind, we are compelled to the conclusion that recent violations of the law most probably have occurred with respect to illegal disclosure of classified information, thus placing in jeopardy the security of the State Police files and the records of the Attorney General. A heavy blow has been dealt to law enforcement agencies in this State and possibly elsewhere, for we have been advised that many, if not all, of the sources of information available to the Department of Law and Public Safety have abruptly disappeared. These "leaks" of confidential material have also damaged the reputation of innocent people, damage which may never be repaired and for which there can be no compensation. Indeed, might not the ethics of persons other than members of the Legislature be considered? The Committee respectfully but strongly urges the Governor to cause an immediate investigation to be made with all the power which is at his command to ensure that future instances of this kind do not occur and that those responsible for those unauthorized and illegal disclosures of classified information are properly dealt with.

6. In the testimony before the Committee, Mrs. Claire Curran Johnson, a legislative aide, who claimed to have information concerning misconduct on the part of a legislator, withheld that information for almost one year and then disclosed it to the press before giving it to the Legislature, to the Senator she served, to the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, or to the Attorney General. This Committee recommends that each house of the Legislature adopt rules providing for a code of conduct for all legislative aides and employees.

V. GENERAL COMMENTS

This Committee has directed its secretary and counsel to review as soon as practicable all transcripts of testimony taken in public and executive sessions and, with the exception of those portions which are not to be made public because of the confidential nature involving police investigations under trial and the like, to make them available in whole or in part, as is appropriate, to the Attorney General, the State Commission of Investigation, the Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control, certain county prosecutors, and the Supreme Court, as mentioned in this report. It is our understanding that all except the confidential sections will then be made available publicly.

This Committee wishes to state that while public officials must run the risk of criticism and often unwarranted abuse there is no justification for impugning the integrity, character or reputation of any public official by innuendo and incompetent, unfounded and valueless allegations.

This Committee made every effort to pursue all matters brought before it to a conclusion, where possible. We interrogated all those who indicated or whom the record indicated could and would give competent and valuable testimony, including the Governor, the Attorney General, the prosecutors of the 21 counties, and the Superintendent of State Police. In addition, we requested Professor Henry Ruth to appear before our Committee but he advised us that Federal regulations prohibited him, as a former member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, from revealing to any agency any of the information acquired by him while connected with the Bureau. He was beyond the reach of a subpoena.

This Committee has received complete co-operation from Governor Richard J. Hughes, Attorney General Arthur J. Sills and his staff, the State Police, the Department of Transportation and all State agencies to which it directed requests. In addition, it has had the complete co-operation and tireless efforts of its staff and all those which it has called upon to assist it in its operations in the State House during the time in which it was conducting its deliberations.

This Committee is obliged not to make public that testimony and other information received in executive session which is classified as confidential by the Department of Law and Public Safety. The Committee directs its secretary to arrange that all copies of such testimony and information be secured in a safe deposit box issued to the Chairman, Senator Beadleston, and Vice Chairman, Assemblyman Woodson, jointly or to such substitutes therefor as shall be determined by the Legislature. If no other directions for the disposal of said testimony and information shall have been ordered by the Legislature at the end of one year, the Chairman and Vice Chairman, or their duly named substitutes, shall together provide for their destruction.

Mr. McDermott moved that the above report be received and filed.

The following message was received from the Governor by the hands of his Secretary.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
January 14, 1969. }

SENATE BILL No. 892

To the Senate:

Pursuant to Article V, Section I, paragraph 15 of the Constitution, I appended to Senate Bill No. 892, at the time of signing it, a statement of certain items, or parts thereof, to which I objected, so that such items, or parts thereof, should not take effect.

Senate Bill No. 892 is a supplemental appropriations bill for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968. If approved by me, Senate Bill No. 892 would authorize the satisfaction of 17 claims filed against the State of New Jersey. Three of these seventeen claims have been vigorously opposed and contested by the involved State administrative agency.

I have decided for the reasons stated herein, to delete entirely the three contested claims from Senate Bill No. 892, which I today signed. My action should not be taken as any resolution whatsoever of the merits of the three items for, from the record presented to me, any such judgment would necessarily have been without basis. Indeed, it is my desire that no prejudice whatsoever should attach to the rights of the three claimants to present their claims again—to a new forum, or in the least to an Appropriations Subcommittee subject to certain minimal standards of procedural and factual determination, as stated herein.

My dissatisfaction with our present claims procedure is a matter of record, having been stated most recently in 1966 in connection with Assembly Bill No. 893. Nothing has happened in the intervening year to improve the adequacy of our present claims procedure. In point of fact, the large sums involved in the three items I have vetoed today merely served to underscore the need for reform and to mandate the action I took.

Inasmuch as all the members of this Legislature will be members of its successor body—the 193rd Legislature—I urge you to undertake a reformation of the present procedures available to claimants. Your study may dictate the establishment of a Court of Claims or some other such quasi-judicial body. Other alternatives are also available, such as reliance upon mediation or arbitration machinery noted for its objective expertise. But at the very least, if you choose to return the present procedure it must be augmented by guarantees that:

- equitable ground rules are established in advance and made readily available to the parties;
- at least a majority of the members of the Subcommittee on Claims of the Joint Appropriations Committee will actually hear claims presented to it;
- conclusions of the Subcommittee are embodied in complete findings of fact with respect to any fault or indebtedness on the part of the State and the extent of any compensable losses occasioned thereby, or, in the alternative, the basis upon which a claim is not allowed or reduced;
- claimants, the State agencies involved, and all members of the Legislature, will be served with copies of the report of the Subcommittee; and
- each contested claim approved by the Subcommittee and the Joint Committee is presented to the full Legislature as a separate supplemental appropriations bill so that each legislator's vote may be recorded with respect to each claim.

These suggestions are essential to correct the difficulties I encountered in my review of Senate Bill No. 892. For example, often just two—and sometimes only one—member of the Subcommittee actually heard argument on claims before the Subcommittee. Furthermore, in the case of the items I vetoed today, the reports presented by the Committee recommending the approval of such claims are completely lacking in factual basis which would suggest the reasoning behind the recommendation. Neither record of the legislative disposition of these items reflects in any way the long days of hearings and the thousands of pages of testimony devoted to them. Since Senate Bill No. 892 passed the Senate by a bare majority of one vote, there is a strong possibility that some of the claims, if considered individually, would not have received majority approval in the Senate. Although I can point out other inadequacies, this short recitation alone should be sufficient to demonstrate the need for corrective action by the Legislature.

Your failure to adopt these reforms—or some new claims procedure which captures their thrust—will continue the injustices of the present system. I regret sincerely that the mere lack of adequate procedure compels me to refrain from approving three claims, no matter how meritorious. The precise problem confronting me, however, was the absolute impossibility of determining the basis upon which the Legislature approved the contested claims. No course of action other than the exercise of my veto power is available to me, however, when I am asked to approve the judgment of the Legislature upon the strength of a woefully lacking record.

I am well aware that my action today will create some hardship for claimants who must now seek to present their claims anew. However, by oath of office and my constitutional duty require that the public interest come even before hardship to claimants. I urge you to act speedily to consider my recommendations so that claims against the State may be adjudicated without jeopardizing the public interest or causing hardship to claimants.

Respectfully,

[SEAL]
